Tries Poison Death

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Distraught after reading accounts of the Clara Bow-Daisy De Boe court imbroglio, Mrs. Florence Burke, 25 year old movie actress, swallowed poison at her home and was rushed to a hospital. She will recover. The victim is an intense admirer of Clara Bow.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Events moved swiftly today both inside and outside the courtroom in the Clara Bow-Daisy De Boe comedy-drama.

Daisy, on trial accused of embezzling thousands from the "It" girl of filmland while working as her secretary, took the stand and began to make good on her threat to "tell all."

And at the same time B. P. Schulberg, general manager of Paramount, the film corporation that employs the flamboyant Clara, issued this announcement:

"It has been found necessary to withdraw Miss Bow from the picture 'City Streets,' which goes into production early next week. Her physician, Dr. Wesley Hommel, advised us that she must have a rest of fully a month because of the nervous strain she has been under.

Has Another Rôle for Her.

"We will start work immediately on a story for her new picture, which goes into production just as soon as Miss Bow is able to return to work. Sylvia Sidney, who was originally brought to Hollywood from the New York stage and whom we regard as a sensational screen discovery, will take Miss Bow's place opposite Gary Cooper in 'City Streets'."

It was Schulberg, according to Daisy's testimony earlier in the trial, who told Clara that she must "keep her name out of the newspapers." And Daisy at that time had added: "One more slam in the papers and Clara Bow is through in pictures."

Dr. Hommel, when questioned about the Paramount statement, at first expressed surprise.

"I haven't attended Miss Bow recently," he said. But later, when Clara failed to appear at the afternoon session of court, Dr. Hommel said he had paid her a professional visit and had advised her to stay in bed.

"She has a bad cold and is suffering from the nervous strain of the trial," he said. "She will be up and around in a few days."

"I Told You So," Says Daisy.

Daisy, in court, snapped:

"I hear Paramount is giving Clara a vacation. That's their way of letting her down easy—a good long vacation."

Miss Bow holds a contract with the Paramount corporation which has until October to run. The contract contains a "morality clause" providing for the release of the actress in case an indiscretion should wipe out her drawing power, but at the studio it was declared that there is no intention of abrogating Miss Bow's contract.

Shortly after Deputy District Attorney David Clark finished with George Armstrong, auditor through whom the prosecution put in evidence hundreds of checks totaling $19,000 which the state contends Daisy drew on Clara's account without authority, Daisy opened her defense.

Taking the check stubs which Armstrong had placed in evidence, she read through scores of the items, each time with an explanation that was a slap at Clara.

Some of the withdrawals were for liquor, Daisy testified. She said she bought wines and whisky at Clara's direction. Many of the items were for jewelry.

Jewels for Gentlemen.

To hear Daisy tell it, her employer had a particular fondness for buying watches and other $100 and $200 knickknacks for men friends.

One of the watches was given by Miss Bow to Lothar Mendes, film director, and ex-husband of Dorothy Mackaill, Daisy said.

Another watch, and this one "first

SPRING WILL BRING PROSPERITY, DECLARE 4 RAILROAD CHIEFS

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Presidents of four railroads, with lines comprising a quarter of the mileage in the United States, joined in chorus here today—"Prosperity's coming with the spring thaw."

Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania system:

"Business—that is, industry—already has began the upward trend.

"It won't be many months before we follow the wheel tracks leading to normalcy."

James E. Gorman, president of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific:

"We are keeping our maintenance standards at a high level and are prepared for what is sure soon to come—a return to normal times."

L. W. Baldwin, president of the Missouri Pacific:

"I am not particularly an optimist, but 1931 appears at the present time as a year of real promise for America."

Paul Shoup, president of the Southern Pacific:

"Judging by past periods of depression, we have reached the bottom of the ladder and from now on there should be slow and certain recovery of normal activity."

11,000 CHILDREN FOUND VICTIMS OF HEART ILLS

Examination of 570,000 school children by the Chicago health department has revealed that more than 11,000, or more than 2 per cent are suffering from heart disorders. That was the statement yesterday of Dr. Arnold H. Kegel, health commissioner, who urged the public to buy valentine heart stamps now on sale by the Chicago Heart association.

"When considering the prevention of heart disease one turns chiefly to consideration of the child," Dr. Kegel said. "Of the Chicago children victims of cardiac ailments there are of course a certain percentage of congenital heart cases. Over these no influence can be exerted except to aid the child in carrying on. But through the work of prenatal clinics, much can be done toward preventing an increase in this group.

"The most serious cause of heart disease among children is rheumatism. This is especially true after the child is 3 years old. Approximately 75 per cent of the children with arthritic rheumatism develop cardiac lesions. Growing pains should not be neglected. Other causes of heart disease in the public school children, we found, were defective teeth, enlarged thyroid, diseased tonsils, suspect tuberculosis and malnutrition."

Dry Law Gets a Party on Its 11th Birthday

Eleven candles gleamed on a white cake amid a gathering of 300 celebrants in the Auditorium hotel yesterday and from 300 unrestrained throats rose chants of joy and praise. It was prohibition's eleventh birthday and the guests, assembled under the banner of the south side branch of the Woman's Christian Temperance union, were celebrating.

Voices raised to an inspiring crescendo opened the luncheon with this war cry:

Strawberry shortcake, huckleberry pie!
V-I-C-T-O-R-Y!
Are we in it? Well, I guess!
Victory! Victory!
Yes. Yes! YES!

Among the speakers was Gilbert F. Lapley, attorney for the 7th district prohibition department. He discussed the problems of prohibition enforcement.

"The greatest difficulty," said Mr. Lapley, "is curtailing the inexhaustible supply of alcohol."

Another Great Problem.

"The next problem," Mr. Lapley went on, "is the widespread desire on the part of some people to drink. Although it is recognized that overindulgence is wrong, there is no universal condemnation of the moderate use of liquor."

There was a pause, after which the speaker added: "That also presents a problem."

Song Fills the Air.

The birthday party swept on with laughter, applause, scripture, song, speeches, and, of course, refreshment.

The Englewood contingent gave nine rousing "Rahs" concluding with a lusty yell:

Old Man Liquor is dead.
We'll bury him deep, deep, deep.
Victory. Victory. Victory!

Choral singing captured the crowd's fancy and a roar of harmony swept the room:

Ho! My comrades, see the signal
Floating in the sky.
Bids us work for Prohibition
Till the world is dry.

The Rev. Herbert Whiting Virgin, pastor of the North Shore Baptist church, arose to speak. He gave his attention to the campaign of the Crusaders, anti-prohibition organization, and warned his listeners that the prohibition supporters have been asleep.

"When I was a young man," he said, "I was taught about the evils of intoxicants. Now things are reversed. We see placards all over the city urging enlistment in the Crusaders. We have been asleep, and the times have turned."

From a corner voices burst forth, chanting the opening line of a W. C. T. U. campaign song and all of the 300 joined in:

We have a fine organization;
We want you so much to belong,
Just give us your earnest support,
And boost us along in this song.
Join in, join in,
Oh my, but I'm glad I'm in, I'm in,
Join in, join in,
Oh my, but I'm glad I'm in, I'm in.

Fred D. L. Squires, secretary of the American Business Men's Prohibition foundation, addressed the assembly. He advised prohibition groups to "free yourselves from the 'holier than thou' attitude and the expression of mutual admiration, and go out from the sheltering arms of your leagues, clubs and brotherhoods with information for the 50,000,000 open minded citizens."

Says Nation Is Confused.

"People are misled by what they read in the newspaper," said Mr. Squires. "This propaganda of anti-prohibitionists has confused many and the great majority are on the fence on misinformation they read in the daily papers.

"The eighteenth amendment did not bring national prohibition. It only offered a highway toward its achievement. National prohibition of the liquor traffic is a future possibility, not a present reality."

Mr. Squires declared that the eighteenth amendment has completely banished all wide open retail liquor shops; ended liquor advertising on business thoroughfares and in the public press.

FORMER KAISER IN EXILE, BUT STILL BESTOWS HONORS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 16.—The former kaiser is still dispensing decorations, although in exile.

"As a sign of my thankful recognition of your successful legal work and your true conviction in your fight against malice and spite I bestow upon you the cross of knight of my royal house, Order of Hohensollern. [Signed] Wilhelm, Imperator Rex."

This is the text of an imperial certificate which P. Bloch, a Berlin lawyer, is proudly showing his friends today. Bloch, a wartime cavalry officer, is the former kaiser's legal agent in Berlin. He recently successfully defended the former emperor from charges that he had placed arms contracts with the Krupp works during the war because he was financially interested in the Krupp concern.

MACHINE GUN RAKES STREET; THREE INJURED

Gang's Target Flees in Fusillade.

Three gang machine gunners bent on destroying an enemy swept sidewalks and store fronts at Clark and Howard streets with a fusillade of bullets yesterday noon. The intended victim escaped, but three bystanders, two women and a man, were injured. The principals in the shooting remained unidentified last night, but the police theory was that members of the Capone gang were trying to kill one of Bugs Moran's henchmen.

The shooting occurred almost at the intersection, which is on the dividing line between Chicago and Evanston. A man described as 40 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, and about 200 pounds in weight, with swarthy features, was standing on the south side of Howard street, just east of Clark street, when, at 12:30 o'clock, an automobile approached from the west. From the automobile a machine gun and a sawed-off shotgun opened fire on the man on the sidewalk.

Bullets Rip Into Stores.

Bullets ripped into store windows and riddled automobiles parked at the curb. Pedestrians fled for cover. The intended victim turned and ran.

Mrs. Alma Moore, 53 years old, was shot in the right wrist in front of the Andes Candy shop at 1763 Howard street.

Mrs. Eva Naya, 36 years old, 4568 South Oakley avenue, employed in the candy shop, was cut on the right hand by flying glass when the window of the shop was smashed by the storm of lead.

K. W. Kennedy, 3329 South Western avenue, was struck in the left wrist by a ricocheting bullet as he sat in the Tavern restaurant, 1775 Howard street.

Automobiles Are Riddled.

Kennedy's automobile had 73 bullet holes in it and the car owned by Leo Larson, a radio salesman living at the Coronado hotel, was struck by 55 bullets. Although there were scores of other bullet marks and many broken windows, Capt. Patrick Harding of the Rogers Park police said he believed only 100 shots were fired from the machine gun and that the rest of the damage was caused by shotgun slugs.

The automobile in which the gunmen were riding bore the license number 987,607. The car kept moving slowly while the machine gun was operated from the tonneau and the shotgun from the seat next the chauffeur. Then it turned from Howard street into Malvern avenue, then into Rogers avenue, and was lost to sight.

Intended Victim Vanishes.

While bullets whistled after him, the intended victim ran through the Howard-Clark garage, at 1777 Howard street, and out the back door.

He dropped his lunch package—bread, cheese, and kosher corned beef—which he had purchased at a nearby grocery and which he presumably was going to eat with some one in the neighborhood—some one for whom he had been waiting—when the shooting started. He left his hat behind. It had been purchased in Billings, Mont.

The police found the license plates on the gunmen's automobile had been issued to Alex Volz, 2411 South Albany avenue, who is employed at 1210 South 54th avenue, Cicero. They went there and found Volz at work. His car was parked in front of the place, but the license plates were missing. He said they had been in place at 7:30 o'clock in the morning when he parked the car. This Cicero connection was the only basis for the belief that Capone gunners were involved, the police said.

1931 BUSINESS IN CUPID'S LINE IS PICKING UP

Trade in general may still be sluggish, but there is one line in which business began to boom with the start of 1931, and still is going strong. Cupid has been rushed the last few weeks and is making a record for himself in the number of engagements announced since the new year.

Records of R. L. Polk & Co. directory publishers, reveal that whereas for the last six months of 1930 the lists of engagement announcements in Chicago newspapers had been running nearly 50 per cent below normal, the rate since Jan. 1, 1931, has been approximately 20 per cent above normal. Ordinarily from 90 to 100 such announcements are made in a week. The 1931 average to date has been 130 to 150 a week.

Marriages performed in Chicago during 1930 numbered 37,192, as against 43,068 in 1929.

Turn to New Clews in Hunt for Strangler

The police yesterday turned to motives other than robbery or rape in their search for clews which might lead to the solution of the murder of Miss Eppie Moss, a young business woman who was killed by a strangler Thursday night. In their hunt the police gave consideration to stories of the mysterious character of the slain woman. Her mode of living, her manner of dressing, and her acquaintances were studied in an effort to find a clew.

It was disclosed last night that Miss Moss is a niece of Col. James A. Moss, U. S. A., retired, a noted author of military textbooks who is now president of the United States Flag association in Washington. Her father, Dr. N. P. Moss of Roanoke, Va., a retired physician and banker, said his daughter never had been married, though she called herself "Mrs."

One Suspect Seized.

One suspect in the murder was arrested last evening by the Evanston police. He gave the name of Joseph Drake, 23 years old, 2536 Augusta boulevard. He was taken to the Town Hall station while Chicago police searched his home for the torn leather coat worn by the murderer. The investigators did not tell why they suspected Drake.

When the body of Miss Moss was found Thursday evening in the garage at the rear of 1143 Cornelia avenue, a rope tightly wound around the neck, it was assumed that the murderer, who was seen fleeing, was a rapist or was surprised in the act of stealing an automobile. Other developments caused detectives to consider other motives. They have not discarded the suspicion that the slayer may have been a young woman dressed in a man's clothing.

Lawyer's Visit Told.

Among the unusual circumstances revealed yesterday was the visit of Attorney William R. Swissler to the Moss home late at night and some hours after the killing. Mr. Swissler was recently appointed as an attorney for the city in subway work. Mr. Swissler took four dogs, four cats and a suitcase from the house. He placed the cats and dogs in an animal store at 2875 North Clark street.

Early yesterday morning Mr. Swissler denied that he had been near the house. Yesterday afternoon, however, he appeared at the undertaking rooms where the body of Miss Moss was taken. He admitted he was a friend of Miss Belleta D. Morse, roommate of the dead woman. He had merely gone to the house on the night of the murder to "help out," he said.

"I know nothing about either Miss Moss or Miss Morse which might have involved them in this affair," he declared. "I was merely a friend."

Eye Witness Testifies.

Miss Morse, garbed in an expensive mink coat, was also a visitor at the undertaking rooms. Her testimony at an inquest in the morning repeated the circumstances of finding the body and seeing the slayer escape by breaking through a window in the garage. She said she could not identify the murderer if she saw him again.

However, the only other witness at the inquest, William Huey, 9 years old, said he obtained a good look at the person fleeing.

"He was a young fellow with a red face," he told three men and three women jurors. "He had a leather coat with a white fur collar and black pants."

The inquest was continued to Jan. 30 to allow the police more time for investigation. Shreds of the leather coat and a button left behind by the murderer were turned over to the

ENDS CONTEST FOR MAYORALTY TO AID CLEANUP

Candidates' Parley Is Called Off.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Charles V. Barrett, the first man to announce his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the mayoralty, withdrew his name from the race last night.

In the announcement of his decision to the newspapers he said his action was based upon his sense of duty, his feeling that his withdrawal would contribute toward the defeat of Mayor Thompson. He canceled his invitations for a conference of anti-Thompson candidates this morning.

May Help Judge Lyle.

Mr. Barrett's statement said also that the course that he and his friends will pursue in the campaign—meaning which candidate they will support—had not been determined and that it will be given careful consideration. Students of the situation believe that Barrett and the large majority of his organization will swing to Judge Lyle. In his statement Barrett said:

"Our people have witnessed the spectacle of numerous candidates filing for the Republican nomination for mayor at this, the most critical period, not only in the history of Chicago but of the Republican party as well. These candidates, dividing as they must the anti-Thompson vote, may produce the renomination of the incumbent, a result greatly feared and universally deplored by a large majority of Chicago's people.

"It is my opinion that instead of selfishly endeavoring to gratify personal ambitions, it is the duty of all candidates to consider calmly and seriously the effect of such an unthinkable outcome upon the city, and with that thought in mind I have tried to persuade the serious contenders to decide upon the best qualified and most available candidate in the field so as to make certain of the elimination of Thompsonism from our city, but in this effort I was unsuccessful.

Announces His Decision.

"I was born in Chicago and its people have honored me with election to office on three occasions. I entered this campaign believing that I could be of service to my city, and my platform was definite and pronounced on all of the issues of the day.

"I believe now that my chances of success are as great as those of any other anti-Thompson candidate, but I realize that with the large number of candidates now in the field there is a grave danger that, with the aid of his city hall machine, Thompson may succeed in renominating himself.

"Regardless of the attitude of other candidates, I refuse to be even partially responsible for such a possibility. I feel that by withdrawing my candidacy it will be possible to bring about the nomination of another one of the real anti-Thompson candidates now in the field, and if that result is accomplished the people of Chicago will have won a victory.

"I have given this matter very serious consideration. I have no doubt as to my duty, and I have therefore decided to withdraw my petition and to retire from the race. The future course of myself and my friends is now being carefully considered and we will in due time make announcement of the result of our deliberations."

Result of Evening Parley.

Reviewer Barrett's decision was announced after a conference at 9:30 in the evening to which his ward leaders and advisers had been summoned by telegram. The meeting was secret but it was said that he told them frankly that he had no hope for any substantial results from the meeting of candidates he had called for this morning and that he felt it was necessary for him and for them to make the big sacrifice in the cause of good citizenship.

Earlier in the day it had become known that neither Judge Lyle nor Ald. Arthur F. Albert, considered the other two strong candidates against Thompson, would come into the meeting this morning. It was thought that some of the "self starters," as the less important entrants are called around various headquarters, might welcome the added attention of the gathering; but the Barrett group considered a confab of that character use less.

Albert Makes Conditions.

Albert replied to the Barrett invitation by setting up an array of requirements and conditions that the Barrett group said it was impossible to meet. In a letter to Barrett, the alderman proposed that representatives of eighteen different organizations and of the newspapers be the body to decide which of the anti-Thompson candidates should be eliminated for the sake of concentration.

The Barrett group held that it would be impossible to get action by this method before Tuesday night, the last hour for withdrawal.

Judge Lyle indicated that he intended also to reply to Barrett in writing.

"Mr. Barrett," he said, "is entitled to an answer because of the spirit of good citizenship that moved him. He also deserves the courtesy of having the reply sent to him instead of being given to the newspapers, unless he desires to give it to them."

It was understood that Judge Lyle held a conference with his political and personal advisers during the afternoon, in which it was decided that he would not attend the Barrett meeting because of the determination of his backers to keep him in the race. In addition to political leaders, his advisers include men in the forefront of the battle against crime, who insisted that he must go ahead with his part of the fight.

Schmidt to Stay in Race.

One other candidate took his name out of the field of ten as soon as he heard that a bogus petition had been filed in his name. That was Congressman Oscar De Priest, who wired authority to withdraw his name as soon as he was notified it had been entered. The petition bearing his name was pronounced the work of humorists of a rough sort.

That George K. Schmidt, who resigned as city controller on Wednesday, has no present intention of withdrawing his name was believed indicated when it was announced that the statement of his platform and principles will be made public today. He has hinted that it will contain some of his reasons for opposing Thompson under whom he served as chief financial officer for more than two years.

Schmidt's withdrawal from the city controller's office, it was disclosed during the day, sent Thompson on a difficult search for a new man to take over the reins of the city's financial department for the next three months.

Stuart Declines Job.

Surprise was expressed among politicians when it was found that he had sought for a new controller in the Insull financial family. The firm of Halsey, Stuart & Co. is the reorganization manager in the pending traction consolidation. It also is closely identified in the financing of many Insull projects.

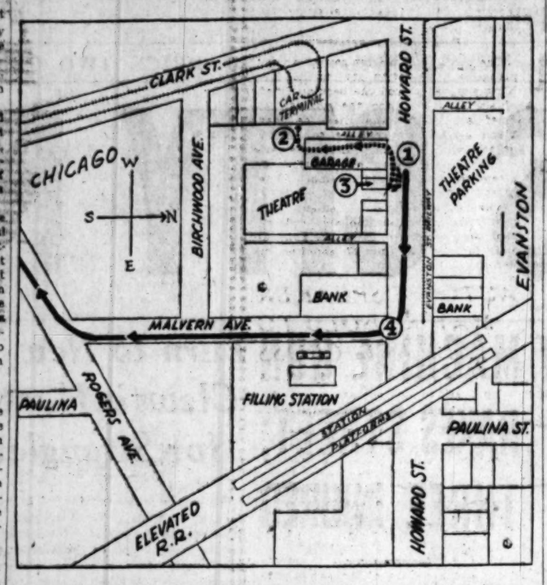

H. L. Stuart, president of the company, issued the following statement:

"Mayor William Hale Thompson has tendered to me the appointment as controller of the city of Chicago. I deeply appreciate this honor and would be more than willing to accept if it were at all possible for me to do so. However, the manifold nature of my present duties makes it impossible for me even to consider taking the position."

Skeptics around several political headquarters scoffed at this move of the mayor's. They insisted that it was a "grand stand play" and that Thompson knew the appointment would be declined.

Thompson has announced the main attraction of his appearance before the city employes this afternoon will be his use of two horse halters, with which he has provided himself. He intends to say these belong on the necks of Judge Lyle and Ald. Albert, and to proclaim that he himself wears "no man's collar."

Assassins Fail to Get Their Man

'CARRIE NATION' AND 'PARA PANCE' ON JOKE MAYORALTY PETITION

Here are some of the names that jesters attached to a mayoralty nominating petition filed Thursday night in the name of Congressman Oscar De Priest:

George Washington	Abraham Lincoln
Carrie Nation	Man o' War
F. Roche	Napoleon Bonaparte
Ima Flapper	Chester Gump
J. Caesar	Para Pance
Guey Sam	Ben Turpin
Apel Sosse	Horse Collar
Sophie Tucker	Bugs Moran
Harry Chest	Gude Knight

The list contained the names of other historical notables, of comic strip characters and race horses. Congressman De Priest has wired orders from Washington to have the petition withdrawn.

DEPOSIT BOXES IN CLOSED BANK TO BE OPENED TODAY

James C. White, receiver of the closed Lawrence Avenue National bank, which lost some $80,000 in a purported holdup on New Year's day, announced yesterday that safe deposit box renters may open their boxes between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. today. About twenty of the safe deposit boxes were looted of some $70,000 in valuables and $10,000 in cash also was stolen. Federal investigators reported that another $100,000 may have been lost by the bank through embezzlement. John E. Malloy, assistant cashier, is charged with this offense.

One Bushel of Oats Buys a Minnesota Haircut

Fairmont, Minn., Jan. 16.—(AP)—They are cutting hair for a bushel of oats in Fairmont today. Barbers announced the price reduction upon opening for business this morning. Yesterday it took two bushels to buy a haircut. The elevator here pays 25 cents a bushel for oats.

25 MILLION FOOD RELIEF BILL TO BE VOTED TODAY

Democrat-Radical Alliance Rules in Senate.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—There was little doubt in the senate today concerning two things—that the $25,000,000 food relief amendment would be successfully attached to the interior department appropriation bill and that the crucial vote would come tomorrow.

The vote almost came just before adjournment today, but desire of senators to be heard in last minute speeches—on the coalition proposal to grant the Red Cross a fund with which to distribute food, clothing, and medical supplies to the needy—postponed the roll call.

Regular Republican leaders admitted with what grace they could that the Democratic-radical Republican alliance had the upper hand. With the amendment on the appropriation bill, which must be passed if the interior department is to continue to function after June 30, and the appropriation bill in conference, the coalition can sit back confident of its numerical superiority and wait—either for the administration to give in or for Secretary Wilbur to shut up shop—and the latter event is not thought likely.

Robinson Deplores "Charity."

In a closing argument in favor of the food amendment Senator Joseph T. Robinson [Dem., Ark.], minority leader and the amendment's chief sponsor, further explained his position.

"My conviction has been and is that a loan authorization to enable the farmers in the drought area to make their crops would be a better system of meeting the situation than mere charity," he said. "The senate by unanimous vote twice passed provisions of that character. What happened to them? The McNary bill, providing for loans for food, was modified to eliminate food loans. The $15,000,000 Caraway amendment to the drought relief bill was objected to by the house because it provided for loans for food. And, in order to secure any relief at all, the senate had to recede from that measure. In the meantime, from limit to limit of the country came complaints that the Red Cross relief was not adequate."

Red Cross Sharply Criticized.

From Senator Robinson and from Senator Hugo L. Black [Rem., Ala.] and Senator Thaddeus H. Caraway [Dem., Ark.] came criticism of the Red Cross for having turned an about face. On Jan. 6, they recalled, Chairman John Barton Payne had said the Red Cross had adequate funds and that an appeal for more would be laughed at, and that three days later he had issued an appeal for $10,000,000. Together with Senator Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.] they also scored the federal land banks for foreclosing on distressed farmers.

That the Red Cross has modified its views since Chairman Payne's testimony was evident in the publicity its headquarters now was sending out, recounting the distress reported by its field workers. The sum of $391,000 has so far been contributed toward the $10,000,000 fund, it was announced.

Members of the Red Cross executive committee met with President Hoover today and it was reported they declared the senate's action in sponsoring a $25,000,000 relief fund was an obstacle to the collection of the $10,000,000 fund by subscription. Among those present were Mr. Payne, Secretary of Commerce Lamont, Ogden L. Mills, undersecretary of the treasury, and Walter E. Hope, assistant secretary of the treasury.

Coalition senators flouted the idea that their amendment would embarrass voluntary contributions.

"It is no compliment to the people to say that action by the government would prevent men perfectly able to contribute from giving their share," said Senator Robinson.

Foresee Night Sessions.

Senate leaders are beginning to worry about the decreasing time before this congress ends at midnight on March 3 and will vote today on night sessions.

Meanwhile the department of agriculture took final steps to perfect the machinery for distributing the $45,000,000 appropriation for seed, feed, and fertilizer. The chief of the extension service announced that it would be possible to supply approximately 300,000 farmers in the drought stricken areas. Loans to individuals will be limited to $600, secured by a crop lien. Four general distribution offices will handle the disbursement. They will be at Washington, Memphis, Tenn.; Grand Forks, N. D., and St. Louis, Mo.

MACHINE GUNNERS KILL TAXI SERVICE OWNER IN JERSEY

Hackensack, N. J., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—William Brady, wealthy proprietor of a local taxicab service, was mortally wounded tonight in the driveway of his home by three assailants armed with a machine gun and a sawed-off shotgun.

Three hours after the shooting, which the police believed to be the outgrowth of a bootleggers' feud, Joseph Bongiorano, alias Kid Stooch, was taken into custody in Lyndhurst, N. J., and held for questioning.

With sixteen or seventeen bullets in his body, Brady was rushed to the Hackensack hospital, where shortly before he died he gave the police the names of the men he believed were his assailants.

The police learned that Brady was recently been warned that he was to be "put on the spot."

SCHOOL BOARD ADOPTS BUDGET OF $96,971,453

Vote Is Unanimous After Final Secret Session.

Appropriations totaling $96,971,453 are requested to finance the operation of the Chicago public school system during 1931 in the budget which was unanimously adopted by the board of trustees yesterday. The budget will now be sent to the city council, where both it and the city budget will be enacted on the same enabling ordinance. This action is expected to take place Monday.

In its final form the school budget carries a grand total appropriation of $97,765,456, but $140,794,003 of this is for unpaid liabilities from previous years, chiefly tax anticipation warrants, it was explained.

First Showing of Figures.

The announcement of the details of the work of the finance committee of the board, which had met in secret sessions for more than a week and a half, was the first information given out concerning the exact method of distributing the 1931 appropriations to the school departments. There was no public discussion of the budget yesterday. Following a final secret meeting in the private office of President Lewis E. Myers, Chairman James A. Hemingway of the finance committee moved the adoption of the budget, the board voted, and the meeting was adjourned.

Although the 1931 budget is apparently $5,203,216 higher than the $91,761,237 appropriation for last year, members of the board pointed out that the 1931 appropriation sets aside a 10 per cent fund to absorb the loss and cost of collecting taxes. This fund, which was not charged against the 1930 budget, is required under a new law. In these circumstances the actual total appropriation for operating expenses of the school system for 1931 is $87,274,308, a decrease of $4,493,929 from the 1930 budget, the trustees said.

Appropriations Are Listed.

The 1931 appropriations for each fund from which the school finances are administered, as compared with the appropriations made for each fund last year, are shown in the following table:

Fund.	1930.	1931.
Educational	$53,380,183	$63,798,557
Free Textbook	2,835,530	1,487,267
Building	33,045,001	20,416,962
Teacher's Pension	1,555,000	915,867
Playground	1,353,602	1,382,880
Totals	$91,768,237	$96,971,453

The largest increase, the table shows, was made in the educational fund, where $10,409,543 was added. Of this sum, $2,741,000 was added to hire 200 additional teachers to accommodate the normal expansion of the school population. The board also granted an extra $75,000 for the hiring of 40 more elementary school teachers to reduce overcrowded classes.

Keep Free Automobiles.

No move was made by the finance committee to change the yearly expenditure of $30,340 for the maintenance of free automobiles and chauffers for eight trustees. However, it was reported by members of the board that steps would be taken during 1931 to reduce the allowances paid employés using their own cars for work. It is estimated that approximately $28,000 can be saved by reducing to $60 a month all allowances in excess of that amount.

BOY, 16, SLAIN BY TWO MEN; HUNT MOTIVE

A shabbily clothed boy about 16 years old, wearing a withered rose on his ragged sweater, was murdered late last night by two men who attacked him in front of 1714 West 44th street. The fatal wound, apparently from a knife, almost severed the flower.

The victim was identified as Tony Bohniak, 4332 South Ashland avenue. According to Lieut. McCarthy of the New City station the slaying seemingly was motiveless, for the boy possessed no record to yield a possible theory for his death.

It was shortly before midnight that Mrs. Anna Gubala, sitting in her home at 1710 West 44th street, heard a cry for help. She ran to the window in time to see a sedan drive rapidly away and to observe a staggering figure collapse in the areaway next door. She called police. Bohniak's body was found. Another witness, John Nowolski, 14 years old, 1720 West 44th street, said he saw two men tussle with the boy and drive away.

30 MILLION BILL FOR BATTLESHIP WORK APPROVED

Senate Votes Fund for Modernizing Three.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—The Reed bill authorizing the expenditure of $30,000,000 for modernizing three American battleships outclassed by the entire British capital ship fleet was approved by an overwhelming vote in the senate late today.

Adequate navy forces led by Senators Frederick Hale [Rep., Me.] and David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.] bowled over pacifist and little navy opposition in the first test of strength of the short session to win by the vote of 72 to 13. Members of the radical group furnished a majority of the votes against the bill.

The measure, which now goes to the house, where favorable action is anticipated, authorizes the elevation of the turret guns of the Idaho, New Mexico, and Mississippi to thirty degrees, adds protection against submarines and aircraft bombs and provides for the installation of new fire control apparatus and new five inch anti-aircraft batteries.

According to testimony given previously by navy officers these three vessels now form the weakest link in the American battleship forces, having only fifteen mile ranges, compared with the twenty miles needed for modern battles. These vessels, costing an average of $15,000,000 each, will be good for fifteen years' service, Senator Hale said today, after $10,000,000 has been expended on each ship.

JUDGE ORDERS NEW HEARING ON PRESTON'S SANITY

The move to send John Preston, murderer of Agnes Johnson, Chicago stenographer, to the Chester insane asylum instead of to the electric chair received a setback yesterday when Judge John K. Newhall at Wheaton granted a motion for a new trial on the insanity charge.

In his arguments on the motion State's Attorney C. W. Reed of Du Page county declared that the verdict of insanity returned by a jury on Jan. 7, twenty-four hours befor. Preston was to have been executed, was a miscarriage of justice and unwarranted on the evidence submitted.

BELGIAN 'DEATH FOG' FATALITIES FOUND DUE TO THE WEATHER

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Director Dehallu of the Liege observatory in reporting the findings of a committee of experts today expressed the opinion that recent deaths from fog in the Meuse valley were the indirect result of abnormal meteorological conditions.

These conditions, he said, were a wind of only half a mile an hour and four days of dense fog, with the result that fumes from the Liege factories and other Meuse valley industries were not dispersed but were steadily strengthened.

Post-mortem examinations of the bodies of victims of the fog which caused three score fatalities last month disclosed that death was due to heart failure. This was induced by inflammation of the respiratory organs caused by some irritating substance in the fog whose exact nature had not been determined.

2 AUTO DEATHS RAISE MOTOR FATALITIES TO 66

Two deaths yesterday raised the Cook county motor toll for the year to 66. The victims:

Jacob Moesle, 43 years old, 6517 South Richmond street, a laborer. Fatally injured when he was crushed between a truck and a trailer while at work at Bishop and 47th streets. He was attempting to uncouple the trailer while it was still moving and lost his balance.

Mrs. Minnie Taglin, 45 years old, 3316 Warren avenue. Died at the Garfield Park hospital of injuries received Tuesday when she was struck by an automobile while crossing the street in front of her home. The driver was Martin Sheehan, 6348 South Francisco avenue.

William Hickey, 12 years old, 2718 Fulton street, suffered a skull fracture last night when he was struck by the automobile of Milton Mann, 76 Ogden avenue, Hinsdale, in front of 2622 West Lake street. He was taken to the county hospital. Mann was charged with assault with an automobile.

Five Gunmen Hold Up 19 in Coal Company's Office

Five gunmen late yesterday held up 19 employés of the Consumers Coal company at 3737 Lincoln avenue, and took $200 from the cash drawer. Seven of the victims, including Miss Elizabeth Lehman, 119 West Chestnut street, were office workers, while the others were coal "hikers." Two of the robbers entered the office while the others stood guard outside. Miss Lehman, who narrowly escaped suffocation when she was locked in a vault in a robbery a year ago, tried to escape when she was ordered into the vault yesterday, but was stopped by one of the gunmen. The gang escaped in an automobile.

GUARD WOUNDED KEY WITNESS IN BOWLES KILLING

Stabbed by Intruder in Her Home.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—The police department today was investigating the second attempt made upon the life of the state's mystery witness in the Bowles murder case.

Mrs. H. W. Howard, 56, who "knew too much" about the relations between Nelson C. Bowles, Portland millionaire, and his former secretary, Irma G. Loucks, is at the point of death with a gaping wound above her heart, inflicted late yesterday.

It was almost identical with the wound that killed Mrs. Bowles last Nov. 12, when she went to the apartment of Irma Loucks to make an appeal for the return of her husband.

A police guard was stationed outside Mrs. Howard's hospital room today. Meanwhile, the attorneys for Bowles hotly denounced insinuations that they "know something" about the attack and posted a reward of $1,000 for the arrest and conviction of Mrs. Howard's assailant.

Police have been unable to question Mrs. Howard owing to her critical condition.

How Attack Occurred.

Police have learned that a light coupe drove up near her home and stood parked. Neighbors saw two men and a woman inside. Heavy footprints in the rear of the Howard home indicated one man stole across back lots to the porch of the house.

Mrs. Howard apparently heard the intruder and went to investigate. Mrs. E. Brenchley and Mrs. George A. Robson, neighbors, heard her scream. They ran to the residence and found Mrs. Howard semiconscious and bleeding. The man was gone.

Mrs. Howard told police that a man, unknown to her, leaped at her with these words: "I'll get you this time."

On Dec. 2, prior to the grand jury investigation of the fatal stabbing of Mrs. Bowles, Mrs. Howard was attacked by two men who entered her home. She was beaten and left lying on the floor with a warning to "keep your mouth shut."

Key Witness in Bowles Case.

Last Nov. 12 Mrs. Bowles appeared at the residence of Irma Loucks. Many times prior to that she had telephoned the girl and asked her to give up her love for Bowles for the sake of Bowles' two children. On the visit neighbors heard loud voices. Shortly after they saw a body carried from the cottage.

At the undertaking establishment Mrs. Bowles was found to have been wounded in the breast, just over the heart.

Bowles and the girl both said there had been a meeting of the three of them, that Mrs. Bowles had gone to the kitchen for a drink and there stabbed herself with a bread knife.

State's Attorney Stanley Myers however, uncovered evidence that seemed to contradict this story, and Bowles and the girl were arrested

KING RESTORED TO POWER BODY, BUT NOT RUSSELL

Commission's Action May Renew Senate Strife.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—The federal power commission today restored William V. King to his post as chief accountant, but refused to take similar action with respect to Charles A. Russell, the former solicitor. Mr. King and Mr. Russell were the two officials regarded as hostile to the power companies, whose dismissal with all other former employés at the time the reorganized commission took office resulted in a clash between the senate and President Hoover.

Russell Objectionable.

Refusal to give Mr. Russell his old position was in line with an intimation in President Hoover's statement of last Saturday that Russell was particularly objectionable to the members of the commission.

Singling out Mr. Russell, who has been the special favorite of the radicals in the senate in emphasizing the "power trust" issue, served to give impetus to the movement of this group for an investigation.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh [Dem., Mont.], who was a sponsor for Mr. Russell, a native of his state, and who offered the resolution adopted by the senate asking the President to return the confirmation papers of the three power commission members, said he would press his proposal to refer the names back to the committee on interstate commerce for an inquiry into the entire situation. The radicals are massing their forces in behalf of the inquiry.

Explains Its Actions.

The power commission issued an explanation of its action, stating that Mr. King was considered the best qualified of six applicants for the position of chief accountant and that he had given assurance "that he can carry on this work efficiently under the tentative or other plan of organization attempted by the commission." The salary is $7,500.

The commission's statement said that "it was unanimously ordered that Mr. Charles A. Russell's application for the position of solicitor be denied."

AUTO OF SPEAKER MAY BE SOLD TO AID RED CROSS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(AP)—A solemn settlement of that merry dispute over the official automobile of the speaker of the house was proposed today in view of the close vote likely in the new congress over the speakership. Both Republican and Democratic pretenders to the ownership were left out in the suggested solution.

Representative Parks of drought stricken Arkansas today introduced a resolution which remarked that "millions of people are out of employment and hundreds of thousands without food."

"Therefore, be it resolved," the resolution continued, "that on the 5th day of March, 1931, the automobile furnished to the speaker of the house of representatives shall be sold at public auction at 12 o'clock noon, at the east entrance of the capitol, and the proceeds given to the Red Cross, and the speaker hereafter shall furnish his own automobile or walk."

GRAIN BOARDS DOOMED, LEGGE TELLS FARMERS

He Speaks to 3,000 at Urbana Meeting.

BY PAUL POTTER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Alexander Legge, farm board chairman, today told 3,000 cheering Illinois farmers that he was with them in a fight to the finish to obtain control of the marketing of their products. He wound up the 33d annual Farm and Home week program of the University of Illinois by calling upon his listeners to "carry on" during the period of readjustment to a happier time, when "things will clear up."

He renewed his attack on the Chicago Board of Trade, declaring that if corn growers were organized they could "take 25 cents more a bushel for their corn as easy as falling off a log." To put the grain board out of existence just now, he said, would be a serious blow to present grain marketing machinery, but he pointed out significantly that live stock had been marketed without a "futures" market for years, and declared his belief that all short selling "ultimately must go."

Calls System Outworn.

"Critics say we have crippled the grain exchanges," he continued. "We have only been doing that the last year or so of the life of a system eighty years old. If that system were delivering the goods we would never have been brought into existence."

Legge referred to the fact that stock market trading was now but one-fourth of normal, and compared this to the light grain commission business, which he said was blamed on the farm board.

"We haven't touched the stock market," he commented.

Constantly reiterating that the farm board's objective was to set up marketing agencies which the farmers themselves would own and operate, he cited examples of efficiency in coöperative marketing, as well as the effects of a lack of it.

Cites Milk Arbitration.

Pointing to the recent arbitration of reduced milk prices in Chicago, Legge said the dairy farmers had "shouldered 80 per cent of the cut, the dealers 20 per cent, while the men who do the work in delivering, being highly organized, dictated their own terms and took none of it."

"The farm board is not giving the farmers a handout, a dole, or charity," he declared. "Farmers don't want such a thing. There's nothing new about using funds in this way, as a matter of fact. The trouble is that those who holler loudest are not the big taxpayers. Some of them aren't even on the books."

Legge defended coöperative marketing with the assertion that the "percentage of failures in any industry you care to name has been greater than in coöperatives. The trouble has been that mistakes in management have not been made known soon enough and used by the directors."

Points to California.

He referred to the record of California citrus fruit growers as demonstrating how farmers can operate marketing associations "of a high type of efficiency and at maximum of profit to the growers."

Turning to the progress being made by the farm board, Legge listed and described the national sales agencies created by the board and now operated by farmer stockholders. He championed the accomplishments of the National Grain corporation, the first and largest of these agencies, with the declaration that it "handled more of last year's wheat crop than any of us had expected."

"A study of cash and future grain prices over last year," he added, "will show what it has done. In 1929, most cash sales of farm grain were at a discount under that for future delivery. In 1930 the cash sales were almost constantly at a premium over future quotations."

The Surplus Problem.

For 62 consecutive months, he said, wheat farmers continued to pyramid a surplus of wheat, then wondered why they were in trouble. The tariff, he said, had been made partially effective by the stabilization purchases, until Chicago prices yesterday were 33½c a bushel over competing wheat in Buenos Aires, a world market.

"You and the entire financial structure of the nation are getting a temporary relief in a critical time when it's most needed," he averred. "You ask what we intend to do with the wheat we have on hand? The answer is in the hands of the farmers.

"I cannot believe that when they know the true facts they will want to continue toward their downfall in competition with world trade. If they gradually cut wheat production 20 per cent, the tariff of 52 cents a bushel will protect them. The only other choice is to take the consequences of the antiquated and unnecessary effects of the survival of the fittest.

Two Courses Open.

"If production is reduced," he said, "the holdings of millions of bushels of wheat by the Grain Stabilization corporation can be absorbed without seriously altering markets. If the farmers choose to continue producing, the wheat would be sold and the loss written off."

Much of the present surplus of such farm products as butter, Legge said, was due to underconsumption rather than overproduction. This, he said, would right itself when the city working man went back to work, and which he predicted was "not far distant."

The live stock farmer, he indicated, is not in such serious straits as the grain grower. The number of live stock on farms Jan. 1, while 10 per cent below normal, would entirely consume all grains on hand in the United States during the present season, he said, "if the men who feed do not get panicky and sell before their stock is ready for market."

"There are still some unpleasant economic adjustments to be made," he said, "but I am convinced the bottom has been reached and I look for a gradual improvement generally from the most drastic period of reduction in world history."

SENATE VOTES NYE MORE CASH; CANNON MAY FACE INQUIRY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—The Nye committee investigating senatorial campaign expenditures was granted $50,000 and an extension of its life until next January by the senate today.

No sooner had its further existence been assured than a new job was offered it in the form of a resolution introduced by Senator Carter Glass [Dem., Va.] to authorize an investigation aimed at Bishop James Cannon Jr., head of the board of temperance and social service of the Methodist Episcopal Church South.

Senator Glass' resolution contemplates inquiry into any violation of the provision of the corrupt practices act involving a false statement of campaign expenditures and the fraudulent conversion of campaign contributions to private uses.

It harks back to the testimony last spring before the senate lobby committee in which allegations were made that Bishop Cannon had received campaign contributions totaling $65,300 from E. C. Jameson of New York to help the dry Hoover campaign in Virginia, but had reported only $17,300 as having been used for political purposes as required by law.

THAT REPORT OF WICKERSHAM'S STILL HIDES OUT

Wets Scent White House Scheme.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Withholding of the Wickersham commission's report from congress until after the house has acted upon appropriations for the prohibition bureau seemed a likelihood today. Next Tuesday is fixed for the vote in the house. Meanwhile the Wickersham commission failed again to have a quorum in attendance and there was another unexplained delay in the transmission of the report, which is understood to have been completed a week ago, to President Hoover.

It was regarded as probable that the document would not be turned over to the President before Monday or Tuesday, and that he might not send it to congress before Wednesday. The President is understood to have in his possession already a summary of the commission's recommendation, but the complete report, said to be 60,000 or 70,000 words long, has not as yet reached him.

Wets Are Disappointed.

The wets have been hoping that the Wickersham commission's report would reach congress before the prohibition bureau appropriations were taken up. Even though it recommends no material modification, the wets are confident that the report will contain a mass of evidence showing a breakdown of prohibition enforcement and that its publication would furnish them ammunition in the controversy over appropriations.

General debate on the appropriation bill, carrying funds for the departments of state, justice, commerce, and labor, was commenced today in the house. Rather than permit the prohibition bureau controversy to come before the house tomorrow when many of the wet members, particularly from New York, will be absent for the week-end, an agreement was reached among the leaders that the reading of the bill for amendments would not go beyond the state department sections tomorrow. Inasmuch as other business is scheduled for Monday, this will put off action of the prohibition appropriations until Tuesday.

Sheppard Extols Dry Blessings.

Today, the eleventh anniversary of national prohibition, was the occasion for a speech by Senator Morris Sheppard [Dem., Tex.], one of the authors of the 18th amendment, in the senate.

"No greater disaster could befall the nation than the repeal of the 18th amendment," said Senator Sheppard. "Repeal the 18th amendment and your action will be construed as a deliberate indorsement of the traffic in intoxicating liquor."

Police See Mystery in Woman's Career.

Tells of Daughter's Career.

Dr. Moss, the slain woman's father, said in Roanoke last night that his daughter undoubtedly had been killed by a moron, and he hoped for the slayer's capture in order to protect the public from further tragedies.

The old Moss homestead is at Lafayette, La., and the father said his daughter's body would be sent there for burial in the family burial ground. Miss Moss attended a teachers' college in Louisiana and later was a student in Sweet Briar college in Virginia. Dr. Moss said his daughter had also taken extensive courses in physical education and was a lover of athletic sports.

One of Miss Moss' uncles is S. R. Parkerson, vice president of the First National bank of Lafayette, of which institution her father was president before he retired and moved to another climate on account of shattered health.

Dr. Moss said that before coming to Chicago years ago his daughter had been an instructor in physical education in the Y. W. C. A. and in the Virginia College for Girls. In her business career here Miss Moss had become a department manager for the Spies Brothers Jewelry company at 1140 Cornelia avenue.

Many photographs found in the apartment showed the dead woman garbed in men's sport clothes. Her hair was cropped short in a boyish fashion.

MEN WILL HELP WOMEN TO STAGE ANTI-DRY RALLY

Aid from the masculine contingent was proffered yesterday to the Woman's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, which has scheduled an anti-prohibition mass meeting for the Drake hotel the night of Jan. 21. Ralph Shaw, attorney and chairman of the Chicago Association Against the Eighteenth Amendment, explained that the efforts of the women were much appreciated by his organization and also the Crusaders, whose aim is identical, and that many members of both would be present for the gathering.

Awards Wife Custody of 4 Children and a Still

Circuit Judge Trude yesterday awarded Mrs. Angela Laich of Lansing the custody of her four children and a still, pending the settlement of her divorce suit against Samuel Laich. Her husband, Mrs. Laich testified, used to make $75 a week with his small distillery. But when the still exploded and set fire to the house, they separated. Since then, Mrs. Laich said, her husband has been coming to their home to do his "cooking."

250 WOUNDED IN DAY OF RIOTS BY GANDHI'S INDIANS

Violence Begins as London Parley Nears End.

BOMBAY, India, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Defiant Indians affiliated with Mahatma Gandhi's congress party today gave Bombay one of the most anxious periods it has had in many months. Two hundred and fifty natives were sent to hospitals after street fights with police and soldiers.

They had tried to establish a complete hartal, or general cessation of all work, but 5,000 policemen and 500 British soldiers, mobilized at strategic points, prevented the hartal from reaching its intended proportions.

Police Fire Into Mob.

A series of riots in the industrial suburb of Lalbagh resulted in gunfire. Two Indians were wounded when police fired into a mob which refused to disperse. Most of the other casualties received minor injuries when the police charged the crowds with their lathis, or sticks.

The demonstration was a protest against the recent execution of four Indians convicted of killing a policeman in a riot at Sholapur last spring. It was the most serious of a series of riots which has continued since the condemned men were hanged.

Try to Halt Traffic.

Attempts were made to tie up trolley cars and other vehicular traffic, to close the stores and stop the business of the courts, but the police were able to keep business and traffic moving.

Foreign residents feared tonight India is in for a long period of similar disturbances. One of the congress party leaders, as he was led off to jail this afternoon, shouted that his followers would never rest until India was given control over its own destiny.

PARLEY NEARS END

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 16.—The Indian round table conference started on its last lap today. After sitting during the morning as a committee of the whole, it accepted the reports of the various subcommittees and this afternoon resolved itself into a final plenary session, which will continue on Monday. Prime Minister MacDonald will then make a final statement of the position of the British government, and declare the conference adjourned.

The plan, it is understood, is to adjourn for six months or a year, and to appoint committees to carry on the work begun by the conference. Then, when a constitution is framed, the conference will be called together again to discuss it in detail before presenting to the British parliament.

MacDonald Submits Resolution.

In opening the plenary session this afternoon Mr. MacDonald put forward the following resolution:

"The conference, sitting in plenary session, has received and noted the reports of nine subcommittees submitted by the committee of the whole of the conference, with comments thereon. These reports are provisional, although they, together with the recorded notes attached to them, afford, in the opinion of the conference, material of the highest value for use in framing a constitution for India, and many helpful indications of points of detail to be further pursued. The conference feels that arrangements should be made to pursue without interruption the work upon which it has been engaged."

The debate on the resolution was marked by speeches by nearly all the delegates. Ramachandra Rao drew attention to the fact that nothing had been decided about a supreme court for federal India. Lord Sankey, lord chancellor, explained the government's position.

To Be Settled Later.

"In a federal constitution such as we propose to set up, federal courts are essential," he said. "There is such a court in Canada, Australia and the United States. The exact jurisdiction and exact constitution of such a court can be settled later. In my view that will not be a difficult task, although many details remain for discussion. I would, therefore, venture to take the opportunity of advising you to pass the resolution affirming the principle and leaving the other questions open for future determination."

U. S. Editors Protest to Cuba Over Censorship of Papers

New York, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Suppression and censorship of Havana newspapers were protested today by the Press Congress of the World in communications to President Machado of Cuba and Secretary of State Stimson at Washington.

The protests were made public by James Wright Brown, president of the Editor and Publisher and executive committee member of the Press congress.

Flays Archaic Procedure.

The message to President Machado, signed by President Walter Williams of the University of Missouri, honorary president of the Press congress, said:

"On behalf of the members of the Press Congress of the World and under the authority of the governing and executive committees, I desire to file with your excellency a formal and vigorous protest against the suppression and censorship of Havana newspapers. Censorship of newspapers in any form, disturbing or restraining dissemination of news or freedom of comment on news, to say nothing of suppression of all such publications, is inconceivable in this day of enlightened education.

"No matter what the objective may be, the continued suppression of newspapers of Havana is not merely undesirable but unwarranted and constitutes an archaic, ineffective method of righting a wrong. Indeed, the employment of such methods does extreme harm in aggravating any political or social condition.

"Leaders of the press of this country find it encumbent to protest vigorously the autocratic policies of dictatorship as exercised in the case of the suppression of these Cuban newspapers."

Quote First Amendment.

The communication to Secretary Stimson, similarly worded, added:

"The first amendment to the United States constitution adopted Dec. 15, 1791, guarantees our press freedom. Surely our interest in the welfare of the people of Cuba well justifies vigorous representations by our state department to the government of Cuba."

Nine Havana publications — five dailies and four weeklies—were closed a week ago by a decree of the Cuban secretary of the interior charging them with "indirectly encouraging acts against the government by giving prominent space to anti-administration activities."

A tenth publication was suspended Thursday for publishing an article criticising former President Menocal, leader of the oppositionists.

Leaves Before Expulsion.

HAVANA, Jan. 16.—John T. Wilford, American newspaper publisher, for whom a deportation decree was issued yesterday by President Machado, left Havana this afternoon by airplane for Miami without being served with a notice of the decree.

PRESENT AN ALIBI FOR BROTHERS IN LINGLE KILLING

CRIMINAL COURT.

Peter Smasecs, manslaughter, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary; Lawrence Peterson, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge Philip Finneran.

Angelo Sirousa, assault to rob, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary; Arthur A. Breault, larceny, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell by Judge Joseph Burke.

Leo Brothers, indicted as the slayer of Alfred Lingle, has an alibi to refute the charge, his attorneys, Tyrrell Krum and Robert E. Cantwell, announced yesterday. The attorneys had their usual morning meeting with Brothers in his county jail cell.

"This iron clad alibi will prove that Brothers would have been spotted immediately by the bandages on his face if he had committed the murder," said Attorney Krum. "Brothers was hurt in an automobile accident a few days before the Lingle murder and a physician had to take several stitches in his face. His face was bandaged and if he had taken off the bandages he would have had a hemorrhage. We have an affidavit from the physician, but we will not give his name at this time."

In the meantime, Assistant State's Attorneys Charles Rathbun and James McShane were making arrangements for a prompt trial for Brothers. He will be arraigned either today or Monday, Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court has announced.

RADICAL CHIDES REPUBLICANS ON PARTY LOYALTY

Cutting Uses Lucas Letter; Quotes from Lincoln.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—A gentleman with a birth certificate from Long Island, a diploma from Groton, a Phi Beta Kappa key from Harvard, a certificate of election from the voters of New Mexico, and a title to membership in the senate's radical Republican bloc gave the leadership of the G. O. P. a dressing down today. He offered the radical platform as the logical foundation for a new and better party.

He was Senator Bronson Cutting and he used as the take-off for his speech a letter which Robert H. Lucas, new executive director of the Republican national committee, had written to employés of the internal revenue bureau following his retirement as collector of internal revenue.

The letter, written from his new office, asked their help in keeping him advised of local political conditions throughout the country, and suggested their sending him their home addresses so he might communicate with them more readily.

False Names and Quotations.

Senator Cutting recalled Mr. Lucas' circulation of a cartoon about former Governor Smith and Mr. Raskob and of a letter purporting to come from one J. M. O'Shea of a New York Tammany club, and of Mr. Lucas' borrowing $4,000 to have these circulars printed and distributed.

"He used a false name and a false quotation from Gov. Smith," said Senator Cutting. "He sent out a letter he must have known was a fake, or else he is the least intelligent man in control of a political party today. He says he was justified because Senator Norris [Neb.], at whom his activities were directed, is not a Republican."

He waved a letter sent out by the Republican national committee, Dec. 24, to every precinct leader in the country. It bore Mr. Lucas' name and that of Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.], chairman.

"What I want to talk about is Mr. Lucas' use of the Republican national committee for his personal support," said Senator Cutting. "I wish Senator Fess were in his usual seat so that he might hear."

Gives Lincoln Sentiment.

The letter, a four page affair, referred to Lincoln's birthday. Senator Cutting read from Lincoln: "I stand with anybod/ that stands right. I stand with him while he is right, and I part with him when he goes wrong.'"

And another quotation, following the civil war, when Lincoln feared that moneyed corporations would corrupt the country.

"Does that read like the utterances of Mr. Lucas?" Senator Cutting asked. "Does it read like the utterances of the present president of the United States? Does it not read more like the utterances of the senator from Nebraska, who is now being drummed out of the party as an untrue Republican and unfaithful to the memory of Lincoln?

"Mr. Hoover is to be pitied if he cannot separate his candidacy—if he is to be a candidate—from men so completely discredited."

Senator Fess had also used the national committee to express his personal answers to criticisms, Senator Cutting charged.

What Is Party Regularity?

"He attacked Senator Couzens, another Republican, just as much entitled as Senator Fess to the services of the national committee," he declared. He swung into his peroration.

"A party is only a means to an end, and a national committee is only an agency of the Republican voters," he declared. "That being the case, what is this party regularity talked about by Mr. Lucas? Mr. Lucas was a Progressive in 1912. Mr. Hoover made a Democratic appeal in 1918. Senator Norris supported Gov. Smith in 1928. What's the difference?

"When Mr. Lucas was asked his definition of a Republican he answered that a Republican was a man who voted for Republican candidates. And I imagine he would have said a Republican candidate was a man nominated by Republican voters. There is your vicious circle complete. Can any one define either party without using the words Republican or Democrat? If not, why should any man violate his conscience to vote for any one candidate under the guise of party loyalty?

"Not Obstructionists."

"We so-called insurgents are not obstructionists. At least we have a definite program on which a party might be built up. Yet we are the ones to be read out of the party because we are not regular.

"It should not be a source of pride that party lines mean nothing. The test that Senator Fess and Mr. Lucas fail to see is that only true test—approved by the voters."

Seek Pension Action

A half hundred civil war veterans put on their blue uniforms yesterday and assembled at Memorial hall in the Chicago public library to greet their national commander, James E. Jewel, and the national president of the Women's Relief corps, Kate G. Raynor. The occasion was a reception given by the Illinois department of the relief corps.

Commander in Chief Jewel, in company with Mrs. Jewel and national officers of the G. A. R. and the relief corps, is on his way to Washington, D. C., to urge pension legislation for widows of civil war veterans. The party came from Des Moines where preparations were made for the national encampment of the G. A. R. in September.

Commander-in-Chief Jewel, in his brief address before representatives of the patriotic organizations, was almost as enthusiastic about his discovery in Des Moines of the same flag he followed in the civil war, as he was over the legislative program.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Premature explosion of a hand grenade at army maneuvers today drove a steel splinter into the left foot of M. Goenboes, the minister of war. Anti-tetanus serum was administered at a hospital.

DAISY TELLS OF CLARA'S LAVISH GIFTS TO BEAUX

Studio Drops "It" Girl from Pending Film.

prize" in Clara's list of gifts to men, was a jeweled $4,000 watch, which, Daisy said, Clara bestowed on Dr. Earl Pierson, Texas physician, whose wife divorced him.

Daisy's attorney, Nathan Freedman, asked: "Is that all? Were there other such items?"

Daisy lapsed into thought. Then she remembered that Harry Richman, one of Clara's most recent ex-fiancés, drew a $2,000 diamond ring.

"Any more?" the attorney asked.

"O, yes, many more," Daisy said sweetly. "But there were so many it's hard to remember them all."

However, Daisy did recall that Clara took time off one day to buy herself a $10,000 diamond engagement ring. Who the lucky man was Daisy did not disclose.

With Clara absent, Rex Bell, movie cowboy and Miss Bow's current boy friend, occupied her front sea at the trial. As he listened to Daisy tell all about the diamond rings, etc., he occasionally glanced at the big diamond ring on his own finger. It bears the unique inscription "It."

Continuing, Daisy said, "When we returned from New York last October Miss Bow asked me to pick out a diamond clip and a diamond sport pin for less than $2,000. I paid $1,700. I kept them. I did not have an opportunity to give them to her."

Life in the Bow Menage.

According to Daisy's account from the witness stand, of life in the Bow mansion in Beverly Hills, the days were an unvaried round of appearances at the studio, trips to "cosmetologists," and other beauty conservators, shopping tours, and telephone calls to boy friends. The nights included visits from the Beverly Hills bootlegger, calls from boy friends, and poker games.

All Daisy's testimony was admitted under the guise of explaining how Clara's bank account happened to get tangled with hers.

As Daisy explained it, she made many purchases of jewelry and other articles for Clara when Clara didn't want to be bothered going to the stores herself. According to her story, she paid for the gems and finery partly with checks drawn on the Clara Bow "special account" in a branch of the California bank, and partly in checks on her own account. When she did the latter, it would be necessary for her to reimburse herself later, she said. She did this by writing subsequent checks, drawn against Miss Bow's special account and made out to herself.

That's how the poker games came to light.

"She would rather stay home and play poker than go to the theater or any other place," said Daisy. "We played all the time; six nights a week at least. She never carried any money with her, and I had to pay off her debts. Sometimes it was only $4 or $8, and sometimes it was $200."

Often Paid for Liquor.

Q.—What did you pay for Miss Bow at the door? A.—Liquor, much liquor.

Q.—What was the most you ever paid for liquor at one time for Miss Bow. A.—I don't know exactly. I think it was about $275.

Q.—Who else was living there when you first were employed? A.—William Doe and Jimmy Dundee. I moved in when they moved out of the front bedroom.

Daisy worked as hairdresser at the Paramount studio for several years, she said, adding:

"I made $42.50 per week and at the end of each picture the stars generally gave me from $25 to $100."

Then in January, 1929, Clara suggested Daisy should go to work for her. Clara agreed to start her at $75 a week, which Daisy was allowed to draw herself from the "special account."

"What did you have to do as Miss Bow's companion and secretary?" asked Freedman.

"As her companion I was supposed to inform various of her men friends that she was no longer interested in them," commenced Daisy. "Then I was supposed to pay the dentist bills, the mortgage, make payments to her father and her cousin and on the automobile; write checks, pay the grocery and meat bills, and buy clothes. Shopping generally annoyed Clara and so I did all that. I had to bleach and henna her hair, give beauty treatments, mend wardrobe and see that her clothes were not left piled on the floor, and if the chauffeur was busy, I had to drive her car."

Clara, she said, especially disliked to write checks or even have her work on the books. Once when Clara found her working on the check stubs, she testified, Clara said to "let it go" because she had other things for her to do.

Deputy District Attorney Dave Clark noticed that Daisy was referring frequently to a memorandum book that she had carried to the witness stand and interposed an objection. It developed that Daisy had made the notes while she was in the courtroom and not at the time the events took place, and Superior Judge William Doran ruled that she would have to relinquish the book.

While waiting to testify Daisy told newspaper men something about the life she lived with Clara.

"Of course there were boy friends and boy friends," she said, "but I am certain that Earl—you know, that Texas doctor—is the only man she was ever really crazy about.

Watches for His Letters.

"I could tell by the way she'd watch for his wires and letters—honestly, just like some little schoolgirl who has got it bad. And she'd be peevish if they didn't come when she expected them.

"She would get confidential, too, and tell me how much she loved him. She still is in love with him, for that matter, too.

"It might have been a good thing if she'd married him. But, then, I always thought he wasn't crazy to have a red headed movie star for a wife.

"Clara needs some one to look out for her, though. She's grown up and she makes a lot of money and is world known and all that, but she is a child at heart.

"She gave it to me hot and heavy when she got on that witness stand. But that's Clara. She doesn't hate me, really. She staged the fireworks only because Clara has got to be the main drag. She's got to be the center of the show.

And That Mr. Bell!

"She said she felt bad to be giving me the works, and I believe her. I don't think the kid hates me. I think—well, if I should tell you what I really think about that Mr. Bell and how he's got me in dutch with Clara you couldn't print it. He's to blame for all this!

"When I was with her I made her mind me, all right! That was the agreement when I went to work for her. I was to be the boss about things that were for her own good, and I saw that I was.

"At first, when I'd try to make her go home from parties, or would calmly tell company they had to go home—that she had to go to bed—she'd get mad and start throwing things at me.

"But I broke that little habit. I'd go over to her and twist her arm a little, not so that it would hurt, but so she'd know who was boss. Or maybe I'd give her a right smart slap. That would bring her out of it.

"That's what Clara needs, some one to strong-arm her. And that's why I'm sorry she and Harry Richmand didn't make a go of it.

"Harry would have worn the pants in that family, I assure you!

"Take this latest crush of hers—the sweet patootie, Rex, for instance. Harry wouldn't have let her go to wild parties, just as I wouldn't. But Rex doesn't give a darn.

"She will call him up and tell him she is going with another man and he will complain a little. And the next time he sees her he will be a little peeved—but not too much, if you get me.

"I get so mad when I talk about that errand boy!"

ORGANIZE NEW STATE TAX COMMISSION; MEMBERS GIVE BOND

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Gov. Emmerson's new state tax commission met in this city today and organized. The chairman is Omer N. Custer, Galesburg. A. D. Rodenberg of Centralia and Charles Ringer and Charles Kutekoff of Chicago are the other members. Each filed a bond in the sum of $10,000.

David Kinley of Urbana, former president of the University of Illinois, the fifth member of the body, is in California, and will qualify on his return. The members of the commission conferred with Gov. Emmerson after filing their bond.

WALES BEGINS HIS 18,000 MILE TRIP TO BOOST TRADE

Hops with Brother on 1st Leg to South America.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 16.—The prince of Wales and his youngest brother, Prince George, this afternoon flew over the first stage of their 18,000 mile trip to South America. On March 14 the two princes will attend the formal opening of the British trade exhibition at Buenos Aires and then proceed on a good will tour of other South American countries with the hope of influencing the sale of British goods.

Although there was a rough sea in the channel, air conditions were fair, though foggy, and the royal plane, escorted by British army machines, made an uneventful crossing to Le Bourget. Before leaving York house the two princes telephoned their farewells to King George and Queen Mary at Sandringham. They then drove to the Hendon airport with their two brothers, the duke of York and the duke of Gloucester, who remained to see them off.

Stay in Paris Incognito.

PARIS, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Two traveling salesmen from London spent this evening in comparative quiet at their hotel here, but they were the object of considerably more attention than is usually accorded a commercial traveler.

They were the prince of Wales and his brother, Prince George, but they were strictly incognito and there was none of the pomp with which visiting royalty is usually pestered.

They did not go to the theater as Wales is accustomed to do on his visits to Paris because both are in mourning for their aunt, the Princess Royal, who died last week. From Paris the two princes will proceed to Santander, Spain, where they will board the liner Oropesa.

Poses for Photographers.

As Wales stepped out of his plane at Le Bourget the heir to the British throne noticed a group of photographers being held back behind a line of soldiers. He grinned at them and posed for five minutes while they aimed their cameras at him.

"O, let them alone," he said to the commander at Le Bourget. "But you'll have to be quick about it," he told the camera men.

Then when that was over he and his brother started for Paris in the British air attaché's automobile.

$13,100,000 BOND ISSUES GO ON SO. PARK BALLOT

$3,350,000 Asked for Randolph Viaduct.

Bond issues totalling $13,100,000 will be placed on the ballot for consideration by the voters of the south park district at the Feb. 24th election, it was announced yesterday following a meeting of the commissioners. The money is to be spent for various park improvements, including the Randolph street viaduct and the extension of the south park drives to the Indiana line.

At an estimated cost of $3,500,000, completion of the Randolph street viaduct, which will provide a six lane roadway leading from Michigan avenue at Randolph street east to Field boulevard, will be undertaken by the south park board if the bond issue is approved. A contract has been let by the Illinois Central system for the substructure under the viaduct, which will include a new station and work is going forward.

Seven Other Issues Planned.

Seven other bond issues were adopted by the commissioners. If the issues are approved, the improvement of traffic lanes from Jeffery avenue and 67th street to 112th street, which is the Indiana boundary, will be realized. It is also proposed to widen and improve Marquette road from Jackson park to California avenue.

Among other projects planned under the bond issues are:

The widening and improvement of Yates avenue from South Shore drive to 103d street.

The rebuilding of the 102d street pier in Calumet park and repair of the old breakwater.

The rebuilding of shore protection in Jackson park.

The construction of buildings containing 3 unit swimming pools in Mann park, Madden park, Marquette park and the 7th ward park. Mann park is to have a new fieldhouse.

Will Rearrange Drives.

The rearrangement of drives around the armory of the 124th Field Artillery in Washington park.

The first step toward completion of athletic and exhibition halls under Soldiers' field was also taken at the meeting yesterday when the commissioners voted to sell bonds amounting to $1,000,000 to the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, which paid $971,032. It is expected that work on the stadium will begin within fifteen days.

51,709 FAMILIES RECEIVE CHARITY AID IN A MONTH

$3,721,000 Is Subscribed in Drive for Jobless.

Figures compiled by the governor's relief commission yesterday showed that a total of 51,709 families received aid in Chicago during December as compared with 8,783 families assisted by relief agencies during the same month last year. Total expenditures for this relief last month amounted to $703,000, as compared with $139,000 in 1929, the commission reported.

"Of the amount expended last month $280,000 was paid in wages to men employed through the special work fund of the governor's commission," said Philip R. Clark, director of the $8,000,000 relief fund campaign. "A total of 5,500 men were employed on recommendation of the family relief organization."

About 74 per cent of the fund sought by the commission has been collected so far. Yesterday the total stood at $5,721,000. The smallest day's collections so far recorded in the drive were received yesterday, only $10,419 being contributed.

H. L. Rockhill, chairman of the supervisory board for the special federal unemployment census being conducted here, yesterday made public an analysis of unemployment figures obtained last April during the 1930 census. At that time 147,394 persons were shown to be without jobs. Of this number 20,493 were temporarily laid off without pay, 6,765 were unable to work because of disability, 7,718 were suffering temporary disability, 3,322 did not want work, 1,980 were voluntarily out of work, and 2,283 were not working, but were being paid.

The American Legion's national commission for employment met yesterday in the Palmer house to plan an exhaustive survey of 10,000 local posts throughout the country to learn how many former service men are without jobs.

PROPOSES LAND TRADE TO END 103D ST. DISPUTE

Gas Company Asked to Co-operate.

Settlement of the controversy between far south side residents and the Nickel Plate railroad over the closing of 105rd street by the railroad's switching yards was proposed yesterday through a land trade by Ald. William A. Rowan [10th]. Officials of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company are to be asked to trade land with the railroad to permit removal of the switching yards from the head of Lake Calumet to south of 110th street.

The proposal is to be considered Wednesday at a meeting for the purpose of effecting a compromise called by the Illinois commerce commission. Officials of the company have been invited to discuss the plan with representatives of the residents and the railroad.

Involved in Car Ordinance.

The gas company is one of the properties of the Insull interests. The unification transit ordinance provides for a car line on 103rd street. It has been pointed out that shifting of the car line would necessitate amending the ordinance and submission of a second referendum on the ordinance.

"The transit lines have expressed a desire to operate a line on East 103d street to connect the great communities shut off by Lake Calumet," Ald. Rowan said. "I believe that they would readily exchange land to permit the railroad to build yards farther south and open the street."

All Parties Benefited.

"The plan would benefit all concerned and satisfactorily end the dispute. Under no circumstances will the residents surrender the street. Officials of the company will appear at the meeting to discuss the technicalities of the transfer. They have not stated a position regarding the proposal."

The cost of the switch yards with storing facilities has been set at $3,500,000 by the railroad. Residents of the community hold that the railroad placed tracks across 103d street without authority. Under prodding of the citizens Commissioner of Public Works Richard Wolfe has ordered the street vacated within 30 days.

EX-CANAL LAW CHIEFS TESTIFY ABOUT PAY ROLLS

Brouillet, Hoyne Quizzed at Bar Hearing.

The workings of the sanitary district law department in the whoopee days were revealed yesterday before Circuit Judge Thomas Taylor, sitting as commissioner for the Supreme court in the disciplinary proceedings brought by the Chicago Bar association against 35 lawyers on the department during the pay roll scandals. The disclosures were made by Hector A. Brouillet and Maclay Hoyne, former chiefs of the department.

Both Brouillet and Hoyne are named in the association's actions. The information declares that they acquiesced in permitting an excessive number of attorneys in the department, paying of grossly excessive salaries, and allowing fraud in paying attorneys for no services. The remaining named attorneys are said to have profited on pay roll plunder.

Hired by Employment Group.

Attorney Brouillet explained that all the attorneys were employed by the district's committee on employment, headed during his service at the head of the department in 1925 and 1926 by the late Lawrence King, president of the trustees. He declared that he had no right to hire or discharge employes under any circumstances, and that he could not question qualifications of the lawyers employed.

"Once I docked about a dozen employés, including one or two lawyers, for not working," Brouillet said. "The next day the trustee told me I had no right to do so. I was told to read the rules of the district and if I could not familiarize myself with the rules they would find some one who would. Another time I suspended one of the staff. He was back at work the next day and again I drew censure."

Many on One Case.

Attorney Brouillet said the department numbered about 25 lawyers in 1924, about 50 in 1925, and about 68 in 1926. He explained that it was his duty to assign work to the lawyers. Attorney Willard R. Matheny, representing the association, read the names of attorneys on the staff and asked after their assignments. Brouillet revealed the practice of having two lawyers on minor actions and as many as six or eight reading law and making briefs for those in charge.

"When you took charge of the department the district became your client and as an attorney good faith was owing to that client," Judge Taylor said. "Did you consider yourself bound to notify your client of improper things going on and resign your office if your suggestions were ignored?"

"I knew of nothing illegal," Brouillet replied. "My client wished extra counsel and that was agreeable to me. All the staff worked."

Trustees Knew Conditions.

Attorney Amos C. Miller in behalf of Brouillet stated that the latter might have been subject to mandamus if he attempted to resign. He could not interfere where he had no power and the trustees knew and tolerated conditions, Mr. Miller said.

"A lawyer's justification is honorable conduct, irregardless of statute," the judge retorted. "That principle has been voiced repeatedly."

Attorney Maclay Hoyne, former state's attorney and head of the department in 1927 and 1928, followed Brouillet on the stand. He also stated that he had no power over employés on hiring or firing.

Before Attorney Hoyne finished his testimony the hearing was adjourned until Monday. The third witness of the day was Charles A. Anthony, veteran member of the department, who could recall seeing but four of the lawyers named in the district's offices.

Concert for Waifs

Little Jean, 3 years old, abandoned Thursday, with tickets for St. Vincent's benefit concert. The child has been restored to her mother, Mrs. Mary Kosten. She had been taken to the orphanage by mistake.

Members of the Crib society of St. Vincent's Infant home and maternity hospital met yesterday morning to complete plans for a benefit concert to be given by John McCormack on Sunday afternoon, Jan. 25, at the Civic Opera house. Proceeds will go toward the building debt of the new orphanage at 721 North La Salle street. The concert committee, headed by Mrs. Edward I. Cudahy, president, hopes that $10,000 will be realized.

Reservations for boxes have been made by Mrs. Stuyvesant Peabody, Mrs. Roy Carney, Mrs. Frank Geraghty, Miss Margaret Moran, Miss Britton I. Budd, and Mrs. George Routh Jr., all of whom are members of the committee; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Insull, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Stubbs, Mrs. John Coleman Jr., Mrs. John V. Clarke, Charles F. Clark, and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Insull Jr.

CANAL TRUSTEES ADOPT BUDGET OF $73,898,000

$36,000,000 Bond Issues on February Ballot.

Appropriations of $73,898,000 were approved by the sanitary district board yesterday in adopting its budget for 1931. At the same time the trustees voted to submit bond issues totaling $36,000,000 to the voters at the February election.

The newly organized board, composed of eight Democrats and one Republican, functioned with complete harmony in adopting the budget, every roll call resulting in a unanimous vote. In contrast to the sharp party and factional breaks in previous boards no sign of trouble developed in yesterday's proceedings, which occupied less than an hour.

Corporate Budget Reduced.

Of the total appropriations $45,071,000 will be expended during 1931, as compared with $44,732,000 last year. The remainder will be expended in the next few years on permanent improvements. The corporate budget was reduced from $11,819,558 in 1930 to $9,894,299, largely due to shifts in construction work which do not appear in the corporate budget this year. The corporate budget includes all the operating expenses of the board, as distinguished from money paid for permanent improvements.

President Thomas J. Bowler, Trustee Ross A. Woodhull, chairman of the finance committee, and Trustee Thomas J. Byrne, chairman of the employment committee, made a joint statement declaring that the budget included no salary increases, except as provided by the union wage scales and reclassifications, and provided for no new jobholders except additions of men required at new units of treating plants. Bowler asserted that "overloaded pay rolls in the sanitary district are a thing of the past."

How It Will Be Spent.

The $45,071,500 to be disbursed this year will be distributed among the departments as follows: Engineering, $28,125,000; law, $1,171,000; clerk, $22,1000; treasurer, $8,700; trustees, $90,800. An appropriation of $2,993,000 goes for fixed charges and $12,462,000 for bonds and interest.

Four proposed bond issues will go on the ballot at the February election, each of them to further the construction of sewage treatment works in conformity with the United States Supreme court decision that water diversion from Lake Michigan must be reduced 1,500 second feet by the end of 1938. The bond issues are:

West side treatment works	$11,000,000
Calumet treatment works	20,300,000
Southwest treatment works	3,100,000
North side treatment works	1,600,000
Total	$36,000,000

Trustee Woodhull declared that approval of the bond issues not only will enable the district to continue its construction program as demanded by the federal government but will give work to hundreds of unemployed men. He said he anticipated no opposition to the bonds by civic organizations or other agencies.

HUSBAND SLAYS WIFE, TRIES TO SHOOT AT SISTER

Climaxing a quarrel with his wife, Malanie, 21 years old, Frank Okasich, 31, shot and fatally wounded her last night in the home of her brother, Leo Somers, at 1239 Early avenue.

Apparently intending further shooting, Okasich spun around and pointed his revolver at his wife's sister, Leona Somers, 19, who was holding his own child, Robert, 17 months old, in her arms. The girl frustrated him, however, by knocking the gun aside with one hand as she held the infant in her other arm. Okasich then put the weapon to his head, but was overpowered and disarmed by Somers before he could fire.

Okasich and his wife and child had been living with her brother for six months. Several nights ago he was ordered out following a quarrel. He returned last night to call for some belongings and renewed the argument. Dr. J. M. Nicholson, 1144 Bryn Mawr avenue, was called into the flat after the shooting and took Mrs. Okasich to the Edgewater hospital, where she died. The slayer was arrested by Summerdale police.

Wife Divorces Official of Publishing Company

Mrs. Carrie C. Bancroft of Flushing, N. Y., yesterday was granted a divorce from George R. Bancroft, 5126 Kimbark avenue, an official of the Charles E. Merrill Publishing company, by Circuit Judge Normoyle. Mrs. Bancroft charged that her husband left her to join a young woman in Chicago. Bancroft filed the original divorce bill, alleging that his wife refused to come to Chicago after he had been transferred here by his company in 1927. The decree gives Mrs. Bancroft property worth $18,000 and alimony of $300 a month. The Bancrofts were married on Sept. 17, 1901, and have four children.

County Board to Act Monday on $50,000 Police Inquiry Fund

State's Attorney John A. Swanson's request for a special appropriation of $50,000 to finance a secret investigation of the police department in pursuance of recent judicial and grand jury recommendations will be acted upon Monday by the county board.

Although several of the commissioners indicated opposition to the measure, and others suggested that the funds might be obtained from the $100,000 contingency fund allotted to the prosecutor's office, it was generally believed that the money would be forthcoming.

State's Attorney Swanson appeared twice before the commissioners.

Explains Need for Money.

On his first appearance Mr. Swanson explained that the $50,000 was to be used for the employment of civilian investigators. Neither he, Assistant State's Attorney Charles J. Mueller, in direct charge of the inquiry, nor any of the grand jurors wished, he said, to enlist policemen for the purpose of investigating policemen.

"Could not Pat Roche, your chief investigator, do this work?" questioned Mrs. Edward J. Fleming, a commissioner.

The state's attorney replied that Roche was busy with other duties, and also that he is too well known to the police department in general to conduct such an inquiry effectively.

Miss Amelia Sears, another commissioner, asked how the operatives were to be hired and how much they would be paid. Mr. Swanson asserted he could not reveal plans of the investigation, but assured her that no high priced investigators would be hired.

Opposes Use of His Fund.

Mr. Swanson left the commission rooms shortly afterward, but was recalled later after the board had considered the possibility of utilizing part of the $100,000 contingency fund for the inquiry.

"The $100,000 is needed for another purpose," Mr. Swanson said. "I never know in advance how much of it will be required. It is used to keep witnesses in hotels whenever necessary, and for similar purposes.

"The investigation of the police department was recommended by three grand juries. I did not start it. The chief justice of the Criminal court impaneled a special grand jury for that purpose, and if I am to do my duty connected with it there must be an additional appropriation."

The proceedings then were adjourned until Monday by Commissioner Emmett Whealan, chairman of the finance committee. He remarked he believed the money would be provided for the investigation, although County Controller William J. Graham said he doubted that the money could be raised.

Police Raid Cigar Store.

As a beginning for the police investigation, Assistant State's Attorney Mueller sent a police raiding party to a cigar store at 815 North Cicero avenue, where 51 persons were found in the rear. Most of them admitted they had been wagering on horse races. The place has been protected against police raids by an injunction, it was discovered later.

When the police, led by Sergt. Michael Ahearn, descended on the place they were met by two brothers, Edward and Joseph Greenspan, the latter a self-described Thompson leader of the 37th ward. The brothers talked about "fixing the pinch," and Edward offered him $500, according to Ahearn. Policeman Arthur Waccholz arrested Edward Greenspan for bribery a little later, when, according to the policeman, Greenspan gave him $500.

Blair Tells of $50,000 Loss as Cabaret Owner

William Mitchell Blair of Lake Forest lost $50,000 in three years' operation of the Petrushka club, society cabaret, he testified before Referee in Bankruptcy Harry Parkin yesterday. Blair also testified that he lost $80,000 in Michigan oil ventures and $50,000 in the Chicago Stadium. Blair's voluntary petition in bankruptcy scheduled liabilities of more than $200,000. The hearing will be resumed Feb. 3.

COUNTY WASTE SQUEEZED TO FIT SLENDER BUDGET

A Perfect 36 Groaningly Becomes a No. 16.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Indications became plainer yesterday that the 1931 budget for Cook county, which started out a perfect 36, will be squeezed into a slim 16 before the county board, sitting in judgment as a finance committee on the items entailed, gets through with it. Warden Michael Zimmer of the Cook County hospital, called into consultation on his estimate of needs of that institution, was told that instead of the $75,000 increase he asked, the commissioners might decide to give him less than he spent last year.

"I've been long enough in the public service, ladies and gentlemen," the warden conceded, "to know that you can't spend money you haven't got. At the same time, I must warn you that to operate the county hospital on less than the expenditures of last year may mean a positive danger to health for which we cannot be held responsible. If we are compelled to operate on 20 per cent or so less than the 1930 totals we could not pretend to maintain more than an emergency service."

Laundry Is Worn Out.

Going into details, Warden Zimmer said the laundry machinery at the hospital is in such condition that it can't be used for another year. He said the hospital linen supply is so inadequate that, while the beds are kept clean, sheets must be rushed direct from the laundry to the wards and placed on the beds still warm. Also new equipment is needed in several of the wards as well as added technicians for the staff.

"How much would a supply of new linen amount to for the hospital?" Mrs. Edward J. Fleming wanted to know.

"It would be expensive—I should say at least $35,000," Zimmer replied.

"But that's $15,000 less than the state's attorney is asking for his special grand jury investigation," commented the woman member.

Zimmer's estimate of the institution's financial needs for 1931 totals $1,737,000, exclusive of the nursing service. The 1930 figure was $1,662,000.

X-Ray Help Needed.

Explaining the added requirements, the warden mentioned the addition of an X-ray technician at a salary of $160 a month for the cancer ward. The X-ray treatment, he believes, will reduce the period spent in the hospital by cancer patients when taken in time.

One member of the hospital staff, a museum technician, he stated, has threatened to leave unless he receives a salary commensurate with his duties. The rest of the staff is so thoroughly agreed he should have the increase that they have been making up the difference out of their own salaries.

"Well, the attitude heretofore with a lot of department heads has been," put in Chairman Emmett Whealan, "that this board can find the money somewhere. This year they're due for a jolt and they're going to get it."

Warden Zimmer agreed to go over his estimates again and try to reduce them.

BUCKET BRIGADE BATTLES FLAMES ON COUNTY FARM

A bucket brigade composed of men and women among the 175 elderly residents of the Kane county farm yesterday battled in vain against a fire which destroyed a barn valued, with its contents, at $15,000, but their efforts were credited by firemen who arrived later from Geneva and Batavia with saving the main building and several smaller structures.

The farm is two miles northeast of Batavia and shelters the county's poor and aged. The flames are believed to have started from sparks from the chimney of the main building, which is less than 100 feet from the barn.

The burned building was stocked not only with hay and grain for the farm's live stock, but also contained a large amount of provisions.

Fannie Hurst's "Back Street" Wins Praise

Shows Closer Sense of Values, It's Said.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Back Street," by Fannie Hurst [Cosmopolitan].

"Back Street" is one of the most moving books in modern literature. Whatever its author's faults — and to this reviewer Fannie Hurst's writing usually has had a lavish bathos — "Back Street" has a tremendous power to twang the heart strings.

FANNIE HURST.

It has the power of "Lummux" [which was no mean wringer of the heart] plus sentience. The heroine of "Lummux" broke your heart because she didn't understand. The heroine of "Back Street" breaks your heart because she elected the life which was hers. She knew that the man whom she loved took everything and gave her with an almost godlike complacency little either of himself or of comfort in return, but with all of life added up and subtracted, that little was worth more than all the rest that life might have offered. Being convinced of that, she gallantly faced life.

"Back Street" is the story of a girl of immense physical attraction for the boys, a "fly" girl of the nineties, who was too pretty to be popular with the neighboring women and girls, but who always had a date with somebody masculine. She was the kind of person that always gives more than she takes—although something always kept her from giving virginity. There flashed into her life a young Jewish boy whom she loved at sight. The pages—almost five hundred of them—are the record of that love.

All through the years of his rise in financial circles to the ultra-millionaire class, all through the years of his very happy marriage to a girl of his own race, the birth of his three children, their growth, Ray Schmidt lived in a little flat on Broadway, always waiting for the few hours a week that he could spend with her, adding to the too meager allowance which he gave her to run the apartment by doing work for the woman's exchange. The extra luxuries for the table she bought from that slender payment. She made her own clothes. She went nowhere. She never asked for anything, not even consideration. She was a good wife to a poor man, though the world would have called her the mistress of a millionaire.

He kept her in that position so that he could have one honest relationship in his life, untrammeled by money, but he never gave her even the satisfaction of letting her know his reason for his niggardliness. He loved his wife and his children, but when he came to die it was not of them that he murmured, but of Ray.

There are moments when Ray is alone after his death that tear your heart to shreds. Miss Hurst has reached in the last half of "Back Street" heights of real emotion which make the synthetic emotions of much of her writing pale into insignificance. There is real drama in "Back Street," not the melodrame of the usual story of the "kept" woman.

"Back Street" is the record of one human being's complete gift of herself to another person, a life of understanding devotion and how that life was taken—as too complete devotion always is—with casual acceptance. And therein lies deep tragedy.

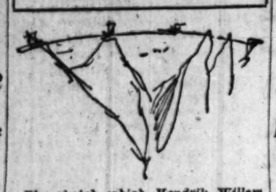

"Back Street" is not a tragic book in the sense that it is a sad one. Part of it is gay, most of it is "happy," and only when the book and life in it are ended does the whole wasteful selfishness of the hero, the complete unappreciated selflessness of the heroine strike you with stunning tragedy. That is Miss Hurst's art—that she makes the reader feel that Ray's love did illumine her life so completely shorn of all else.

There are times during the early part of the book when Miss Hurst indulges in some of her lush sentimentality, and the reader has a feeling that the characters and situations are "made up." But only at first. They settle down into the starkest reality.

"Back Street" is unquestionably Fannie Hurst's magnum opus. In it are refined her sometimes crude sense of melodrama, her oversentimentalized situations. Even her style has suffered a sea change. It is richer in exactness, in reality, in at times a kind of stark beauty of precision. It has lost the incoherence of much of her earlier work.

"Back Street" is a popular novel in the exact sense of the word. But it also has a classic quality about it. It gives a reader something of the same sense of power and beauty that "Jennie Gerhardt" had. And "Jennie Gerhardt," my friends, is the book which, in the minds of some critics, will perpetuate the name of Theodore Dreiser when "The American Tragedy" is remembered only because it filled two volumes.

New Geography

The sketch which Hendrik Willem Van Loon made to show Miss Butcher how he was going to illustrate the three dimensional geography which he is writing. The mountain peaks are the bed of the ocean rising to land as America and Europe at the left and the right and as the Azores and the Grand Banks between.

Personal and Private

HENDRIK WILLEM VAN LOON has been in town for a few days. We were having tea at the Arts club and I inadvertently called one of the Zadkine birds a penguin. Thereupon out came Mr. Van Loon's iminutive fountain pen and he shamed my ignorance by drawing me a gentleman with flappers in the front instead of behind. Mr. Van Loon is always drawing pictures (as you delightfully know from "The Story of Mankind" and "Rembrandt" and all the others).

While the pen still was unfurled, he illustrated for me what his next book is going to be. It is a three dimensional geography for "children" of the same age as "The Story of Mankind" was for. That meant you and me and you and you. He is going to write about countries not only on their surfaces but every which way. The sketch he made for me on the back of the Zadkine catalog (reproduced on this page) showed America and Europe, at either side, a fishing boat off Newfoundland, a steamer in midocean, the Azores sticking their heads above the sea and, below, the contour of the ocean bed. Exciting idea that, seeing land as a whole. The geodetic survey maps slightly terrify the uninitiated. Mr. Van Loon's will intrigue them.

After that book is finished he is going to write another "Rembrandt." That is, he is going to do the history of the French revolution in the vivid, intimate manner in which he did Rembrandt, inventing a contemporary as a character, as he invented a great-grandfather of his own to tell the story of "Rembrandt." It is a technique which gives the utmost reality to the past, and, in the hands of a scholar such as Mr. Van Loon is, a brilliant effect. After that he will write the history of a family like his own in Holland, sixty generations of them, beginning with about the time of Christ and ending with today. "The Dutch were always wanderers over the earth," he said, "and I will have a chance to take in a good part of the world."

Mr. Van Loon is, compared to other men, as tall as the Tribune Tower, but not so thin. Not quite the Merchandise Mart architecturally, he is well rounded—a Gibraltar-looking person. He has a flash of humor—always good—in everything he says and a certain frankness that foreigners have in a foreign language. He still speaks with a slight accent, although he studied at Harvard and has a degree from Cornell. He writes in English and without any slight trace of accent. F. B.

Komroff Offers His Version of Two Crucified

Regards Christ's Neighbors in Death as Rebels.

BY ALTA MAY COLEMAN.

NEW YORK.—[Special correspondence.]—The writing of books seems to be conducive to travel. So the whereabouts of authors furnishes a forecast of the literary future. Manuel Komroff, who lives in New York and its summer time suburb, Connecticut, is soon to sail for Europe. This means the author of "Coronet" has completed the manuscript and edited the proofs of his new novel, "Two Thieves." It will be in the bookshops Jan. 29.

The story concerns the two crucified on either side of Christ at Calvary. "Racketeers," they were characterized by Silas Bent, who told us he had the luck of reading the story in proof. "One was a young Jew; the other an old Arab. Both went to the cross for the same offense. Their racket was ousting the Romans from Judea, and their lives were filled with deeds of cunning, trickery and daring. The story," Mr. Bent assured us, "has a galloping intensity of plot, and sweeps to a powerful emotional climax. 'Two Thieves,' to borrow a sports phrase, is a long forward pass from 'Coronet.'"

Mr. Bent had not yet written "Ballyhoo" or "Machine Made Man," was then on the staff of the New York Times, when his interest in some water colors at a Greenwich Village exhibition led to his acquaintance with the artist Komroff. "At that time Manuel's mother thought," Mr. Bent says, "he was going to be a civil engineer, and Manuel thought he was going to be a painter. He studied, you know, for a time with Robert Henri. But all of us who heard him tell stories of his visits to Russia and China kept urging him to write. In this new novel he shows that he is not only richly imaginative but capable of restraint, editorial judgment and rare verbal power."

Fannie Hurst, another New York resident, went holidaying in Cuba a fortnight ago. Her new novel, "Back Street," is out today. In addition to the usual tasks devolving on an author in seeing a book through the press, Miss Hurst numbered and autographed a limited edition of two hundred and fifty copies.

Mignon Eberhart, that slender blue eyed young lady who carried off a five thousand dollar prize last year with her detective story, "While the Patient Slept," brought the manuscript of her latest thriller to New York last week. Then took to her bed with flu and a nurse. She was about to blame her misfortune on our weather. Then she received word from Chicago that her husband had flu and two nurses. Mrs. Eberhart's first novel, "The Patient in Room Eighteen," has been dramatized and is to be staged in London this spring.

Ray Long is back from Russia. There he has been author hunting. He looked over forty or more and captured the Russian best seller, Boris Pilnyak. Pilnyak's novel, "The Volga Flows Into the Caspian Sea," is even now being translated into English and will be published by the Cosmopolitan Book corporation.

SCOTTISH NOVELIST GETS A HAND IN LONDON BOOK MART

BY FRANK SWINNERTON.

LONDON.—[Special Correspondence.]—The January choice of the Book society is a new Scottish novel, "Morning Tide," by Neil Gunn.

N. M. GUNN.

The author is described to me as the most interesting writer at present discernible in Scotland; and there can be no doubt that the publicity which this book will have as the result of its choice will do much to encourage other Scottish writers.

It is a remarkable fact that there should be so little modern Scots literature. At the beginning of the century, the case was otherwise, with Sir James Barrie, S. R. Crockett, Neil Munro, "Ian Maclaren," and several more who followed upon the heels of R. L. Stevenson. But latterly Miss Maude Little, who is also known as "Herbert Tremayne," and George Blake have been the outstanding figures. Curiously enough, Mr. Blake, now spending his first winter in the United States, as the guest of Hulbert Footner, is in part responsible for the publication of "Morning Tide," for Mr. Blake is one of the promoters of the Porpoise Press, the publishers of this book. Its motto is "Every Year a Leap Year" and its faith "Yet we doubt not through the ages one increasing porpoise runs."

This reminds me that another fish series to make its appearance is the one known as "The Dolphin Books." This is issued here by Messrs. Chatto & Windus, and begins with an essay by Aldous Huxley on "Vulgarity in Literature," a story by Mr. R. H. Mottram called "The New Providence," and a translation of the "Alcestis" of Euripides by Mr. Richard Aldington.

All three are to be had in limited editions, signed by the authors; but the ordiary editions are charming little books which should be prized. Other volumes are to follow, the work of Lytton Strachey, David Garnett, T. F. Powys, etc.

There is to be a collected edition of the works of Desmond MacCarthy, the radio critic of literature in London. Mr. MacCarthy first became known to ordinary readers a good many years ago, when he published a commentary on the productions of the Court theater, London [where the plays of Mr. Bernard Shaw had their perfect production early in the century under the direction of Harley Granville-Barker]; but he was afterwards literary editor of "The New Statesman," is now chief literary critic of "The Sunday Times," and editor of "Life and Letters." The bulk of his work has been critical, but not all of it; and his weekly lectures over the radio are models of what such things should be. He is also famed as a talker, having a mind richly stored with all sorts of out of the way knowledge and an inexhaustible interest in the affairs of the world. He is not a gossip, but a serious student of literature and of literary men.

Channon Tells Many Truths in His Book

Thus Making Up for Lack of Structure.

"Paradise City," by Henry Channon [Dutton].

"Paradise City" is the record of the lives of a group of people who were born in a small Wisconsin town (obviously Oconomowoc) and what life did to them. It consists of six parts, a sketch of early days in which are described the roots of the principal characters who appear in the subsequent five parts; each part traces separately the course of those characters. It is not a novel in any possible interpretation of the word. Neither is it a group of short stories in any ordinary sense.

It is written with neither style nor beauty. In other words, it has no structure, no style, not even an underlying motive or a theme. And yet with all of its faults there is something strangely impressive about "Paradise City" which is at first impossible to analyze. Then quite suddenly you realize what it is that has kept your interest through one of the least coherent and cohesive books you can ever remember.

Henry Channon has a remarkable sense of observation. He has, for any age, and certainly for his youth, a wisdom about life that has nothing whatever to do with literature. "Paradise City" is filled with statements about the relationships of man to man (and to woman) which are profound. That they are stated without literary beauty does not in any sense lessen their truth. "Paradise City" is like a novelized Maxims of La Rochefoucauld or the Sayings of Marcus Aurelius.

The story—or stories—do little more than hold together the observations. The cement of the plot and style are negligible. The bricks of the comments on life are astonishingly solid. There is something amazingly right about his observations of human relationships, and that despite the fact that his characters do not live, do not touch you in any way, do not, as characters in a novel should, grow before your eyes.

The publisher has chosen "Paradise City" as his "book of the month" for January, which means that the house considers the book its most important work of fiction for the month. F. B.

AMONG THE NEW BOOKS

BY THE LITERARY EDITOR.

FICTION.

The Last Days of Shylock, by Ludwig Lewisohn [Harper's], tells of the tragic—but courageous—last days of the Merchant of Venice.

Sunrise of the Menominees, by Phoebe Jewell Nichols [Stratford], is a romance of the Indians of present-day Wisconsin.

Naked on Roller Skates, by Maxwell Bodenheim [Liveright], is a love story about two people who thought they were more in love with adventure than with each other.

Stormy Fires, by Florence Ward [Macrae Smith], is a problem novel—in marriage, not out of it, by the talented author of "Spread Circles."

No Goodness in the Worm, by Gay Taylor [Harcourt Brace], is a fictional picture of three women friends who are "modern" in their different independences.

MYSTERY.

Dead Man's Secret, by Mary Plum [Harper's], isn't disclosed even when three people in turn confess to a murder. This a sealed mystery. That means that if you can resist the temptation to break the seal over the last 100 pages or so you can have your money back.

The Black Ghost, by J. M. Walsh Brewer & Warren], is about the terror—or at least a terror—of Scotland Yard.

The Back Seat Murder, by Herman Landon [Liveright], is about the mysterious death of a financier alone in the back seat of his own car.

POETRY.

Ballads and Poems, 1915-1930, by Stephen Vincent Benet [Doubleday-Doran], corrals the best of the lyrics of one of America's most potent poets, the author of "John Brown's Body."

Hard Lines, by Ogden Nash [Simon & Schuster], is a dashing, alluring volume of utterly utter verse.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

Johnny Appleseed, by Henry A. Pershing [Shenandoah], is the first complete biography of the strange wanderer whose mission in life was to fill the west with apple trees.

ABOUT PLACES.

Africa View, by Julian Huxley [Harper's], is a scientist's impressions of the myriad activities of man, beast and insect in the dark continent.

Spain, by Catherine Moran [Stratford], outlines the history of Spain and contains material from the original Madrid documents. There is an introduction by G. K. Chesterton.

NONFICTION.

Amber to Amperes, by Ernest Greenwood [Harpers], is a social-economic history of electricity through thirty-five centuries.

Archaeological Explorations in Peru [Part II., the Northern Coast], by A. L. Kroeber, is the latest publication of the Field Museum of Natural History.

Marguerite Kirmse's Dogs [Derrydale Press] is a collection of reproductions of her popular dog etchings, in a limited edition with a special signed plate as a frontispiece.

The Dynamic Universe, by James Mackaye [Scribner's], is a modern philosophical conception of the universe we live in.

The American Flag, by Robert Phillips [Stratford], answers all those questions about the history and use of the national standard.

The American Language, by H. L. Mencken [Knopf], is a new edition, revised and enlarged, of the standard work upon that subject by America's outstanding essayist.

Breadlines Forever?

"This book is a tonic for days when defeatism is popular," says William Feather in Nation's Business. "Very stimulating," says H.G. Wells—"Vital ... tremendously interesting," says William Allen White. Recommended to you by H. Gordon Selfridge, Edward N. Hurley, George T. Roberts and many others. 3rd large printing. $2.50 Doubleday, Doran

ITALY DENOUNCES BRIAND PLAN FOR U. S. OF EUROPE

Says All Nations Must Disarm First.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Jan. 16.—Persistent rumors that the Franco-Italian naval deadlock had been compromised, with Paris granting the Fascists a loan of $150,000,000 in return for Premier Mussolini's pledge to drop his claim for parity with the French navy, seemed to collapse today when the Italian foreign minister, Dino Grandi, attacked Aristide Briand's project for a United States of Europe.

Il duce spokesman openly championed Germany's cause by insisting that the league of nation members must execute their pledges to disarm, as the covenant provides, before it is possible to make any progress in European coördination. He further endorsed the German claim by demanding that all foreign powers participate in the Briand scheme on a footing of absolute equality.

Wants Russia in Scheme.

Sig. Grandi asserted it was futile to attempt to establish European collaboration without inviting Russia and Turkey to take part. Speaking in Italian, he warned that unless all European nations participate the result would be another division of the powers into two hostile camps.

M. Briand, as father of the scheme, presided and delivered the opening address to the delegates of twenty-six other nations, who included twenty-two foreign ministers and five premiers, gathered to consider the possibility of forming a united Europe.

"Millions of people are awaiting a plan of action leading to European coördination," declared the grizzled French statesman. "It is a work for all who desire peace in Europe, and it is a guarantee against dissociation which may lead to chaos, anarchy and war."

Germany Demands Equality.

Dr. Julius Curtius, speaking for Germany, followed. He emphasized Germany's right to treatment on a basis of equality, and demanded that Russia and Turkey also be included in the deliberations.

"We desire a policy of peace and cooperation," he said. "The economic depression has been particularly felt in Germany, where 4,300,000 are unemployed."

He also issued a warning over reparations payments under the Young plan.

"With a woeful lack of capital, there is an enormous outflow of capital from Germany without equivalent return," he declared.

Grandi Turns Loose His Guns.

Sig. Grandi then followed.

"Italy is always ready to coöperate for peace and reconstruction," he said. "Any effort to set up an economic union should secure the coöperation of all states of Europe, otherwise we might have France and Germany surrounded by a constellation of minor states in one group, and outsiders forming another group. That would be moving not toward union, but to a division of Europe into two different camps.

"The league of nations desires all European states, not only members, to join. We do not know what the reply of Turkey and the soviet would be to an invitation to participate here, but if the preliminary work continues without inviting them, you are creating an unfavorable atmosphere for coöperation.

Wants Everybody Equal.

"Italy believes that in a European union all states should be on an equal footing, with entire political and legal equality. As a preliminary all states should fulfill the obligations placed on them by the covenant on disarmament."

In view of Sig. Grandi's unexpected attack, M. Briand named a subcommittee to meet in private this afternoon to decide the agenda of the conference. This committee was unable to reach any agreement during an hour of conversation with Dino Grandi, who held out for the necessity of summoning Moscow and Ankara to send delegates and insisted that real disarmament must precede any plan for an honest economic collaboration of the continental powers.

In view of the impossibility of winning over the Fascist delegate, another secret session was fixed for tomorrow morning, when an attempt will be made to conciliate the viewpoints.

NEW PLOT BREWS IN SPAIN; AIMED TO PROTECT KING

Ask Premier to Allow Dictatorship.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Jan. 16.—A new and serious menace of revolt now darkens the already ominous political horizon in Spain. This latest threat takes the shape of a military conspiracy to implant a stiffnecked dictatorship to protect the crown, whose position each day becomes less secure.

The heads of the movement are Gen. Saro, who was a member of the late Primo de Rivera's original dictatorship committee, and Gen. Milan Astray, one-eyed and one-armed chief of the Spanish foreign legion, which the king summoned to his rescue in the December revolt, and a handful of grandees, numbering at least one duke.

Their plan is to spring a coup d'état comparable with the one effected by Prime de Rivera in 1923, which was also intended to save the king in a difficult moment. The new dictatorship would replace the so-called "transition government" of Gen. Damaso Berenguer, which is pledged to elections in March, and quell with a mailed fist all the republican "nonsense" now prevalent in Spain.

Sound Out Berenguer.

High officers, representing the garrisons involved, met secretly in Madrid today to hear the report of a general, whose name they were not in a position to give, but who called on Premier Berenguer to sound him out regarding the project.

This emissary's argument was that it is now manifestly impossible for elections to be held as planned by the government and that to lift the martial law on Feb. 8, as announced, would be the signal for new outbreaks.

To everybody's knowledge a revolution is threatened and imminent from two points—from the republicans, who, in and out of jail, are combined with the army elements and the Socialists, who did not get going in the December revolt, and from the adherents of the plan for a constituent assembly, headed by Sanchez Guerra and Gen. Goden, assistant minister of war.

Premier Fights Scheme.

Both are definite threats, taking more tangible form daily as the king continues to give evidence of wanting to force "old style elections."

Regarding the new dictatorship threat Premier Berenguer, who took public cognizance of it tonight, said:

"I am here to prevent just that sort of thing."

He mentioned, too, the flood of secretly printed republican propaganda and said that as long as the king's enemies are blowing off steam in this way it is presumed that they were not saving it up for a new revolt.

That the king is perfectly aware of a plot to "protect" him is certain, but that he approves is not so certain.

Army Split Three Ways.

Today the army is split in at least three ways, and a "pronunciamento" in a grand manner by Saro and his crowd would be almost sure to meet bloody resistance. It is declared to be obvious that, if the king feels that such a movement would be his only chance, Gen. Berenguer's veto would count for little.

A call for all intellectuals of Spain to band together in a nonpartisan movement to be dedicated "to the service of the republic" was issued tonight by a group of Spain's foremost intellectuals.

"Old Spain has reached its final stage in decomposition and is in danger not so much from without as by a collapse from its own rottenness from within," said a manifesto signed by Dr. Rigorio Maranon, former royal physician and an acknowledged leader of the country's politically inclined intellectuals, and José y Gasset, an internationally known philosopher and publicist.

"Spain, burdened with a dead political constitution and government parasites, must get in step with the modern world. The way to do it is to supplant the old order with a system whereby the nation will find its expression."

Kills Self in Basement of Sweetheart's Home

Crawling through a window into the basement of the home of his sweetheart, Miss Mildred Mulholland, 18 years old, at 6139 Aberdeen street, yesterday, Le Roy Weitzel, 20 years old, 1036 West 63d street, pinned a note to his coat lapel and shot himself to death. The note said: "I cannot stand this any longer." Weitzel's family could offer no motive for his suicide, nor could Miss Mulholland.

THE MARYLAND SYSTEM.

Gov. Ritchie's inaugural address, the fourth he has delivered, is a state paper which was directed as much to the American people as to his fellow citizens of the Free State. Gov. Ritchie has made a clear statement of his political faith, and in his case the statement is something more than lip service to a traditional ideal. It is the working philosophy of a public official who, through three administrations, has adhered to his declarations.

The governor, like many others, has observed recent trends in Washington with dismay. He finds the federal government encroaching on the liberties of the citizen and upon the prerogatives of the states. He abhors the multiplication of federal bureaus and commissions engaged in competition with private industry in the performance of services which should lie in the field of private initiative. He emphasized the government's pernicious activities in shipbuilding, aviation, and warehousing, the matters which are perhaps of most direct concern to his constituents in Maryland. He could not properly omit from the list the latest and most dangerous of the government's experiments, that in speculation in wheat and cotton with little or no benefit to the farmers and great injury to the taxpayers; and he might have mentioned, as well, the proposals to put the federal government into the business of making and selling electric power.

Gov. Ritchie was particularly incensed at what might be called the nursemaid theory of federal government, "the conception that law is no longer a barrier protecting the rights of the individual against any who would invade them, but that it is a scheme of social control to regulate human conduct and relations and to secure the moral well-being of the individual by forcing upon all the people the social precepts and ideas of some of them." This "strange doctrine," he said, has encouraged organized minorities to descend on Washington with appeals for all sorts of causes directed against individual freedom, but to be financed by the federal treasury.

In Gov. Ritchie's mind prohibition is not a thing apart; it is merely an outstanding example of a drift away from the best American tradition and a proof of the soundness of the tradition. The evil results of prohibition he regards as the predictable results of all ventures of the sort. Federal enactments intended to work a miraculous change in the habits and morals of a nation of 120,000,000 individuals are doomed to fail. In the case of prohibition the end products have been "injury to the cause of reasoned temperance, the unhappy temptations to the youth of the land and the lawlessness and disregard for law which have resulted from putting prohibition in the constitution, where it ought not to be, instead of leaving the question to the states, where it ought to be."

The current conception in Washington of the rôle of the federal government has proved itself worse than mistaken at another point: the government's dealing with the economic depression. The government has stepped in too often where it had better stayed out and "the government itself has helped to create the present crisis. There have been too many experts and advisory commissions. There have been too many noble experiments. There has been too much interference, regulation, and supervision in realms where the proper forces, if left to work, could have worked to a better end."

One expedient that the government might have adopted for relieving the business depression, in Gov. Ritchie's view, is reduction, if not cancellation, of the debts owed by the allies. He thinks that this measure would hasten a world-wide economic rehabilitation and would therefore prove of great benefit to this country. Mr. Ritchie might well give the matter further study. There is small reason to believe that the depression in Europe was caused by the debts or that forgiving the debts would hasten the return of good times. There is little question, on the contrary, that cancellation would add to the immediate burdens of the American taxpayer even as it would enhance the value of foreign bonds in the vaults of New York financiers whose advocacy of cancellation may well be colored by their interest.

Aside from this point, the speech forms an admirable guide to American statesmanship in this generation. The nation is, indeed, in need of a return to "the Maryland system of government," whose traditions are "toleration in all things and to all people; ordered liberty for the individual and the right to follow his own pursuits in his own way so long as he does not interfere with the like rights of others or the recognized sanctions of society; and a self-governing state, free to settle its local problems in conformity with the needs of its people, who should be unhampered by an excess of government from within and by undue federal supervision or interference from without."

MR. SMITH AND MR. LUCAS.

Mr. Lucas, executive director of the Republican national committee, seems to be a ball of fire. It is not quite clear whether he has reopened the 1928 campaign or started the one of 1932, whether he's at the one still or the other already; possibly both.

Al Smith, for himself and John Raskob, asks the Republican committee to apologize for permitting Lucas to send a barroom cartoon into Nebraska implying that the Smith-Raskob idea of heaven was a glass of beer. The cartoon was to suggest to dry Republican Nebraska the peculiarity of its dry Republican senator, Mr. Norris, in supporting the wet Democratic candidate for President, Mr. Smith. Mr. Lucas says he will apologize to Mr. Smith if Mr. Smith will announce that he has been and is in favor of prohibition. It is understood that is not the case.

What Mr. Lucas evidently does not use in his campaign endeavors is finesse. He may have been partly under cover in his fight on Mr. Norris, but no covers would stay on such vivacity. Mr. Smith is probably just as good a dry as Mr. Norris is a Republican, and if the Nebraskans wanted such a Republican as Mr. Norris there would be no reason for supposing that they would not be satisfied with such a dry as Mr. Smith.

The times are such as to make many complications unavoidable. Ordinarily it has been regarded as fair enough to dispose of one campaign before taking on another. That cannot always be done as to expenses and bills, but it can as to candidates. However, this does not take account of Mr. Lucas. He is a perennial.

THE POLICE INQUIRY.

Chief Justice McGoorty and State's Attorney Swanson, addressing the finance committee of the county board, have stated the urgent reasons for the continuance of the special grand jury's inquiry into police administration, and their appeal unquestionably has the support of reputable public opinion.

As both officials pointed out the object of the inquiry is the discovery of the extent and nature of corrupting influences in the police service, it is of the utmost importance to the community that they be studied and disclosed. Inevitably this involves the enforcement of the dry laws as well as other laws, but no intelligent opponent of prohibition will wish the inquiry restricted or defeated on that account. On the contrary, it is the so-called wets who should most emphatically demand that the inquiry proceed without fear or favor, for there can be no reasonable doubt it will reveal the gravely mischievous element that the prohibitory laws have introduced into our crime situation. As a source of corruption nothing in our history is comparable to it.

But there are other sources of corruption in protected vice and in slum politics. The whole situation should be thoroughly examined. It will then be better understood and practical measures of correction may be devised and vigorously supported by the public and their dependable representatives.

THE ILLINOIS REPEAL.

The O'Grady bill introduced in the Illinois house of representatives for the repeal of the state prohibition law was advanced to second reading without reference to committee. Its proponents had the votes at hand to do that. There is nothing in the bill to require committee consideration. Its purpose is plain. It is to take the Illinois search and seizure act out of the state laws. The only purpose a committee could have with it would be to suppress it, and if its opponents can defeat it the place to do so is on the floor of the house with a roll call.

The repeal is supported by the resolutions of both the Republican and Democratic parties in the state and by the vote in the referendum to which it was submitted. It won in the popular vote by 1,060,004 yes to 523,130 no. The affirmative vote was the largest cast on any of the propositions submitted. It was larger than the total vote on the banking amendment and the revenue amendment which were to become laws if adopted.

So far as it is possible for a bill to have authority from the people the repeal bill has it, in the pledges of parties and in the votes of the citizens. It represents the predominant sentiment in the state, which is withdrawal of support from federal prohibition. It is one step in the political action to that end. It will not indicate what the Illinois solution of the liquor question would be with the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act out of the way. Repeal is merely the clearing of ground for subsequent action when that is made possible.

Just now the state cannot go beyond the repeal of its own act. If federal prohibition is brought to an end by the saner opinion of the people of the country Illinois will be hands free to take up the question of regulation as it should. If then state prohibition should represent the majority opinion of the state a proper law may be passed. If other forms of legislation are favored, as is now indicated, the way will be clear for the decision. The present law does not represent the sentiment of the state. Consequently it should be repealed.

The Other Side

THE RIGHTS OF TERRITORY.

[The Peoria Transcript.]

Limitation in both houses is the provision of the New York constitution where New York City with its five counties is limited to 23 of 51 senators and 62 of 150 house members. Philadelphia, third city of the country and birthplace of civil liberty in America, is also restricted in its representation at Harrisburg. In Pennsylvania no city or county is entitled to more than one-sixth of the whole number of senators, while in the house each county is entitled to one representative, regardless of population.

Gov. Emmerson is therefore exceedingly liberal with Cook county when he suggests restriction in one branch only of the general assembly. We can conceive of no greater disaster either to the state or Cook county than legislature domination by Chicago. Such domination would be in the teeth of all precedent and would be first regretted by Chicago itself. Nor do we believe there is any real opposition in Chicago to legislative limitation. The rejection of the proposed new constitution in 1922 was not due wholly or even chiefly to legislative restriction. It was due to the income tax scare. That was the history of the campaign.

Downstate should give Chicago the largest measure of local self-government consistent with the general welfare of the state. It has no yen for intermeddling in Chicago's domestic affairs. But it should not abandon its fight for limitation in at least one branch of the assembly.

JUST ENOUGH!

"You are charged, Samuel Johnson, with stealing five chickens, four ducks, two goats and a donkey; and you say you are not guilty?"

"Yas, judge."

"Perhaps you would like to employ counsel and defend the case. Have you any money?"

"No, judge."

"Have you any property on which you could raise money?"

"Yas, judge; I got five chickens, four ducks, two goats and a donkey."—Tid-Bits.

FLIES IN PANAMA.

I HAVE seen a fly in Panama. More than that, I saw the larva of another fly. Since the first was a common housefly and the second was the larva of a green fly, it is certain that there were two flies or more within striking distance. This being my third visit to the Canal Zone and my first sight of a specimen of this insect, the fly population can be accepted as being of negligible number.

What is of more consequence, I traveled this time to Antone, nearly one hundred miles from the Canal Zone, and saw almost no flies. We ate dinner at San Carlos, about sixty miles from Balboa, in the midst of a grazing country. There were considerable numbers of horses and cows on the pastures not far away. Dinner was served in a room that was without window sashes or doors, and there were no screens. There were no flies on the table and the sugar bowl was unmolested by them.

We have learned to take the Zone for granted. Of course it is flyless and mosquitoless. The zone is a military reservation in some parts and under centralized authority in other parts. The inhabitants are highly intelligent and with a well developed sanitary conscience. The best brains of the world have studied their health problems. Their health record is a stimulus to them in their effort to achieve if not perfection the nearest possible to it.

But we are surprised to find the native Panamanians living in small towns one hundred miles away from a fly nuisance. The influence of the Zone is radiating. Ten years after Havana had been made a spotless town, and no flies were to be found there, I had occasion to eat lunch in a small city not forty miles away. There were thousands of flies in the dining room. The Panamanians are doing better. But we wonder why the Panamanians have learned the art of fly control better than we have.

MOVING IN ONE'S SLEEP.

R. A. M. writes: I want a fight. You say people do not lie long in one position while asleep. I challenge the statement. I have chronic bronchitis and cannot sleep except in one position. If I roll, I cough and wake up. If I wiggle my toes or make faces, that wakes me. I get up at least twice each night. When I awake I am always in the same position. So I know you are wrong.

REPLY:

Both of us might be right at that—you, as to yourself, and I as to the balance of the world. There are certain sick people who can sleep in only one position. I presume you are one of that small group. But you may be wrong. You may wiggle all over the lot without knowing it. Maybe you can wake up in only one position.

CHILBLAIN SUFFERER.

Mrs. P. C. writes: My husband suffers terribly from chilblains. What causes this and what can be done for them? He can't be comfortable in the house where it is warm.

REPLY:

We recently had an article on chilblains in which was recommended bathing the feet, or other affected parts, in a paraffin solution heated to a certain degree.

Operative procedures are being investigated now.

WHY INDULGE IN BAD HABIT!

Miss H. H. writes: I have a bad habit of chewing the skin in my mouth. Can there be any serious results?

REPLY:

It is somewhat unsafe to irritate the membrane of the mouth. Why indulge in any bad habit?

INCOME TAX LAW.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My husband is 21, earns $35 a week and we have a baby 14 months old. Is he required to pay tax under the income tax law? We have no wish to be dodgers, but are not familiar with this matter. R. C. W.

Every individual having a net income for the taxable year of $1,500 or over, if single (even though he may be the head of a family), or if married and not living with husband or wife, must make a return. In the case of a married person, living with husband or wife, a return is required if the net income for the taxable year is $3,500 or over. However, if an individual has a gross income of $5,000 or over, he must make a return regardless of the amount of his net income. In the case of a husband and wife living together no return need be made unless their aggregate gross income for the taxable year is at least $5,000 or their aggregate net income is at least $3,500.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

CITIZENSHIP INFORMATION.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—[Friend of the People.] — 1. I was born in the United States. My parents are naturalized citizens. If I marry an alien woman who arrived in the United States two years ago, will I lose my citizenship? 2. Does she become an American citizen if she marries me? 3. If not, will she have to enter the country again as per the immigration laws? 4. If she visits her native country, will she be allowed to return to this country again as my wife?

C. T. H.

1. No.
2. No.
3. If she is legally in the United States she may be naturalized without a declaration of intention after she becomes the wife of a citizen and by proving one year's residence.
4. If she is legally in the United States and leaves, she may get a permit to reenter and may remain there not to exceed six months without affecting her right to apply for naturalization.

FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT,
District Director, U. S. Dept. of Labor.

WE STAND PAT.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Some time ago I noticed in your department, and in a similar service run by another paper, an answer that a bookkeeper's salary to the extent of $15 a week is exempt from garnishment if he is head of a family. I called the attention of the other paper to the contrary holding in Bureau vs. Dietrich, 322 Ill. App. 43, which ruled that the "wages" exemption applied only to manual labor. They are publishing a correction. R. C. R.

After the decision cited, the legislature amended the statute so as to make not merely "wages" but "wages or salary" exempt. Hence, our answer was correct under present law.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

TIGHTEN YOUR BELTS, BOYS, TIGHTEN YOUR BELTS!

And why, starving farmers in Arkansas and Kentucky and points west, likewise south and north and probably east, should the w. k. house of representatives at Washington give you fifteen million bucks for hot dogs, ham sandwiches, blankets, and oats and hay for your horses, cows, and mules when there's so many other things to attend to?

Lookit, farmers! The house has got to pass an appropriation of $750,000 for the George Rogers Clark memorial down at Vincennes, Ind., and $1,750,000 for our big World's Fair up here in Chicago. Tighten your belts and think of that. Also reflect that the house of representatives has got to let loose of $11,000,000 to enforce prohibition this coming year. Tighten your belt some more and reflect on the fact that congress is called on to cough up a million bucks to build an American embassy in Rome and $250,000 for purchasing likker for prohibition officers, and that likewise congress is busy debating whether or not the two middies who were fired for taking a couple of dames into the mess hall at the Naval Academy shall be given a pat on the back and a sweet kiss and taken back. And also there is a protracted debate going on in congress as to who won the war—the regular army, the national guard, or the national divisions. It's going to take quite a while to settle that.

So tighten your belts some more, farmers! Your house of representatives down in Washington has got a lot to think about and a lot of things to give money to before it gets around to your case.

INVITATION.

Won't you drop by some off-day afternoon,
I've found a way to fix an appetizer—
The kind that picks you up (and O so soon)
And lets you down much happier and wiser.

You'll find it fun to watch the lacy frost
That gathers quickly on the pewter shaker;
A sip, and when the first thin ice is crossed,
You'll feel yourself a rather fancy skater!

Then off to dine with zest that's gustatory,
A place where music plays, where you and I
Can air again our favorite story,
And thank the gods we still have stimuli!

OWEN PETERSON.

A PULASKI MEMORIAL postage stamp now bobs up on our letters. No, and no again! And more firmly! We shall not tell you, Laura, what a Pulaski is or was. You may guess mountain, river, president, wife of a president, civil war battlefield, Republican national committeeman—oh, anything you want to, but we won't tell; you look it up in the encyclopedia for yourself and then you'll remember. England has its little wars all over the globe so that its people may learn geography, and America is continually issuing new postage stamps so that its citizens may learn history.

NOW, THEN, STUDENTS IN ENGLISH B—GIT BIZZY!

We learn to speak good English from our cultured kings and queens of the talking cinema. We are assured of that fact by Deacon Bill Hays, the talkie magnates, various educational groups, and the kings and queens themselves. Let us now learn a little good English from Miss Clara Bow, one of the most eminent of our screen teachers: "I got feelin's. This court stuff makes me sick. Gimme a cigaret, somebody. This makes me feel like hell, honest. But what's a girl gonna do? Let a little blonde do her outta a lotta dough? Daisy was a swell kid. And then this happened. Say, you cudda knocked me down with a feather!"

Now, class, that's enough good English for today. You are dismissed. Or, perhaps, you will understand better if we say, gitthell outten here!

AN AMERICAN who edits a newspaper down in Havana has been ordered deported by the military government, and nary an American tourist bats an eye or sheds a tear. Yes, but wait until the iron-handed government deports Sloppy Joe! The American tourists will shriek to high heaven for the army, the navy, the marines, the Knights of Pythias, the Boy Scouts, the Ancient Order of Elks, and the Rotarian clubs to be mobilized and sent to the front at once.

JOSEPH W. TOLBERT, Republican national committeeman from South Carolina, shocked Washington terribly by appearing at a presidential reception without a necktie. Joe said he never wore one. But probably the reason Joe didn't wear one to Washington was because he was afraid some of those congressional slickers would steal his shirt. If a feller hasn't got a necktie on he's got a better chance to keep an eye on his shirt.

A SONG FOR WINTER.

The earth is bare of blossoms now,
But we can lift our eyes
To those eternal flowers that grow
High-planted in the skies;
To blooms of heaven's nurturing
Deep-rooted in the night
Whose petals of white fire drink
Exhaustless dews of light;
To fadeless clusters radiant
Through æons and unfurled;
To gardens where the soul may walk

LAGNIAPPE.

YESTERDAY the gangsters engaged in a machine gun battle right in broad daylight, and in one of Chicago's principal streets, and several innocent bystanders were hurt. Really, those gangsters are getting annoying. They should be more considerate; they really should. Boys, if you are not more careful we shall really complain of you to the police; we certainly will. A POOR COSTUME FOR A BEGGAR

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 17, 1915.

ROME.—Complete reports of the damage done by the earthquake in Italy show that the deaths will reach nearly 40,000. Flood and famine have added to the terrible disaster, which brought with it fire and pestilence. Many of the small villages that suffered from the initial quake are now flooded as the result of the overflowing of mountain creeks diverted from their regular courses by the earth disturbances. Snow is falling at many places in the department of Abruzzi, and the flakes spell death to many if the storm develops.

ROME.—A report has been received here that the Italian torpedo gunboat Coatit has been badly damaged while cruising in the Adriatic.

BERLIN. — The Turkish official statement issued in Constantinople announces that the French submarine Saphir, while trying to enter the Dardanelles, was sunk by Turkish artillery.

OTHER WAR NEWS.—The Ostend correspondent of the Amsterdam Tijd says that the Germans have evacuated all the coast towns and villages of Belgium as far north as Mariakerke, which is north of Nieuport, Westenda, and Middelkerke, and three miles southwest of Ostend. The Paris war office says: "In Belgium there was artillery fighting in the region of Nieuport and in the vicinity of Ypres. At Notre Dame de Lorette, near Carency, the Germans reoccupied a portion of the trenches they lost to us on Jan. 14." The Petrograd war office announces that the Russian armies are continuing their drive in northeast Prussia and against the southern frontier. The Russian and Austro-German armies are preparing for a great battle on the Hungarian plains.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 17, 1901.

INDIANAPOLIS.—James A. Mount, who retired as governor of Indiana on Jan. 14, was stricken with apoplexy in his apartments at the Denison hotel and died before medical assistance could reach him. He was born in Montgomery county, Ind., March 3, 1843, and was reared on a farm. He served in the civil war in the famous Wilder brigade. He was preparing his affairs to return to his home in Shannondale, Ind., when stricken.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Severe denunciation of the practice of hazing at West Point was uttered by United States senators, who declared hazing there could be stopped if army authorities desired. The denunciation came as a result of testimony in the investigation into the death of Cadet Boos now in progress at West Point.

SENATORIAL ELECTIONS.—In Montana, William A. Clark defeated Thomas H. Carter, Republican, with nine votes to spare; in Tennessee, the legislature elected E. W. Carmack, Democrat; B. R. Tillman was re-elected in South Carolina.

JOHANNESBURG.—It is stated that Gen. De Wet has crossed the Vaal river and joined the commands in the Transvaal. The report, if true, probably means the concentration of 7,000 Boers with several guns for another big attack.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 17, 1881.

WASHINGTON.—Clark E. Carr of Galesburg, Ill., is here on a tour of political observation.

WASHINGTON. — Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Miss Susan B. Anthony, Miss Phoebe Cousins, Mrs. May Wright Sewall, Miss Thompson, and other prominent woman suffrage leaderes are here to attend the woman suffrage convention next week.

WOLF POINT, Montana Terr.—Two white men who arrived here from the steamer Bachelor laid up near the mouth of Milk river report that Sitting Bull was encamped about twelve miles from the vessel. They say the wily Indian chief has ordered his men to reload their cartridge shells and prepare for war.

SAN FRANCISCO.—Tucson dispatches say that a stage from Mesilla to Fort Cummings was attacked by Indians. The bodies of the driver, three other men, and a woman were found mutilated and burned. Troops are in pursuit.

BERLIN.—Crown Prince Frederick William, speaking at the Institution of Invalids, decidedly condemned the anti-Jewish movement, and expressed the hope that it would soon die out.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full name and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

INDIVIDUALISM.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—Your editorial of Sunday on what you call communist government in Washington arrives at a rather doubtful conclusion by presenting only one side of the picture. It is true that in the early days when the economic unit was the family there was more individualism and less government interference. But it has been the growth of corporations in industry, transportation and public utilities—in other words, the growth of private initiative away from individualism—which has necessitated a concurrent development of governmental regulation.

You will recall that 150 years ago there were less than a dozen private business corporations in the United States, and of course our modern public utilities hadn't been invented.

Fifty story office buildings and urban districts with a polyglot population packed hundreds of thousands to the square mile present another group of problems which our individualistic forefathers were not required to solve.

You are right that our forefathers would not have adopted offhand the governmental regulation which we now have, but it is equally beyond imagination that after throwing off the yoke of George III. they would have accepted the dominance of Insull I. to the extent that Chicago has accepted it. It was nearly a century before the corporation became dominant in business or industry.

The remedies of 1780 are hardly adequate for all the problems of 1930.

T. J. MEAD.

MUD THROWING.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—Ald. Albert, running for the mayoralty, employs the same methods—namely: throwing mud at his opponents—as Deneen. Deneen accused Mayor Thompson of corrupt government. Would Deneen attend a gangster's funeral if he were for honest government? Deneen declared Mrs. McCormick owed her support to Mayor Thompson and the city hall machine. Perhaps Deneen's defeat resulted from erroneous charges made against candidates. In my opinion, a mud thrower is the guilty one.

M. A. T.

LYLE.

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 15.—Like many other people, I was taken in by the activities of Judge Lyle when he first started his drive against the hoodlum element of Chicago. I believed, at first, that he was moved by ideals of the highest nature, but it soon developed that his plan to rid Chicago of the gangster was secondary. First of all, he wanted to be retained in office, and on the horizon beyond that was the mayor's chair. In the first objective he was successful, as we all know, and time will tell about the other.

THE TRIBUNE has rightfully carried on its fight against Thompson and his various sideshow antics, but isn't it guilty now of fostering one of the biggest ballyhoos that has ever been organized to influence the voters of Chicago when it plays up the daily doings of Candidate Lyle? Respect for the high office of judge has been lost by many people as a result of this man's campaign to imprint himself upon the mind of the public as a great crusader. Perhaps he will again be successful, but one wonders in case of defeat whether or not he will continue his fight to free Chicago of the gangster. R. E. C.

PRO-MUSSOLINI.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—In reference to the letter of J. Eres of Jan. 15 regarding Mussolini, I wish to inform him that even though Il Duce is aspiring to be a second Napoleon, the rank and file of the Italian nation is well satisfied with his work.

I have nothing in commen with the Italian people, but I have lived in Rome under Giolitti, Luzzatti, Sonnino, Salandra, Orlando, Bonomi, Nitti and Facta, and conditions under these statesmiers were nothing short of disaster for the country, shameful and scandalous, to say nothing of the bankrupt finance Nitti left behind him.

Under Mussolini, land, formerly belonging to the idle rich, has been turned over to the peasants to work; many miles of highways built; schools increased a million per cent; aviation perfected to one of the best in Europe; the finance restored to stability, and in her foreign relations Mussolini restored his country to her rightful place among the great European powers. He has done away with beggars, has annihilated a Black Hand society that had terrorized the people for the last two hundred years, and placed his countrymen on a merit basis. What more could be expected of one man? Justice where justice is due, and I say, "More power to him."

E. D. PERIN.

ANOTHER.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—Mr. Vincent Tedeschi asks who is to be believed, Mr. Tito Schipa, the Italian tenor, who is proud of Mussolini and his accomplishments, or Prof. Rensi, Italian liberal philosopher, who was sentenced to fifteen years for stating that Mussolini is ruining Italy financially, politically and intellectually.

Of course more credence is to be given to the statement of Mr. Schipa, as Professor Rensi's statements were proven to be his own inventions to poison the minds of 42,000,000 Italian people.

JEROME LEVIN.

ELECTRICAL INSPECTION.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—The city hall has devised a new scheme to mulct the property owner. The scheme consists of a city electrical department, under the auspices of the chief electrical inspector, wasting taxpayers' money sending inspectors to inspect buildings for electrical "defects." Where usually there are no defects and where the electrical apparatus and wires in the building have operated a number of years without trouble, the inspector finds "defects." The result is a letter from the city—who demands certain changes or alterations—costing in some cases several hundred dollars, which up to that time were not necessary. If the work is not done in a few days another letter follows threatening to shut off the electric current in the building and a fine of $50.

H. J. MARSH.

THE BRITISH BREAKFAST.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—Your remarks on Stanley Baldwin's lust for life at breakfast were much appreciated. His diet is the more remarkable in view of the fact that all he has to look forward to when he wakes up is tea and a smoked herring. Do you wonder that the British are the greatest colonists the world has ever known? Who wouldn't want home to escape such breakfasts?

WARNS RULERS OF U. S. TO HEED VOICE OF PEOPLE

Huebsch Sees Crash if It Is Ignored.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

East St. Louis, Ill., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Failure of government to follow the people's mandate against prohibition and other sumptuary legislation breaking down fundamental principles of the constitution was set forth tonight by State Senator Arthur A. Huebsch of Brookfield as a matter of vital concern for business and industry.

Addressing the Illinois Manufacturers' association, Senator Huebsch declared that legislators and business men and labor must join to meet the problem of employment, and that the present assembly faces momentous issues.

"Your business is secure only as the government is secure," said Mr. Huebsch, dwelling on the popular vote for prohibition repeal. "The government is secure only so long as it expresses the popular will. No infringement upon the inalienable rights of a majority will long be tolerated."

Takes Up Economic Problems.

Taking up economic problems, Senator Huebsch remarked:

"The business man and the legislator each has a greater opportunity today than ever before in history.

"The American laborer demands work at a wage consistent with the American standard of living and of culture. If our mechanical genius has increased production beyond necessity of demand and our tariff wall with retaliatory measures by foreign governments is making us a self-contained and self-subsisting nation, the legislator and business man must join in nation-wide reduction of working hours and of increased pay or a system of state and national pensions for the unemployed may be an inevitable result.

Stick to Legitimate Duties.

"Our rulers will best promote the improvement of the people by strictly confining themselves to their own legitimate duties—by leaving capital to find its most lucrative course, commodities their fair price, industry and intelligence their natural reward, idleness and folly their natural punishment—by maintaining peace, by defending property, by diminishing the delay of law, and by observing strict economy in every department of the state.

"Let the government do this—the people will assuredly do the rest.

"Yes, the people will assuredly do the rest. But how? In this country through our capitalistic system if the business man recognizes his responsibility, and responds to it with promptness if he fails the legislator is the last resort. If both fail, then by force will changes come as in Russia, Germany, Portugal, and Italy.

Thwarting Popular Will?

"You say it was the governments in these countries, yes, but what was the government in each? A thwarting of the popular will, and the popular will seeks expression peacefully first, by force if necessary.

"The responsibility of the business man and of the legislator is alike. Their ideals must be the same. The business man, unmindful of his social and economic obligations, must be thwarted in the interests of the common good, and the legislator who is corrupt or incapable of good service must be driven from his post.

"Talk will not do so. It requires action in the rooms of the directorates of business, in the halls of the legislature, and at the ballot box. The business man must concern himself with his government not after elections, but before. The security of his post box is determined by his use of the ballot box."

Bill to Change Mayoral Election Date Introduced

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—A score of changes in the state election laws and the voting procedure followed in Cook country, are proposed in bills before the 57th general assembly. The senate elections committee has already been appointed; Speaker Shanahan will name the house group within the next three weeks, and both are already assured of considerable work.

Cook county members are the sponsors of much of this legislation. Senator James J. Barbour [Rep., Evanston] entered a bill in the senate to change the date of the Chicago mayoralty election to coincide with the aldermanic election as an economy measure.

Representative Henry Sonnenschein [Dem., Chicago] wants the primaries for general and senatorial elections moved closer to the election itself. An interim of more than six months between April and November now exists and Sonnenschein's bill would put the primaries in September, leaving only about two months for a campaign.

Michel Has Similar Bills.

Senator Victor P. Michel [Rep., Peoria] presented a more specific measure on this point, his bill making the date the Tuesday in September corresponding to the April date.

Mr. Sonnenschein also entered a bill to name Chicago municipal judges by party conventions, vacancies being filled in the same fashion.

Rep. C. D. Frans [Dem., Freeport] introduced a bill to simplify registration of families who move, and has another ready for introduction to allow registration of sick persons by requiring a representative of the election board to visit them at their homes or in hospitals. Some opposition to this is expected because of the extra force of election employes which would be needed to perform these duties.

Representative Mary Davidson [Dem., Carthage] also is reported to have a bill ready which would put the sick on the same basis as the absentee voter, with the same privileges.

Wants Polls Opened Later.

Another election measure is that sponsored by Representative Clinton Searle [Rep., Rock Island] who advocates opening of the downstate polling places at 8 a. m. instead of 7 a. m.

Mr. Searle also has a bill to require all candidates to file a certificate that they intend to make a race. This, if made law, would prevent a group filing an extra ticket without the knowledge and consent of the candidates, as is frequently done.

The party circle on the ballot would be abolished by the bills of Senator Arthur A. Huebsch [Rep., Brookfield] and Representative William G. Thon [Rep., Chicago]. The candidates' names would be rotated.

$10,000 GIVEN TO HELP FIGHT ON 1929 REALTY TAX

Opponents Seek to Force New Assessment.

Three hundred members of the Association of Real Estate Taxpayers subscribed approximately $10,000 at the Union League club last night to further finance their fight to knock out the 1929 tax assessment and eventually to shift the tax burden from real estate to other types of property.

The plan of the organization is to bring mandamus action against the state tax commission to force it to order a reassessment of personal property, to persuade taxpayers not to pay their bills, and to encourage protest suits in the county, state, and federal courts.

John M. Pratt, executive director of the association, whose membership, he estimates, represents $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 in equities of realty, told the meeting he believed its program would be successful in ninety days if sufficient funds could be raised among taxpayers. Approximately $30,000 had been subscribed by the group prior to last night.

The latest effort of the taxpayers' association was to petition the state tax commission to order the personal property reassessment on the ground that 12 billion dollars' worth of such property is escaping taxation. This move failed with the resignation of Chairman William H. Malone, who refused to bind his successors with such an order.

"The only way to bring this city out of the quagmire is to readjust taxation," Pratt declared last night. "Fifty-one million dollars in 1928 taxes is delinquent; 25,000 appeals are pending. Another 548 million dollar tax bill faces us in 1931. There will be more delinquencies and more hardships. The 1929 taxes must be canceled."

Mr. Pratt laid the blame for the tax situation chiefly upon the bankers, who, he charged, fear that failure to collect the 1929 taxes would jeopardize 300 million dollars' worth of tax warrants which they hold.

Mr. Pratt read a letter sent earlier in the day to Silas H. Strawn of the citizens' committee warning him that the 1929 tax on the basis of the present assessment cannot be collected and the only permanent relief for the financial distress of the local governmental agencies is its nullification, funding of the deficits through bond issues, revision of assessment machinery, and the provision of new sources of revenue on the basis of replacement taxes.

Others who took part in the meeting and indorsed the organization's program included James E. Bistor, treasurer of the group; Henry E. Hedberg, Jacob L. Kesner, and Attorney Barnet Hodes.

3D MAGISTRATE QUITS UNDER FIRE IN NEW YORK CITY

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Another city magistrate resigned today, making a total of three to quit since the Appellate division's inquiry into the city's lower courts got under way a few weeks ago. The new "victim" of the inquiry was Magistrate George W. Simpson, who telegraphed the mayor from his home at Asbury Park that he was ill and wanted to be relieved of his office immediately.

The mayor promptly accommodated him with an acceptance of the resignation.

Illness was also the excuse given by Magistrate Henry M. R. Goodman when he stepped out of the picture the other day rather than face the developments in the probe which has been turning up so much corruption in this branch of the city's judiciary. The other magistrate to quit since the inquiry got under way was Francis X. McQuade. Press of other business moved McQuade out.

As early as last March Magistrate Simpson's conduct on the bench was under fire from Norman Thomas, the Socialist party leader. He went before a county grand jury investigating the bail bonding and evils in the magistrate's courts and afterward showed a copy of the calendar from Simpson's court on which the names of prominent Tammany leaders had been written alongside the entries of various cases scheduled for hearings. Mr. Thomas claimed the names were in Simpson's writing. Among them were "McCooey," "Farley," "McManus," "Healey," and "Ahearn."

Chief of Communist Party in Philippines Dies in Crash

MANILA, Jan. 16. — (AP) — Antonio Ora, president of the communist party in the Philippines, was killed today in an automobile accident at Cabanatuan, Nueva Ecija province. Ora, with Juan Feico, vice president of the peasants' union, and others, was en route to San Leonardo, where they were to face trial on sedition charges.

SOUTH PARK HEAD TO STUDY TRAFFIC LIGHT PROPOSAL

Edward J. Kelly, president of the south park board, said yesterday that he plans to make a thorough study regarding the practicability of a proposed system of traffic control lights operating on Michigan avenue, between 22d and Oak streets, in place of the present system.

Various Chicago traffic experts have asserted that progressive lights would materially reduce the time required to run over Michigan avenue between 22d and Oak streets. In order to operate, such a system would have to have coördinated control over three intersections, which are as follows: Twenty-second street to Randolph street, south park board; Randolph street to the link bridge, the city; the link bridge to Oak street, Lincoln park board. The city and the Lincoln park board have favored the proposed system.

"Up to date I have not been confronted that a system of progressive lights would work for South Michigan avenue," Mr. Kelly said.

"In the meantime we are borrowing an idea to expedite traffic which has been successful in New York. We propose to cut off a portion of the sidewalks on both sides of Michigan avenue to permit traffic making right hand turns to enter the boulevard without waiting for the stop light."

RUSSIA SENDS 116 CASES OF GOLD TO GERMAN BANKS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Jan. 16.—In charge of three Russian chekists and twelve Russian railroad police, 116 cases of gold arrived at Riga last night.

This is the first shipment of gold to the city of Riga from Russia in two years, according to an official of a Riga bank. It consists of 8,000 kilograms of coin bullion and is consigned to Berlin banks, which have opened credits in Russia.

Officials supervising the transfer of the gold from the Russian car to the German car here claim they discovered half obliterated Rumanian markings under the royal coat of arms on each of the cases. They said they believed these cases contained a part of the Rumanian gold reserve, entrusted to Russian safekeeping during the war, and which was later confiscated by the soviets.

F. EDSON WHITE FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TODAY

Jury Returns Verdict of Accidental Death.

Funeral services for F. Edson White, president of Armour & Co., who fell to his death from his seventh floor apartment at 70 East Scott street on Thursday, will be held at 2:30 p. m. today at the Fourth Presbyterian church. Burial will be in Lake Forest cemetery.

The story of how Mr. White came to his death was told yesterday by business associates to a coroner's jury composed of the dead man's friends. The jury, meeting in the undertaking rooms at 200 East Erie street, returned a verdict of accidental death, attributing Mr. White's fall to an attack of vertigo.

Business Associates Testify.

Harvey C. Ellerd, director of personnel for the packing company, testified that Mr. White had fallen from the speakers' table at a banquet at the Armour plant on Wednesday night, and that his head had been injured. Philip L. Reed, treasurer of the company, who was the last to see Mr. White alive, told of the visit to Mr. White's room, where they had talked briefly of business and of Mr. White's health.

"The room was warm and Mr. White had just opened the French windows when I arrived," said Mr. Reed. "I called attention to the fact that he might be in a draft, but he said he just wanted a breath of fresh air. He was sitting on a window seat with his back to the open window when I left."

In reply to Coroner Bundesen's question as to Mr. White's mental condition, Mr. Reed replied that he had been "quite normal." He added that he was not despondent.

The members of the jury were: A. Watson Armour, Col. A. A. Sprague, Sewell L. Avery, Felix J. Streyckmans, Arthur Meeker, and B. A. Massee.

Pallbearers Are Named.

Dr. John Timothy Stone will conduct the funeral services today. The active pallbearers, all business associates of Mr. White, will be Henry W. Boyd, Fred W. Ellis, W. W. Shoemaker, H. S. Johnson, E. M. Clanahan, E. L. Lalumier, G. A. Eastwood, and E. S. Waterbury.

Among the honorary pallbearers will be A. Watson, Lester, and Laurance H. Armour, Sewell L. Avery, Charles F. Curtiss, William V. Kelley, Arthur Meeker, E. A. Cudahy Jr., Samuel Insull, James Simpson, Silas H. Strawn, W. Rufus Abbott, Hale Holden, George Woodruff, Robert P. Lamont, W. W. Atterbury, Frederick H. Rawson, Alfred Austrian, E. A. Find Bones of Tecumseh, Britain's Ally in 1812 War

SARNIA, Ont., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Discovery on Walpole island of what are believed to be the bones of Tecumseh, famous Indian chief and ally of the British forces in the war of 1812, was reported today by members of the Walpole Island Soldier's club. The find was made a week ago at the residence of Sarah White, 85 year old widow of a former chief, but the information was withheld pending partial authentication.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: A Woman's Intuition

WILL OF McRAE, RICH PUBLISHER, DECLARED VALID

Son Fails in Suit to Get Larger Share.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 16.—(AP)—A Circuit court jury late today held valid the will of the late Col. Milton A. McRae, millionaire publisher, thus ending trial of the suit brought by Lindsay McRae to break the testament. Judge Ormond F. Hunt had instructed the jury that he would set aside its verdict unless it upheld the will.

Lindsay McRae had attacked the will, under which he was to receive $500 a month, $150 of which was to go for the support of his daughter by an early marriage. He charged that his father's judgment was impaired when the will was drawn last June and that his two sisters and his father's secretary had prejudiced his father against him.

Two Daughters Testify.

Mrs. Marie Temple of London, Eng., and Mrs. Helen Henderson, Montclair, N. J., daughters of the elder McRae and principal beneficiaries from the $4,000,000 estate, had testified that their father had suffered embarrassment and worry because of their brother's actions.

Counsel for Lindsay McRae said they would take an appeal to Chancery.

As a result of the verdict, the will returns to Probate court.

Called Son "Failure."

Mrs. Temple, testifying today, told the court her father considered Lindsay "the one great failure in his life." She also said that just before her father underwent an operation last September, he told her and Mrs. Henderson, "You may have trouble with Lindsay. I want you girls to promise me you will not compromise. I have given him all I think he should have."

Lindsay McRae, now 42 years old, is advertising manager of a railroad man's publication in New Orleans.

Guns Not Within Reach; Two Freed in Court

Three men charged with carrying concealed weapons were freed yesterday in the Town Hall court because a bag of three revolvers found in their car was not within reach. The trio are: William Wauford, 1233 North La Salle street; William Carlo of the same address, and Joseph Partipilo, 4303 West Van Buren street. Wauford served time in the Pennsylvania prison and Carlo served a term in the Massachusetts penitentiary. Judge Leon Edelman said the revolvers could not be construed as concealed weapons.

HEART ATTACKS FATAL TO A. B. KUPPENHEIMER

Albert B. Kuppenheimer, Chicago clothing manufacturer, who retired several years ago, died yesterday afternoon at the Ambassador hotel, Los Angeles, after having been stricken with two heart attacks. He was 64 years old.

Mr. Kuppenheimer was born in Chicago, the son of Bernhard Kuppenheimer, founder of B. Kuppenheimer & Co. He attended the Chicago public schools and later Harvard, joining his father in business in 1898. He retired in 1922. He was a bachelor. His Chicago residence was the Drake hotel. Mr. Kuppenheimer was a Mason and a member of many clubs.

He is survived by a brother, Louis B. Kuppenheimer, who was with him at the time of his death. The body will be brought to Chicago for funeral services, which will be arranged later.

Dr. Cleminson Sued for $100,000 by Woman Patient

The praecipe of a new suit for $100,000 damages was filed by Mrs. Anne Hodgson, 3447 West 64th street, in the Superior court yesterday against Dr. Haldane Cleminson, 3201 West 63d street, who served nine years in the penitentiary for the murder of his wife in 1909. The suit charges the physician and surgeon with malpractice. A similar suit was filed by Mrs. Hodgson four months ago, but was dismissed. Dr. Cleminson was pardoned by Gov. Frank O. Lowden in June, 1919, after having been sentenced to life imprisonment for murder.

A. W. NOHE, 'FIRE ESCAPE GUS' OF ASSEMBLY, DEAD

Augustus W. Nohe who, under the sobriquet "Fire Escape Gus" Nohe, was to the Illinois general assembly of the last decade of the 19th century and the first decade of the 20th century what "Hot Stove Nate" Brenner and other picturesque individuals were to the old city council, died yesterday at his home, 1432 Jonquil terrace. Although he was 84 years old he was active until two months ago and he retained consciousness until the end.

Known to every politician of any consequence 30 years ago, at once the court jester for the leaders of the Lorimer machine of those days and the "horrible example" of the antimachinists and the Legislative Voters' league, Nohe had been almost forgotten for nearly 20 years. During that time he had been in many businesses.

Last Public Appearance.

His last public appearance was in 1917 when he was summoned during the investigation of the affairs of the defunct La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank, a Lorimer institution, to which he owed $5,500 which he promised to pay. At that time he explained to the master how he earned his sobriquet by introducing in the legislature a bill which greatly increased the number of fire escapes required on industrial establishments. He said he was criticized because he was in the fire escape business at the time that he introduced the bill.

Nohe was born in Germany and after holding many jobs of various kinds he came to Chicago. Shortly after his arrival in 1878 he was elected alderman of the old Tenth ward, then the Lorimer stronghold. He passed from the city council to the state legislature, serving several terms as the Lorimer representative from the 19th district.

Opposed by Reform Groups.

All this time he was bitterly opposed by reform organizations, and he would laughingly admit the charges against himself, considering them political capital. The story is told of how at the so-called Mueller bill session of the legislature, when Nohe was a member and was being accused at a hearing before a committee whose sessions were supposed to be secret, he kept a friendly reporter informed of every detail of the testimony against himself and others by means of a "grapevine" connection.

As a legislator he was noted for the introduction of bills aimed against big corporations, which never got out of committees. He retired from the legislature in 1905.

He amassed several fortunes, but in 1909 his brokerage operations crashed and since then he had been in only moderate circumstances.

Deaths of a Day

SIOUX CITY, Ia.—(AP)—David Davidson, 67, who rose from peddling dry goods to the presidency of the million dollar Davidson Brothers Department store, is dead.

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—Thomas Newton Rawlins, 72, former state treasurer of Delaware, died in his winter home.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—(AP)—Hollinshead N. Taylor, 54, widely known aviation enthusiast and chairman of the aviation committee of the Philadelphia chamber of commerce, died at his home in Bethayres.

MISSOULA, Mont.—(AP)—Frank D. [Sandbar] Brown, Montana pioneer, died. Brown was 85. After serving with the confederate forces in the civil war, Brown went to Fort Benton, Mont., then head of navigation in Montana.

DOUGHBOY MEETS A GERMAN HE CAPTURED IN WAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAMBURG, Jan. 16.—A dramatic encounter between a former American doughboy and a German whom he took prisoner thirteen years ago, occurred here today.

Arthur Heink, son of the famous prima donna, Mme. Schumann-Heink, was fighting on the front in 1918 when a group of Germans was captured. One prisoner begged a cigaret. Heink gave him a cigar. The grateful prisoner insisted on giving Heink his gold watch.

Heink, now an officer on an American steamer, was strolling through the streets of Hamburg today. A stranger tapped him on the shoulder and asked: "How is my watch running?"

The American recognized the former prisoner and wished to return the watch, but his offer was declined. The two former enemies immediately began celebrating their reunion.

FEDERAL AGENTS' REPORT ON BREAD PRICE IS SECRET

Federal agents of the bureau of investigation, department of justice, submitted the findings of a secret investigation into the price of bread in Chicago to Washington authorities, it was disclosed yesterday, coincident with the demand of a bread inquiry by the United States senate.

Details of the report submitted by the Chicago federal authorities were kept secret and they refused to discuss the inquiry, but it was learned that officials of the American Bakers' association and of the Chicago Bakers' club have been questioned.

Senator Capper of Kansas was named chairman of a subcommittee to make a study of the prices of bread and sugar, and he announced that the work would get under way next week.

NEW QUAKES IN MEXICO; TRAIN TURNS TURTLE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 16.—As a result of Wednesday's earthquake all the railroads out of Oaxaca City are out of commission. The tracks are blocked in scores of places by fallen rocks and torn rails. On the Mexico City-Laredo section of the Mexican National railways the earthquake threw a long section out of place near Escobedo station, causing the wreck last night of a passenger train, which turned completely over. There were numerous deaths and several were wounded.

From Oaxaca come accounts of further earthquakes and the Mexico City observatory reports half a dozen more since last night with the epicenter somewhere in Guatemala.

News continues to come in of quake fatalities in more than a score of the more important towns in the state of Oaxaca, most of which are reported to be in ruins and suffering a high death toll. The most serious feature of the situation is the lack of an immediate food supply and starvation is threatening thousands of the Indians. Relief is being rushed from the capital.

G. E. Androvette Will Be Buried Today on Coast

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Funeral services will be conducted here tomorrow for George E. Androvette, retired manufacturer of Chicago and Alhambra, Cal. He founded the stained glass manufacturing firm of Androvette & Co., Chicago, and is survived by his widow, Mrs. Cora M. Androvette, and a daughter, Mrs. H. B. Matthews of Chicago. He was 84 years of age. Mr. Androvette was a descendant of French Huguenots.

GENTLE ROBBER IS TOO POLITE TO TAKE ANYTHING

A gentle voiced, well dressed robber was sought by the police last night as a rare specimen of his trade.

He entered the Bonnie Frock shop, 208 North Michigan avenue, yesterday, went through the formal gestures of a holdup, and departed bowing and scraping—empty handed. Directed by a clerk to the manager, Miss Kitty Dane, 6334 Kimbark avenue, the bandit shoved a pistol against her side and demanded the store money.

Miss Dane said there was none, but offered her purse, which he declined. As he left the gunman bowed low to Miss Jean Loft, 4815 North Fairfield avenue, a clerk.

French Line Theatre Hour
The Broadway Musical success "Meet My Sister" brought to you direct from the Shubert Theatre, New York, over "the longest gangplank in the world"

Now! a Lip Rouge That Lasts all Day!

Louis Philippe, temperamental French colourist, who has made make-up an art—and about whom all Paris is talking. Shown here with one of his famous clients, Betty Compton, of movie fame.

You use it on your cheeks, too—just a touch with the finger-tips—and thus have the color of your cheeks blend perfectly with the color of your lips.

A French Discovery that Takes the Bother Out of Make-up. No Caking, No Drying, No Unsightly "Lipstick Line"—You Make up But Twice a Day Instead of Every Hour!

A WAY has been found that not only gives a perfect lip make-up quicker and easier than any way known before, but that HOLDS perfectly all day long. Instead of making-up every hour, you make up only once or twice a day!

It's a French idea, of course. And in both France and America it is rapidly changing present ways of make-up.

The creation of Louis Philippe, temperamental colourist, whom all of Paris follows in the art of make-up, it banishes all smearing, all caking and drying and ends completely the unsightly "lipstick line" most women complain of a few minutes after making up.

WHAT IT IS

It is called Angelus Rouge Incarnat and comes as probably the nearest thing to a permanent make-up yet discovered. It is different from any American rouge you have ever seen, though its form is the same.

You can use it, too, on BOTH LIPS AND CHEEKS. And thus gain a color harmony that's amazing in contrast to using separate lipstick and rouge—both, invariably, of different color. (Note picture above.)

Thus you gain the PERFECT Parisian make-up of today. And—it lasts for hours.

No more annoyance of constant making up. No uneven make-up. No caking, no smearing—and so exquisitely smooth that you cannot even feel it.

COMES IN TWO FORMS

All department and drug stores have it now under the name of Angelus Rouge Incarnat in two forms: Ordinary lipstick form, and in the charming "Little Red Box." Most women prefer the box form. 9 different colors. Same price as American rouges.

SYNOPSIS.

Richard Chandos and his wife, Leonie, former grand duchess of Riechtenburg, are visited at their estate near Littai, in Austria, by George Hanbury, companion of Chandos in many adventures. Marya Salm, countess of Dresden, an expected guest, wires that she dare not come.

Prince Paul, ruler of Riechtenburg, had hoped to marry Leonie and swore revenge. Fearing for Marya's safety, because of her friendship for Leonie, Chandos and Hanbury, with their servants Bell and Rowley, go secretly to Vigil, capital city of Riechtenburg, where Marya resides. A peasant, named Ramon, whom they befriend, leads them through a secret passage.

Marya tells them that she sent no message. Realizing the telegram was a ruse to lure them to Vigil, they are preparing to flee with Marya, when the prince appears. They escape and reach the border, but find it so closely guarded that crossing is impossible.

Ramon is sought and he hides. Marya and Carol, her trusted servant, hide in a nearby village, while Chandos and Rowley join a traveling circus. Marya sends Carol to take them to Bariche, across the border, in a car which they recognize as Grieg's, the chief of police. Arrived at the inn in Bariche they receive a message from Marya, stating that she is to be pardoned, but she must remain in Riechtenburg and not communicate with them.

Knowing that Marya, endeavoring to save them, has made some impossible arrangement with Grieg, they return to the border. Hanbury and Rowley pass, but Chandos is captured. He proves to the inspector that Grieg has betrayed his trust. Grieg arrives and leaves with the prisoner for Vigil. Hanbury and Rowley, knowing their friend's plight, hold up and capture the chief's car. They drive to the estate of Baron Sabre where they find Marya. Grieg they left, tied to a post along the roadside.

Hanbury, who is in love with Marya, is stunned when she tells them that she was married that morning to Grieg—her price for their freedom. Chandos sets out to find Grieg and do away with him—but Grieg has escaped. Chandos returns to Baron Sabre's and overhears the prince who has arrived, arguing with Grieg. Grieg is forgiven when he tells the prince he has a trap set to catch his prey that evening at the secret border pass, as well as Leonie, who is to meet them there. Lelia, a young peasant girl, leads Chandos to a mill where his friends are hiding. Marya has disappeared and Chandos sends George and Rowley to follow her and he leaves for the border pass. Lelia, who has fallen in love with Chandos, at the risk of her life, finds him and tells him that Leonie has entered the country an hour before. Grieg traps them and fires at Chandos, but Lelia throws herself in front of him and receives the bullet. Chandos traps Grieg at the brink of a gorge and forces him to fall to his death below. Chandos then surrenders to the police and in their company sets out to return the body of Lelia to her home. En route they are seen by the local coroner who demands the girl's body for inquest. He hears Chandos' story and promises to see that he is brought back the next day to testify. While Chandos is being tried at Vigil before a special court, the coroner comes with summonses for Chandos and the grand duchess. He is told that the grand duchess has returned to Littai. Chandos is sent back to his cell, where the summons is served on him. He receives a visit from Sully, lord president of the council, who is devoted to Leonie, and has returned to the country at her request. The prince denies to Sully that Leonie is in Vigil, but Chandos is unconvinced. Sully makes a search of the prison. Leonie is found and released to her husband. The prince, knowing Chandos' testimony at the inquest will ruin him, accepts defeat and signs Chandos' lists of demands for his silence. Leonie and Chandos drive to Vardar for the inquest. The blame for the ill done is put on Grieg. They then leave for the Sabre estate, where they find George and Marya and go with them to Mme. Dresden's home.

INSTALLMENT XLVIII.
A RARE TRIBUTE.

George went on with his story: "All Grieg knew was that he had missed me and given himself away. I thought it unlikely that he would enter the house. He believed me to be in possession, and possession—complete with pistol—is more than nine points of the law. If he didn't enter the house, he couldn't ring up the police and tell them to pick him up. I found it extremely likely that he would withdraw. The neighborhood was unhealthy. He had lost you and Rowley, and now he had as good as lost me. What was more, by opening fire he had, so far as he knew, put all of us wise about him. His game was to walk to Vardar or some such place, take the rest he needed, and turn up at dusk at the bridle path. And that, I believe, is what he did. I never saw him again. What was so trying was that I never saw Marya.

"To do as I then tried to do needed at least six men—two to watch the house, two to scour the park, and a couple of connecting files. For two long hours I hovered between these duties like a lost soul; then I let the house go and started further afield.

"For all the good I did, I might have stayed where I was. I not only didn't find Marya, but I finished by losing myself. Talk about a dark night. . . . It was Rowley that found her, just as night was falling, utterly lost, of course, and only too ready and willing to do as he said. But as soon as he started to take her back to the mill he knew that in darkness like that he could never find the way; so he chanced his luck and took her into the house. He found some woman servant and made her get ready a bedroom and light a fire; and when he had seen Marya eat he sat down outside her door, pistol in hand. And I spent the night in the open, for the simple and excellent reason that I was in the open when night came down. . . .

"Well, Rowley saw me from a window at seven o'clock, and five minutes later I was in Marya's bedroom and being desired to go out. I consented—on one condition. That was that she was dressed in ten minutes' time.

"'What for?' says Marya.

"'Well,' said I, 'you can't cross the park like that.'

"'I'm not crossing the park,' says she. 'I'm staying here.'

"'We shall leave in ten minutes,' said I. 'Not ten and a half. Dress or not, as you please. But at least put on your slippers. Not that you weigh very much, but I'm rather frail this morning, and Rowley's tired.'

"Then I withdrew.

"I went to the chapel and found the register. One glance was more than enough. Marya's writing was that of a child of six, and the rite had been witnessed by Andrew, whose surname appeared to be Jove. I had meant to cut out the page, but I changed my mind, took the book to a fireplace, and burned it leaf by leaf. It was very thin, and the leather cover was limp and burned with the rest.

"I found Marya cold with rage, but I found her dressed, and half an hour later we were back at the mill.

"Well, there's nothing much more to tell. Marya was wild with me, but, now that I knew she was safe, I was wild with her. When she spoke of 'her husband,' I said that if you hadn't killed him I damned well would. And I told her I'd burned the book and was going to poison the priest. I told her that, thanks to her folly, you'd had to go out alone, and I asked her to try and guess why you hadn't come back. In a word, I was extremely brutal. And, such is woman, brutality had its reward. When it was evening again and I suggested that I should take her back to 'her husband's' house she burst into tears, said she was sure Grieg had killed you and added that, if he had, she'd kill him herself. Grieg's star had fairly set. The mill fairly reeked of murder. And if he'd looked in at that moment to ask the time I believe we should have fought for his body like so many beasts of prey. Thus was order restored. But when you didn't fetch up I was frightened to death. By this morning we'd given up hope: that you were either dead or under arrest was painfully clear. The only thing we could do was to try and get Marya out and then come back. The farmer's wife from whom I'd been drawing rations was getting inquisitive, and the mill as a residence left a great deal to be desired. I decided to move tonight. The bridle path, via Gola and Ramon, the smith. And then you blew in at sunset and called it off."

Lelia was buried at two o'clock the next day.

Two royal cars were berthed in the shade of the chestnuts without the old churchyard, and Leonie, Marya, and a sad faced lord-in-waiting stood by the open grave. And with them the Lord President of the Council of Riechtenburg. Though Lelia's uncle and two cousins were all her kin, the peasants came in for miles to honor their dead, and, when the service was done, Sully pronounced the oration with the silver tongue for which he was justly famed.

Lelia, it seemed, was well known in the countryside. The postman being infirm and the post in those parts being a casual business, she had often carried his letters, rain or shine; and though she seldom used villages other than her own, there was not a farm for miles round which was not familiar with her beauty and pleasant ways.

When all was over I followed the royal cars to Janes and there Leonie descended and all of us changed at an inn. There we bade good-by to Sully, who passed his word to visit Littai within the month; and then we drove to Gola, with the servants following after in George's car.

Ramon, the smith, was at work in the little forge, and Marya and I alighted to bring him out to the car.

When we said the Grand Duchess was come to thank him for what he had done the poor man was quite overwhelmed, but five minutes later Leonie and he were discussing the craft of shoeing as though he had been in her service a score of years. His wife being out, Leonie would not leave till she had come in, and whilst we were waiting the letter of indemnity arrived.

By the time we were ready to go all the village of Gola was standing without the forge, and, a second demonstration being more than I felt I could bear, I took my leave of Ramon and made my way out of the crowd and down the road. And there they took me up, a furlong away.

Then I took the wheel again, and we came into sight of Elsa at five o'clock.

The frontier post had clearly been told to expect us and ordered to speed our party upon its way, for the cars were not examined, but the guard was out and waiting to pay my wife the compliments due to her rank.

Slowly we passed the guardroom. Then I drove on to the bridge and into Austria.

Fifteen minutes later we sailed by "The Broken Egg."

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Two of the most important questions of this world are—"Is there life after death?" and "Can romance survive marriage?" "Illicit" considers the latter riddle.

It's always a pleasure to watch a smoothly acted and directed picture even though the subject matter IS hackneyed. So, I hold that time and money are well spent beholding lovely Barbara Stanwyck, busy as a beaver, trying to find happiness and freedom outside the established order of things, and James Rennie accompanying her experiences with an always melodious, if at times mutinous, guitar. [Of course, I do not really MEAN a guitar—as Charles Butterworth would say.]

Miss Stanwyck and Mr. Rennie make a fine team. Both are personable, intelligent and intuitive. The former you will remember as the glad surprise of "Ladies of Leisure"; the latter as Dorothy Gish's husband. They are fortunate in their supporting cast headed by Charles Butterworth. Mr. B. is seen as an amiable, perpetually inebriated playboy, also full to overflowing with the sort of bromidic quips and pranks that are so funny as delivered by him and would be excruciatingly the other thing coming from anybody else.

"Illicit" has been directed with shrewdness and humor. Sets, staging and costumes are rich and sophisticated. Lines snap across in great shape and the picture stops when it's through.

See you tomorrow.

Milk Is Made Basis of Cheap Diet, Expert Says

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(AP)—The low cost diet outlined in a food guide prepared for the President's emergency employment committee has milk as its foundation. Dr. Louise Stanley, chief of the bureau of home economics, said milk "excels almost all other foods in the variety and quality of materials that it furnishes the body and is suitable for persons of all ages." Canned unsweetened milk or powdered milk, Dr. Stanley said, could be substituted for the fresh product.

She recommended that relief organizations handle the product in bulk for their communities.

"If purchased in 200 pound barrels," Dr. Stanley said regarding powdered milk, "the cost is reduced to three cents a quart."

Designer of Woolworth Tower Says Skyscraper Is Temporary Building

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Cass Gilbert, designer twenty years ago of the Woolworth building, precursor of the skyscraper of today, received the gold medal of the Society of Arts and Sciences for that achievement at a dinner at the Astor tonight, and was hailed by many distinguished men as the prophet of a new and great movement in architecture.

In response Mr. Gilbert told how he had emphasized the vertical line in his structure—the first great American business building so to employ it—discussed the problems of skyscraper and city congestion, and declared that the most beautiful skyscraper possible has not yet been built.

"It may never be built," he conceded. "Those of us living today may never see it. And remote posterity may never see it, for the need may change and these temporary structures will not last indefinitely. But if the answer has been found in some measure in this work, we have met the challenge and pointed out one of the many ways in which Caliban may be exchanged for Ariel, in which ugliness may flower into beauty, we shall not have lived in vain."

Joan Crawford and Young Fairbanks Here; Leave

Joan Crawford and Douglas Fairbanks Jr. of Hollywood stepped from the Pennsylvania limited here yesterday.

Young Fairbanks spoke of his business in New York. There he had signed a new contract with First National, he said, to choose his own stories and directors.

From the station they went to the Blackstone hotel. There they met Leslie Howard. Howard is starring here in a stage play, "Berkeley Square," as well as with young Fairbanks in the movie, "Outward Bound."

They left for Hollywood on the Santa Fé Chief shortly before noon. They plan to "knock off work" in two or three months and go abroad for a vacation, they said.

Cat's Washing Its Face Aids University Museum

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Dr. Arthur Sterry Coggeshall, new curator of the Illinois State museum, today indicated the necessity of museums by showing members of the Mid-Day Luncheon club why a cat can wash its face and a dog can't.

"Museums," he told them, "are not a luxury." The cat can wash its face because it has a collar bone like a human being, he added. That and countless other bits of practical information about the world and its inhabitants is what the museum is good for.

Dr. Koling Yih, Chinese consul general at Chicago, also addressed the club.

Einstein Sees New Marvels of Electricity

Burning Wire Flashes Like Ray of Sun.

Pasadena, Cal., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Albert Einstein's lessons about the mystery of nature's secrets came thick and fast.

Today in the Mount Wilson laboratory of the Carnegie Institution of Washington here the German physicist was told of the production of the highest temperature a laboratory is said to have created, 36,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

John A. Andreson, astrophysicist, explained the experiment. A two-microfarad glass plate condenser is charged to 20,000 volts, furnishing a momentary current of about 20,000 amperes. The current is made to pass through a metal wire about the dimensions of a human hair.

The wire is vaporized, almost instantly emitting a brilliant flash of light and a noise like the explosion of a fulminate of mercury cap. The spectrum of such a flash was found to be quite different from that of an arc or spark leading to a key of nature's secrets.

"The arc and spark give a spectrum consisting of bright lines, while the explosion flash in this experiment shows a continuous spectrum crossed by a few dark lines, and hence resembles that of the sun," explained Dr. Anderson.

"Since the spectrum is continuous, it is possible to determine the temperature of the source by measuring the energy distribution, provided this distribution conforms to Planck's radiation law. The energy distribution of the spectrum was measured by a vacuum thermocouple and the results indicate a maximum temperature of about 20,000 degrees centigrade, or 36,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

"The total duration of such a flash or explosion is very short, seldom longer than a ten-thousandth of a second. In this short time it passes through all stages, from the very highest temperature and brightness at the beginning to a relatively low temperature and feeble luminosity at the end.

"Several methods for studying the successive stages in these explosions have been developed, but the difficulties encountered are considerable and much work remains to be done before a complete history of any one of them can be written."

Theater Guild Will Give Play, "Miracle at Verdun"

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—The Theater Guild announces that the German drama it recently acquired, "Miracle at Verdun," by Hans Chlumberg, will be presented in Chicago as part of its subscription season during the month of March. The playhouse for the engagement will be announced later; present plans favor the Blackstone.

"Miracle at Verdun" tells a fantastic story of the resurrection of the soldiers killed in the terrific fighting around Verdun. The play was staged in Leipzig a few months ago with great success. The author was injured in a fall from the stage during rehearsals and died on the night of the premiere. He said on his deathbed: "The ghosts of my soldiers are calling for me."

New York will not see "Miracle at Verdun" until next season.

Warner Bros. Claim Pacts with Two Paramount Stars

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Competition between the theater chains operated by Warner Brothers-First National and Paramount-Publix has invaded the production departments of the film companies and apparently signalized an open break.

J. L. Warner, production chief of Warner Brothers-First National, announced his company had signed Ruth Chatterton and William Powell, prominent Paramount-Publix stars.

Warner said the two stars had signed five year contracts calling for appearances in three pictures each year and would report as soon as their contracts with Paramount-Publix expired.

WIDOWS ASK WORK; TELL OF STRUGGLES TO SUPPORT CHILDREN

The difficulty of earning a living when one is a middle aged widow is described in two letters sent to Sally Joy Brown of THE TRIBUNE, who aids the unemployed by turning over all offers of work to the Illinois Free Employment service at 116 North Dearborn street.

"Am writing to you to see if you can help me find work by which I can support myself and 9 year old boy," a letter from Mrs. F. M. S. reads. "I am 50 years of age, white, and would appreciate work of any kind. I am a good plain cook and could take care of little children, do any kind of housework, or care for a motherless home.

"I am dependent on my older children for support, and they hardly make enough to support themselves. If I could get something my little boy could stay with his married sister. Both he and I need clothing and I haven't a cent to buy it with."

The other letter, from Mrs. A. P., reads, in part:

"I am a widow with six children at home and only one boy working, at $14 a week. I have been unable to purchase warm underwear or overcoats for my three boys this winter. I have two girls who could work in a factory or do any kind of work if they could get it. For myself, I can cook and bake and can give wonderful references in housework by the day.

"We have looked day after day for work, and it seems that spending carfare is like throwing 15 cents a day away. I do hope you can come to my rescue. Otherwise we will have to vacate and to break up this family. It seems hard after I've kept them together so long."

Among the jobs offered through Sally Joy Brown yesterday by readers of THE TRIBUNE were a job for a piano tuner, offered by a pastor of a church on Wallace street; a man or woman dishwasher by a restaurant in the 6300 block on Cottage Grove; a stenographer by a shirt company on West Randolph street, and a handy man to wash windows at 50 cents an hour and transportation to and from Oak Park. Mrs. H., on Highland avenue, offered the window cleaning work.

Couple, Wed 50 Years, Hosts to 200 Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Imler celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last night at their home at 1419 East 71st place. Approximately 200 relatives and friends attended. Mr. Imler, 69 years old, is a retired employé of the Standard Oil company. He and his wife, Eva, were married at Lima, O., their birthplace, and came to Chicago 32 years ago. Mrs. Imler's brother, William King, celebrated his 50th wedding anniversary at Lima Thursday.

Good Fellows Boost Funds to Help Poor

More Cash Means Less Suffering in Chicago.

The deep interest of Good Fellows in the families they are supporting was again evidenced yesterday in the receipt by the Good Fellow fund of a letter and an accompanying check for $100 from a Chicago woman. The letter had been sent by air mail from California and was addressed to an investigator for the Good Fellows.

"Thank you so much for taking the time and trouble to tell about my family," wrote Mrs. J. "Naturally, I was very much interested in the picture of them. I do hope the children gain now with more food. The little ten year old wrote two letters to me, and they were very appreciative."

Gifts for Good Fellow families, most of them pledges and others contributions, boosted the total fund over the $80,000 mark yesterday. Five checks were for $100 or above.

The continuance of contributions will mean the support of additional families during the mid-winter weather. All families receiving Good Fellow aid are found worthy by the Catholic Charities, the United Charities, the Salvation Army, and the Jewish Social Service bureau. New gifts should accompany the coupon on this page.

Rabbi Simon G. Kramer to Quit Gary for New York

Rabbi Simon G. Kramer, for the last three years head of Temple Beth-El of Gary, has accepted a call to the Hebrew institute congregation of University Heights, New York City. He is a graduate of the Hebrew Theological college of Chicago and the University of Chicago, and before going to Gary was rabbi of Congregation Keneseth Israel in Hammond. A farewell banquet will be given him by the Gary congregation Feb. 1.

CITES BEN FRANKLIN AS TRADE BOOSTER WHO SAVED TO SPEND

New York, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The American Providence Society, Inc., observing the 225th birthday anniversary of Benjamin Franklin—he who said "a penny saved is a penny earned"—suggested today that the American people spend as much as they can.

"Benjamin Franklin was one of the biggest spenders of the 18th century," said Charles De Forest, managing director. "He spent slowly at the start of his career so that he might spend all the more later.

"At first he skimped in his personal expenses and used the savings to enlarge his business and employ more helpers. Then under this plan the Franklin home replaced its pewter with gold and silver and accumulated the luxuries of the time."

Benjamin Franklins to Meet.

The Benjamin Franklins, an organization drawn from men in all walks of life whose first two names commemorate the great American, will observe his 225th birthday anniversary this afternoon at the Union League club.

Benjamin Franklin Harwitz, attorney of Middletown, O., will be the speaker. He will discuss Franklin's career as colonial agent in England before he was an American envoy to France during the revolutionary war.

After the meeting at the Union League club the society will adjourn to the statue of Franklin in Lincoln park to place a wreath at the foot of the memorial, a gift to the city from Joseph Medill, founder of THE TRIBUNE.

The 46th reunion and banquet of the Old Time Printers' association of Chicago will be held tonight in the Stevens hotel in honor of the day. A wreath will be placed at the statue during the afternoon.

Mary Pickford Tells of Days When She Was Gladys M. Smith

New York, Jan. 16.—(AP)—In one of New York's most luxurious hotels Gladys Marie Smith, late of Toronto, is enjoying a 10 day vacation as the guest of Mary Pickford of Hollywood, Cal.

They are registered under one name, Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks. For Gladys Marie Smith and Mary Pickford dwell in the same smartly dressed body—a dainty little person with red-gold curls. And hereafter, to preserve neutrality, they shall be referred to as Mrs. Fairbanks.

Gladys Marie Smith is not always fond of Mary Pickford. Sometimes she regards her with distaste and a sort of dismay. Mary Pickford, also known as "America's Sweetheart," frequently embarrasses Gladys Marie Smith.

"In London and Paris on occasions Gladys Marie Smith has been terribly bored with Mary Pickford," said Mrs. Fairbanks, shaking her head. "And sometimes even in Hollywood, when they weren't at work on a picture.

But in New York Gladys Marie Smith and Mary Pickford get on very well. That is because Gladys Marie Smith can't help feeling grateful to Mary Pickford for a lot of things. For Mary Pickford used to be Gladys Marie Smith until getting her first job with a good company from David Belasco she became Mary Pickford, for at 13, Mrs. Fairbanks said today, Gladys Marie Smith had been on the stage for years, most of the time with cheap melodramas.

Bright Sayings of the Children

My small nephew was kept awake all night with a toothache. The following afternoon I took him to the dentist and had the tooth pulled. He insisted on taking the tooth home with him.

On going to bed that night he placed the tooth on his dresser and remarked, "Now you sit up and ache and watch me sleep. M. V.

Gayety Rules 2d Assembly of the Winter

BY THALIA.

THE second of the winter's two Assemblies last evening at the Congress hotel was to some extent a concession to the present day preference for simplified, informal parties. In the change from a purely formal ball to the currently more popular supper dance, the occasion seemed to lack something of the old school flavor that marked its predecessors.

Whatever was lost in the way of formality, however, was made up in gaiety. To be sure, there were no decorations in the ballroom save the smilax screens and palms that hid the orchestra, and the miniature orange trees on the supper tables, but these measures toward economy apparently had no effect on the blithe spirit of the party.

Most of the guests did not arrive until close to midnight. Shortly after 11 o'clock, the time the dance was scheduled to begin, Mrs. John A. Stevenson and Mrs. Robert A. Gardner arrived to take their places in the receiving line. They were joined later by Mrs. William H. Mitchell, Mrs. Donald M. Ryerson, and Mrs. Wayne Chatfield-Taylor.

Mrs. Stevenson wore an eggshell satin and lace dress with insets of lace in the skirt and lace shoulder capes; Mrs. Gardner was in flame colored printed chiffon; Mrs. Mitchell, who returned yesterday from a trip to Georgia, wore a white satin gown with an antique silver and crystal necklace; Mrs. Ryerson wore a high waisted pale green satin gown, made on Grecian lines; Mrs. Chatfield-Taylor had a rose colored dress with a tight fitting chiffon bodice and billowy tulle skirt. All wore shoulder bouquets of either orchids or gardenias, but the flowers were not sent by the board of governors as they had been in more prosperous years.

More Details of Gowns at the Second Assembly.

The very first guest to arrive was Miss Ines de Soriano, who came on from the theater alone; her mother, the Marquise d'Ivanrey, changed her mind at the last minute and decided not to come. Miss de Soriano wore a rose colored taffeta dress with a long rather full skirt and a rhinestone strap on one shoulder and long black suede gloves.

Mrs. Chauncey Borland, in black velvet with a white chiffon and crystal bodice, and Mrs. John P. Wilson wearing a silver cloth gown with a short train, also arrived several minutes before any of the official "hostesses" had assembled in the receiving line. Mrs. Phelps Hoyt and Mrs. D. Mark Cummings [the latter was heard bewailing the revival of long kid gloves and long skirts for formal wear] came in just as the orchestra began to play. Mrs. Hoyt wore white velvet and pearls and an orchid corsage and Mrs. Cummings white satin and gardenias.

Miss Elsie McCormick, in black velvet and a rose colored wrap, accompanied her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ayer, the latter in black satin and a pearl necklace. Others who arrived before the dance got into full swing were Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Hamill, and Mr. and Mrs. William A. P. Pullman.

Mrs. Ryerson wore a white satin gown incrusted with rhinestones and an orchid corsage. Her pale blue slippers harmonized with a large chiffon handkerchief that floated from a diamond bracelet on her wrist. Mrs. Pullman's gown was of coral colored silk shot with gold thread with a plaited tulle overskirt. Mrs. Hamill wore turquoise green velvet and orchids.

Indoor Tennis Court and Guest House, Her Plan.

I hear that a perfectly grand indoor tennis court is going to materialize on Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed's Lake Forest estate some time this spring. Plans and estimates are being made now, and if all goes well it should be ready by the time Mary Reed, whose proficiency with the racket is quite remarkable, gets home from school in Paris.

David Adler is the architect, I understand, and the building is apparently to be a sort of guest house as well, with lounges, dressing rooms and living quarters for week-end guests, besides an enormous court. The William McCormick Blair indoor tennis court at their Lake Bluff place and Mrs. William G. Hibbard's squash racquets court are about the only other similar edifices hereabouts.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wyles of Highland Park announce the engagement of their daughter, Anne Trickett Wyles, to Willis Prague Coleman Jr. of Madison, Wis., son of Col. and Mrs. Willis Prague Coleman of the United States army. Miss Wyles, who made her debut last November at Exmoor, is a graduate of the Castilleja school at Palo Alto, Cal. Mr. and Mrs. Wyles will give a dinner dance next Saturday evening at Exmoor for their daughter and her fiancé.

This Cello Surely Should Be Well Worth Hearing.

Good dinner table anecdote: Maurice Maréchal, the cellist who played in concert last Monday and who has [play]ed with the Symphony, treasures particularly a cello that he played during the war—the carpenters in his [regi]ment made it after he drew a design and measurements, and it took 3 months to complete it, so that many of the men who had contrived the instrument never heard it. It now hangs in the musician's Paris studio. There Mrs. Jefferson Jackson, who retailed the story at dinner the other night, has seen it. Mrs. Jackson, formerly an active figure in socio-artistic circles in Chicago, now travels a great deal, and comes here about once a year. She is staying at the Lake Shore Drive hotel.

Dearborn Seminary Alumnae to Recall School's Founding.

The Dearborn Seminary Alumnæ association will meet at luncheon at the Blackstone today to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the founding of the fashionable school where so many Chicago social leaders of the past and present were taught readin', writin' and 'rithmetic.

The program, in charge of Mrs. Charles Spencer Williamson, will include an illustrated talk by Miss Herma Clark recalling the heyday of the school, and songs and music of the period by Helen Protheroe and Max Oberndorfer. The president, Miss Helen Drake, will preside.

SOCIETY SEES DANCER

The audience at Mary Wigman's dance program at Orchestra hall last night was an interesting cross-section of Chicago's social and artistic strata, with a goodly representation of fashionables. Among them were Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, the Arthur Bissells, Augustus S. Peabody, Mr. and Mrs. Tiffany Blake, the Wirth S. Dunhams and their son-in-law and daughter, the John Luther Doles, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Paepcke, the Bernard F. Rogers Jr., Miss Laura Thompson, Sanford Otis, Mrs. Wentworth Field, Mrs. John Shortall, Arthur Aldis, Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, Mrs. Hayden Harris, and Mrs. Marshall Blair, who arrived yesterday for a Chicago visit; the French consul general, Charles F. de Fontnouville, and Joseph T. Ryerson.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fisher [Ruth Page] were also in the audience, and after the performance many of those attending the recital attended their party, an "American Evening" for Miss Wigman, at the Arts club. The program there was given by Carl Sandburg, Frank Parker, and Jacques Cartier.

Smart Coiffures Still Outline the Shape of the Head

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Though long hair converts seem to be growing in number, don't get the idea that the outline of the scalp has undergone any radical change. It still remains neatly defined among our best coiffed heads. Which means that you have to keep on going to the hairdresser's to have the heavy growth attached to the scalp thinned down sufficiently often to keep that smart head outline. It is an important note in the season's coiffures.

Though you may be asked to have the coiffure feminine to be consistent with the bouffant, floor length frock, you still are not entitled to have a heavy mop of hair. You must remember that the slender silhouette determines this feature. The head should wear that same trained down look the figure boasts. It may have its knob at the back—in fact, usually does; still, the thing to hold to is the unbroken slender line from crown to toe.

You may pull out wisps over cheek and brow. You may have your curls, and a riot of them, but none of the feminine subterfuges should destroy the neat head outline, that is, about the upper crown section.

There is no sign that a trek back to the high-blown pompadour is imminent, or anything like it. The puffed-out-all-over-the-head hair splurge is not wanted either. In fact, about all the best coiffures there is a sophisticated clarity of head line, though the hair may end in a mass of curls or tidy knot.

The hats, you see, are not getting any larger, which determines something about coiffures, and I read that the hats for spring show no more room for hair at the crown than we have been accustomed to for some time. If they were roomier, there would be reason to suspect a broadening of the scalp outline, but they are not.

And about hair, aside from its dressing—it gets more and more beautiful of tone and texture. I'll wager there's never been an era in which hair boasted so well groomed a look as you will see at a gathering of particular women and girls today. Pride of locks speaks out. We could do with more of this, however, and it is something within the power of every woman.

Wild Cadence Marks Dancing of Miss Wigman

BY HAZEL MOORE.

The dance art of Mary Wigman is upsetting. A tremendous audience of our most intellectual observers gathered in Orchestra hall last night to view the most heralded high priestess of German dance.

Wigman has chosen from many dance schools, and adhered to none. The one school that is obviously disdained is that of the Russian ballet. Certainly there is technic of a sort, tremendously vital, but more the trained control of the gymnast than the pretty grace of the dancers of yesterday. Stark and frequently angular crudeness, a powerful ugliness replace the pirouette and the point.

The fine subtlety of the orient is tabooed, but what is new and most interesting is the constantly woven pattern of rhythmic motion, design following design. In fact this pulsing rhythm would seem to be the vital point of Miss Wigman's plan.

There is a primitive effect throughout her program, which is strongly abetted by the fervent assistance she had from two ardent young satellites who functioned at piano, tomtom and other primitive instruments. So much did these two add to the performance as a show that they deserve special mention.

To observe Hanns Hasting at the piano or drums, and better the eager buoyancy of the fascist garbed young Meta Menz at the assorted variety of percussions with which she made rhythm is to believe that Miss Wigman's main musical belief is in the hypnotic effect of constantly reiterated rhythm.

Music in the accepted sense was not used. But I doubt not that the American Indian would have understood completely the rhythmic repetition of the tomtom. So we found Miss Wigman's rhythmic studies extremely interesting. Though they were sometimes ugly, as in the "Face of the Night," or the "Witch Dance," occasionally lovely as in the "Summer's" dance or the "Pastorale," they were unfailingly strong, with a vitality that was amazing in the Monotony Whirl dance which closed this record group.

Daniel Saidenberg, who classifies both as the youngest member of the Chicago Symphony orchestra and its first cellist, appeared in the capacity of soloist for the first time yesterday afternoon at Orchestra hall. In doing so the reason for Mr. Stock's belief in the young player was explained.

Boasting but some twenty-two years, Mr. Saidenberg's way with the inevitable Lalo concerto for violoncello in D minor was both expert and musical. Musicians in the audience (and all the cellists seemed to be there) were pleased with the clean technic and the musicality of the young player. He erred only on the side of modesty, and in a short time one may look for the greater assurance that makes for greater brilliancy, which was the only lack noticeable yesterday.

Eric DeLamarter conducted a fine performance of the Brahms second symphony, the overture to Wagner's "Rienzi," three ballet pieces and an overture by Rameau, to complete a pleasant program.

Food Talk.

The excuses which some folk make for not eating carrots are often amusing. One is that they have a "faded out" taste. I am always ready to meet this objection because if carrots have such a taste it is due to poor cooking. In fact the natural taste of carrots is most apparent. But it is necessary to conserve the flavor. The best way to retain the flavor of any vegetable, as I have said before in these columns, is to steam, boil in the skins, or boil the peeled sliced vegetable in a minimum amount of water evaporating carefully any excess liquid.

Another variety of remonstrators are those who contend that the flavor is too disagreeable for any possible enjoyment. My solution to their problem is to combine the carrots with other vegetables or introduce a new counteracting flavor.

Try fixing them in these ways:

Add a spoonful of vinegar and a spoonful of sugar to the water in which you boil them. You might expect the two to contradict each other and give a negative effect, but as a matter of fact the vinegar just serves to give the tang that some people think the carrots need, while the sugar softens down the vinegar and prevents it from being too noticeable.

Still another pleasant way of preparing carrots is to cook them until tender in plainly salted water. Evaporate the excess water carefully.

For one medium bunch of carrots melt 2 tablespoonfuls of butter in a frying pan. Add 1 medium onion cut in thick slices. Let fry to a nice brown. Remove the onion. If it is cut thick enough it will not go to pieces in the fat and may be easily removed. Add the carrots and toss them well in the onion flavored fat. It would not do to leave the slices in for that would give too much onion flavor. It is only just a hint of the flavor that is wanted to help out the carrots. Tossing the carrots in a little finely chopped parsley or chives adds just a touch that intrigues some.

Young carrots are particularly nice prepared as follows: Scrape the carrots, slice as thin as possible. Put into a saucepan with hot butter and toss them with a knife to prevent sticking. Cover and cook slowly until they begin to brown and are tender, which will be in a few minutes. Season with salt and pepper and add more melted butter if desired. This method of cooking preserves all the fine sweet flavor.

FLEMISH CARROTS.

1 lb. carrots.
¼ lb. onions.

Peel carrots and onions and pass through a food chopper. Toss them in one tablespoon flour and one teaspoon salt and a few dashes of pepper. Put them into a stewpan with just enough stock to cover. Stew gently until they are perfectly tender. Turn into a hot dish and garnish with wedges of fried bread.

Judicious Hinting Good Method to Use on the Thoughtless

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"What do you do when you love a young man and he loves you, but still never asks you to go to a show or a dance? When he comes around we go for a walk every night. But he takes other girls to shows and dances. Yet he tells me and my friends that I am the one he loves.—CHUBBY."

Maybe he does love you, at that. Only he has a queer way of showing it. But there is a queer quirk in human makeup which may explain the entertainment you are offered. Maybe you have a symptom of it in your own makeup. It's like this. You have friends to whom you are deeply devoted, but because you are sure of their continued devotion you neglect them for friends who are more exacting. Or, there are relatives you know will never change toward you, no matter how you neglect them, and on this assumption you just keep on neglecting them for relatives who require more attention to keep them appeased.

It may even be true of lovers. They take their girls so much for granted; they can always rely on their good nature; consequently the disposition to please with surprise attentions never occurs to them. It is true of husbands, too. Their wives are so reliable, they're overlooked, sometimes. The same man who may never have bestirred himself to a single "thoughtful" attention for wife Number One may become a daily bearer of gifts to Number Two.

It's probably all in what the woman demands. If she is a self-effacing, uncomplaining, or a non-hinting individual, the man may be led to believe he is doing enough for her pleasure. Another girl may create quite another being out of him.

So, if the walking is getting on your nerves, Chubby, perhaps a hint that you'd like to sit down at a show for an evening would surprise the man into setting a show date for you. Or, maybe if you told him you owned a pair of dancing slippers that were getting rusty on the soles, he might take a tumble. Anyway, it looks as if the action were up to you. And you'd better begin training in asking for things if you have the kind of man who has to be asked or hinted at.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Fiance Is Forgetful.

"Dear Miss Blake: My fiancé is often forgetful where I am concerned and each time he forgets hurts more than the last. Should I let him know how I feel? O. P."

Better have it out with him now. It may be just thoughtlessness on his part.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Gets Job; Lacks Clothing.

"I have been ill and out of work for many months. I have just secured a job which takes me out of the city, and I wonder if you can help me get some of the things I need. I want a suitcase, some pajamas and underwear, size 36 or 38, and shirts, size 14. I shall be most grateful for any of these you may be able to get. R. C."

This man is a most deserving person who after months of misfortune has an opportunity of getting on his feet again. The things he asks for are badly needed and I hope you will be able to supply them.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Wrapped in Blanket.

At Christmas time I went to Florida. My husband took me to the train, taking my winter coat home.

I thought my topcoat was in my bag but I was amazed to find that I had not packed it.

When I reached Chattanooga I purchased a wool blanket to wear until I reached Miami, where I hoped I would find my coat. My coat never reached me. Imagine my state of embarrassment when upon returning home I had to leave the train in Chicago wrapped in a brightly colored woolen blanket. A. L. K.

WELLS COLLEGE GIRLS ARE FOR LIBERAL LAWS ON MARRIAGE, DIVORCE

What the students [all women] of Wells college, Aurora, N. Y., think about marriage was revealed to members of the Presbyterian commission on marriage, remarriage, and divorce meeting yesterday in the La Salle hotel. Mrs. Charles K. Roys, dean of that college, addressed them on the views of the students as they were presented to her in a seminar she conducted there.

"Physical examinations for both men and women were considered necessary before marriage," she said. "One hundred per cent of the group consulted would expect to have children if they married.

"All approve of contraception, limiting and spacing children in regard to income, health and other conditions. Eighty per cent voted for the right of both unmarried and married persons to have information about contraception.

"Eighty per cent wanted marriage and a career, if practicable, but all would relinquish any outside interest if the well being of the children demanded it. One hundred per cent were willing to supplement family income by holding a job.

"All desired uniform divorce laws in the United States. All considered that children would act as a deterrent to parents considering a divorce. Ninety-five per cent attached no stigma to a divorced woman.

"The following were considered legitimate causes for divorce: Cruelty, physical repulsion, sex incompatibility, a weak character, boredom, intemperance, mental cruelty, mental and religious incompatibility.

"Divorce, according to the women interviewed, should be obtainable by mutual agreement, but a limited time of separation should elapse before application for divorce and a year should pass before it became final. No restrictions should be placed upon the remarriage of the guilty party."

Watch Before You Interfere with Children's Play

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

This letter may be helpful to you if you have a child constantly playing with one older than himself. Or if, on the other hand, yours happens to be the older one:

"My Dear Mrs. Bevans: I always read your column with interest, but sometimes an article just seems to be the one I need.

"I had just the problem last summer that is stated in a letter in your column, that of making children too polite and considerate.

"I started by spanking my 2½ year old son for hitting a 4 year old he played with. But upon watching their play more closely I found that hitting was the only way my child had of getting his own rights with the older boy, who always wanted the best and newest of all the toys. I finally decided to let him take his own part, being careful that he didn't go about looking for trouble.

"Now he takes his part very well, with even the older children, and yet is a peaceful child to play with in ordinary times.

"Reading your articles helped me to feel that this once I did the right thing."

One of the wisest things a mother can do when children are playing together is to defer action—and watch, just as this mother did. Frequently she will find that children adjust things themselves—and much better than adults can. I think we mothers are all a little too "scared" by children's hitting. Sometimes it serves a wholesome purpose.

Of course, we can't always keep hands off. But even when we must intervene it is better to get our results not too obviously—that is, by indirect means—perhaps by providing two toys of a kind, by sending children outdoors when they get on each other's nerves playing indoors, by learning to diagnose their squabbles as hunger, or tiredness, etc.

Hoover Presents Congress Gift to Polar Flyer

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Lincoln Ellsworth, American explorer, came to the White House today to be presented with the gold medal voted by congress following his famous polar flights of 1925 and 1926. He was invited to lunch with the President and Mrs. Hoover.

In 1929 congress voted special gold medals for Ellsworth, Roald Amundsen, and Umberto Nobile. Both participated with Ellsworth in the transpolar flight of 1926.

Nobile never has been to the United States to receive the medal, while Amundsen was lost in the polar wastes during a search for part of Nobile's party after the Italian's dirigible cracked up on another polar flight.

President Hoover received in the name of the nation the American flag which Ellsworth took over the top of the world from King's Bay to Point Arrow, Alaska.

President Hoover, presenting the medal, praised the flight across the north pole. He read the citation contained in the bill authorizing the medals.

In presenting the flag which the Norge carried across the pole Ellsworth said the time may come when the world awakes to find the linking of the occident and the orient by a short route through the air via the north pole.

Paris Creates Clever Pajama-Hostess Gown

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Paris couturiers are making more and more elaborate pajamas and they are also making more and prettier hostess gowns. The girl who has to choose between them is confronted by such a seductive array of each that she finds herself in that quandary that the French call l'embarras du choix.

But girls who are in doubt about whether pajamas or a hostess gown will prove more alluring at that intimate five o'clock hour need no longer be harrowed by the indecision born of a depressed pocketbook, for if they take a style tip from Molyneux they can have both at once—united in a single, self-same garment.

You can see how cleverly Molyneux does it in the ivory satin hostess something, sketched above. Looked at from the front, it is pajama with Hindu looking trousers that drape tightly from the ankles almost to the knees, while the upper part mounted on the pointed hip yoke is given fullness by eight stitched tucks.

The simple blouse opens over an ivory satin, low necked plastron. The tie belt of satin is attached to the under arm seams. In back, this garment turns into a trailing princess robe by means of a panel train attached to the top in a deeper point than that of the front. The long, tightly draped sleeves recall the form of the trousers.

ASK TENNESSEE CITIZENS TO AID SCANDAL INQUIRY

Inaugurate Governor for 2d Term Wednesday.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—On the eve of the active functioning of the special committee of the legislature authorized to inquire into "misconduct of state officers," and which includes at Gov. Henry H. Horton's request his own office, a joint resolution unanimously was passed in the senate today setting Gov. Horton's inauguration for next Wednesday.

This action, coming unexpectedly on motion of Senator T. L. Coleman of Lewisburg, the governor's home town, stirred no voice of protest in the senate, but it is expected to be opposed when it reaches the house next Monday or Tuesday by that group of anti-administration men who have been threatening an impeachment move based on the matters which the investigating committee is about to take up.

Select Investigators.

Both houses adjourned today to meet again Monday night. The investigating committee is not to meet until Tuesday afternoon. In the meantime they will select investigators to work in advance of the open hearings, much as the congressional committees operate, and all citizens of the state who have any information of value to impart are asked to communicate with the committee.

Gov. Horton officially was announced as reelected today at a joint session, when the canvass of votes showed that he had won by 67,743 votes. There remains no bar to the usual inauguration ceremony except the fear that has found expression in some quarters that if the committee does uncover ground for impeachment, this could not be invoked against a governor who was serving his second term, as it would relate entirely to first term actions.

It is probable, however, that the inauguration will go ahead, as there is a general feeling outside the extremist groups that nothing more serious than inefficiency can be shown in the conduct of the governor's office, and as impeachment requires evidence of moral turpitude that there is not much danger of that.

Plan Simple Ceremony.

Plans are being made for a simple ceremony in the legislative chamber, with the oath to be administered by a justice of the Supreme court, and ordinary congratulatory speeches delivered. The governor has prepared a message dealing with the conduct of each department.

The investigation committee bills dealing with immunity of punishment of witnesses who prove unwilling to talk were reported out of the judiciary committee today but are not debated.

It is learned that just before the crash that resulted in the present inquiry Gov. Horton had made tentative arrangements with an outside auditing firm to come in here and try to straighten out the tangle which the state finances were in. An entire reorganization rather than an audit now is likely to result.

"We are particularly anxious to have it known that the committee is soliciting information from patriotic citizens of the state," said Speaker Scott Fitzhugh today.

"We want information upon which we can proceed to probe the various charges and reports that have been spread over the state. We are urging every patriotic citizen to do his part in helping get at the bottom of affairs in the state in order to bring justice to those who have been guilty of wrong or freedom of suspicion to those unjustly accused."

TWO BANKERS IN CLASH WITH HOUSE PROBERS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(AP)—An investigation was ordered today by the house banking committee to determine its authority to force two New York financiers to furnish information desired in the investigation of group and chain banking.

By unanimous vote Chairman McFadden was directed to name a subcommittee of five to look into the legal rights of the committee to compel witnesses to produce papers, and to ascertain its authority in case of refusal.

McFadden said Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the National City bank, declined to supply a separate financial statement of the National City company, while George W. Davison, chairman of the Central Hanover Bank and Trust company, has not furnished a list of stockholders owning more than 1,000 shares.

Meanwhile statements were issued in New York in behalf of Mitchell and Davison. William S. Gray Jr., a vice president of the Hanover bank, said it "had supplied the committee with all the financial information it had requested." A National City official said "all the information requested had either been offered or furnished the committee."

BENHAM SCHEME INVESTIGATED BY REVENUE AGENTS

Records Fail to Show Tax Returns.

Belvidere, Ill., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Bureau of internal revenue agents are investigating the activities of A. W. Benham, Belvidere shipping clerk who turned financier and began paying 50 per cent interest to investors, it was learned here today.

If the finance wizard's scheme has proved as profitable as some of his clients are led to believe the federal government's inquiry may prove serious, for it was learned definitely that Benham filed no income tax returns for 1928 or 1929.

The income tax investigation was undertaken after Charles D. Loop, deputy collector stationed at Rockford, visited the office of Myrtle Tanner Blacklidge, collector at Chicago, and reported complaints, received from Belvidere and Rockford bankers, that customers were withdrawing their deposits to invest with Benham.

Claims He Filed Returns.

Examination of the files disclosed no record of Benham's tax returns although he asserted in an interview that he had filed, with advice of counsel, and would welcome an investigation. Willful failure to file tax returns when the income is $5,000 or more is a misdemeanor, punishable by a year in jail and a $10,000 fine, and willful attempts to defeat and evade the tax is a felony punishable up to five years in the penitentiary.

Benham's operations continued here and at Rockford today, despite publicity given his money making scheme, and it was reported additional pools were being formed at Rockford. Friends who bring in new customers, usually comprising pools, are promised a 10 per cent commission by Benham.

The former shipping clerk's solicitors are canvassing office buildings at Rockford and have met with success, according to reports, but few of those who invest are willing to discuss the proposition.

Spend Weeks Investigating.

Trade associations and bankers of northwestern Illinois, alarmed over the activities of Benham, have spent weeks in investigating his scheme, but so far have unearthed no cause of action. State's Attorney Alexander J. Strom of Boone county conferred with L. P. Holt, head of the securities division of the state's attorney's office at Chicago, where the "blue sky" law has been invoked successfully against finance racketeers.

Mr. Holt explained that when complaints are received by his office, the respondents are summoned to appear and show cause why they should not be prosecuted.

Representatives of the secretary of state sit in at the hearings, Mr. Holt said, and if the complaints are substantiated, informations are filed. Mr. Holt informed Prosecutor Strom that, in his opinion, Benham's scheme was a racket.

PANIC FOLLOWS SUBWAY CRASH; 19 ARE INJURED

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—With a flash of blue flame and a roar of buckling steel, two cars were derailed in the Thirty-third street terminal of the Hudson tubes today and nineteen persons, Jersey commuters, were injured by the resulting crash.

Insulation, lighted by the short circuits, caught fire and the fumes of burning rubber filled the locked cars. Faces of passengers, thrown into panic by the sudden toppling from their seats, were blackened by soot.

There were minutes of panic in the train and in the half-lighted darkness of the terminal. Passengers pounded on the windows and doors, men and women were trampled in the rush for the closed exits.

Windows had been broken and some persons crawled through the jagged glass, refusing to wait, even briefly, for the trainman to open the doors.

Injuries to passengers were, on the whole, slight.

CHICAGO, MINNESOTA CLASH FOR BIG 10 LEAD

COX'S 218 LEADS AGUA CALIENTE $25,000 OPEN GOLF

GOLDEN SLIPS A STROKE BEHIND AS PUTTS MISS

Leader's 69 Is New Course Record.

Agua Caliente, Mexico, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Wilfred H. [Whiffy] Cox, Brooklyn professional, leaped into the lead of the $25,000 Agua Caliente open golf tournament today by scoring a sensational 69 for a 54 hole total of 218.

Cox was in the last threesome to leave the first tee, but he served notice on the crowd he might dislodge John Golden from the temporary throne, when he covered the first nine holes in 34 where par is 36.

Cox needed a par four at the home hole for a 68, which would have given him a two stroke advantage. However, he pushed his brassie a bit and failed to reach the green in two, getting down in five. His 69 not only gave him the lead for the first 54 holes but established a new competitive record for the course. Gene Sarazen finished the big money competition last year with 68 to win first prize, but par then was 71. The course has been lengthened since then and par increased to 72.

Golden's Putter Fails Him.

Golden, who led the first two rounds, lost his chance to hold the position by erratic putting. He missed four short ones during the round and three times found it necessary to take three putts. He finished his first and second rounds with birdie threes at the eighteenth greatly to the delight of his two year old daughter, who lisped "That's my daddy" as the balls dropped into the cup. Today he could not score a birdie for little Rose Marie, although he made a valiant effort, rimming the cup with a brave approach putt for 40 feet. Big John's last today was 76, for a total of 219.

Ed Dudley also scored 76 today to take third place with a total of 220, a place shared with Horton Smith, who had 73, and Clarence Clark, the big Tulsa, Okla., pro, who contributed a sparkling 71.

Gene Sarazen, last year's winner, could not better his second round score of 75 and stood at 222 with Mortie Dutra, George Von Elm and Ralph Guldahl.

Hagen Comes In in 34.

Walter Hagen furnished a sensational half round by galloping home in 34 strokes after he had used up 39 going out. This 73 left him with a total of 223, tied with Macdonald Smith, who slumped to 77 today. Hagen played wonderful golf up to the greens but his putting touch, which has failed him throughout the competition, still was absent.

Whiffy Cox, one of the many good players who have threatened often but never collected the blue ribbon in an important competition, scored a birdie four at the first hole, added another birdie on the fifth, and played the remainder of the first nine by the card.

He took five at the par four tenth, but got the stroke back with a birdie at the 12th and holed a three at the 13th for another birdie. After a par at the 14th he holed a wee putt for a deuce. He had five at the 16th, but at the 17th, a hole stretching 554 yards, placed his approach eight feet from the cup and holed for his sixth birdie.

Coleman Leads Amateurs.

Fay Coleman, Culver City, Cal., led the amateur division after three rounds with 234, thanks to a score of 76 today. Johnny Dawson, Chicago, required 82 strokes today and fell back to 236, and L. A. Byerly, Portland, Ore., who was tied with Dawson after two rounds, took 84 for 238.

THE GUMPS—YOU'RE NOT GOING BYE-BYE TONIGHT

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.; Copyright, 1931, by The Chicago Tribune.

They Judge Us by Results; Coaches, Too

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 16.—Of course, it is too bad that Pat Page, the football coach, couldn't get along with his employers, the University of Indiana, but to his complaint that a football coach is judged solely by results I hear a voice inquiring, "Aren't we all?"

The football coaches, as a profession, are inclined to sympathize with themselves a little more than most people do when they have bad luck and lose their jobs. The schedule was impossible, there was a slump in the material, honesty, sincerity and hard work were not given due consideration, and the fact that the players came out of the season better men physically and morally was disregarded.

This may be quite so in the case of Mr. Page, but it is quite so in many another line of work.

For a similar case I would suggest that of a very high executive who wears double breasted blue serge suits. He took over his job a couple of years ago under conditions which were apparently quite favorable but actually quite dangerous. Presently, due to no more fault of his than Mr. Page admits in his own case, he found his team in serious trouble. The faculty or senate did their worst to embarrass him, the team slumped and the gate statistics, which are the efficiency index of any coach, fell away sharply.

In short, his team has been having a terrible time under his direction, and it looks as if the voters might decide not to renew his present contract when his term expires. Like Mr. Page and many other coaches who are judged not by their intentions nor their efforts but solely by the results, he will be held accountable for a great many conditions beyond his control.

In my business I have seen a managing editor let go, notwithstanding his contract, notwithstanding a working schedule of from 15 to 18 hours a day, nor the fact that he was expected to cover a big town and get out a paper with a couple of discouraged and half sick skeletons for his copy desk and a couple of cubs who didn't know their way to the police station for his local staff. I agree with Mr. Page that it is unjust to judge a man strictly by results to the neglect of extenuating circumstances, but that happens to be the way things are and his profession of coaching football teams is not at all exceptional.

Bing Miller, one of Connie Mack's outfielders, has found it necessary to explain his recent remarks before the Lions club of his old home town in Iowa to the effect that the baseball players sometimes indulge in a few crocks of beer for the good of their health. This beer is taken only on rare occasions, says he, and only as a tonic, the suggestion being that the boys abstain from any and all enjoyment of the brew, as this would be sinful under the law.

Their indulgence, Mr. Miller explains, may be regarded as a little mortification of the principles of the good of the flesh and the ultimate pleasure of the customers, whose slaves the athletes are.

I still scan the newspapers hopefully for that story which may occur some day in which some great athlete with the prestige of an important championship or a great coach with a fine moral and professional record will let fly and tell the truth about alcoholic indulgence among the sportsmen. The facts are that there are more famous athletes of mature years who drink than don't, that the drinking among the old grads and other nuts during a big football week-end is exceeded only by the drinking and general all night helling around at the Kentucky Derby, and that an acute hangover is by no means unknown among great champions. This silent denial of alcoholic beverages by the sportsmen sounds like the denial of a genial pal.

Jack Curley's recent reminiscences of the Gotch-Hackenschmidt wrestling match at the White Sox ball yard in Chicago in 1911 has drawn the following comment from Mr. Sprint St. Clair, an old former newspaper man himself:

"Mr. Curley tells you in great wonderment that Hackenschmidt demanded his $30,000 before he got into

MINNESOTA TANK SQUAD SWAMPS MAROONS, 49-25

Chicago Wins Only Two First Places.

The University of Minnesota swimming team swamped the University of Chicago paddlers in a dual meet at Bartlett gymnasium last night, 49 to 25.

Carny Oker's victory in the 100 yard free style and a first in the 300 yard medley relay were the only Maroon first places. Capt. Marsh of Minnesota swam the 150 yard backstroke in 1:46 5-10 for the best individual performance. Summaries:

400 YARD RELAY—Won by Minnesota [Huhtala, Marsh, Hayden, Quial]; Chicago, second. Time, 3:51 6-10.

200 YARD BREAST STROKE—Won by Kruger [M]; Rittenhouse [C], second; McMahon [C], third. Time, 2:45 5-10.

400 YARD SWIM—Won by Lang and Farrell [M], tied; McMillen [C], third. Time, 5:45.

150 YARD BACKSTROKE—Won by Marsh [M]; Mears [M], second; Stevens [C], third. Time, 1:46 5-10.

100 YARD SWIM—Won by Oker [C]; Quial [M], second; Moore [C], third. Time, :56.

FANCY DIVING—Won by Nappa [M]; Ostrander [M], second; no third.

220 YARD SWIM—Won by Hayden [M]; Earlandson [C], second; Huhtala [M], third. Time, 2:34 3-10.

300 YARD RELAY—Medley relay: Won by Chicago [Brislen, McMahon, McMillen]; Minnesota, second. Time, 3:30 4-10.

WOLVERINES WIN.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Detroit Yacht club swimmers gave the University of Michigan tank team its first real scare of the season in a return meet here tonight, but the Wolverine team finally pulled out with a 39 to 36 win. Each team won four firsts and the Michigan advantage lay in a large number of second places.

John Schmieler, Michigan sophomore breast stroker, came within two-fifths of a second of tying the national intercollegiate record when he swam the 200 yard event in 2:34.4. The Michigan relay team, made up of Marcus, Fenske, Smith, and Ladd, won the 200 yard relay in 1:36.8, one second slower than the intercollegiate mark.

CHASE BEATS DAY, 1 UP, IN 19 HOLES, IN FLORIDA MEET

Coral Gables, Fla., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Lee Chase, Buffalo, N. Y., outstroked Win Day, Chicago's sensational 15 year old golfer, 1 up, at the nineteenth hole to survive second day play in the Miami Biltmore golf tournament today.

Chase led young Day 2 up at the turn of the eighteen hole match at Miami Biltmore course, but lost his advantage in a recovery by the Chicagoan. They were even from the fifteenth through to the nineteenth, where Day was eliminated.

In other first flight matches William Rupp, Buffalo, advanced to semifinals by defeating Dick Bennett, St. Albans, N. Y., 2 and 1. T. E. Price, Miami, won an easy 5 and 4 match from Joseph Langner, New York. J. B. Ryerson, Cooperstown, N. Y., won, 1 up, from Joe Roach, Miami.

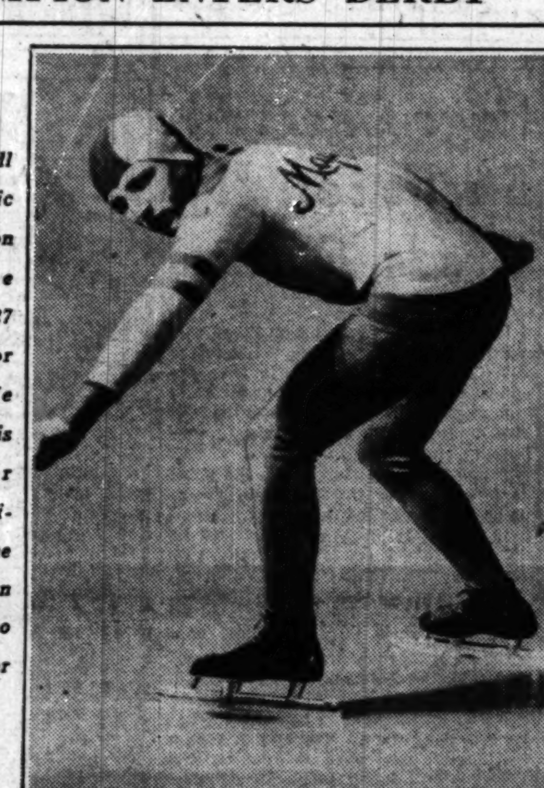

Devito Bowls 300 Game and 727 Total in Randolph Loop

Upsets, high totals and a 300 game were features in the Randolph league last night. The upsets were the three way victory of the Browns over the Bowlers' Journal team and the one victory scored by Larson Spearmint over Green River. The 300 game was scored by Dom De Vito of the Bowlers' Journal and was combined with games of 208 and 219 for a 727 total, high for the evening.

CHAMPION ENTERS DERBY

Edwin Stundl of the Majestic Skating club won the juvenile Derby in 1927 and the junior race in 1929. He will compete this year in Silver Skates intermediate race. No one ever has won more than two pairs of Silver Skates.

Stundl Leads Majestic Team in Silver Skates Derbies

Edwin Stundl, twice winner of Silver Skates, will represent the Majestic Skating club in the boys' intermediate race in The Tribune's fifteenth Silver Skates Derbies at Garfield park Jan. 24 and 25. Stundl is the ace of the Majestic team of seven skaters. He won the boys' juvenile race in 1927 and the boys' junior in 1929.

Dick McCarter, another member of the Majestic team, won the juvenile race in 1925, the first year this Derby was held. McCarter will skate in the senior division.

Frank Stack, one of Chicago's best skaters, will lead the Amphion Athletic club in its bid for Silver Skates prizes. Albert Fischer, chairman of the Amphion Skating committee, has entered 25 in six of the seven Derbies. Thirteen wil compete in the men's senior race.

Eye Senior Event.

The Henry Athletic association will be a strong contender for the Walter Eckersall team trophy, H. C. Taylor, president of the organization, believes. Henry's team of 77 includes several champions. Al Kucera, Tri-state champion last year; John Flickinger, junior Illinois state indoor champion; James Hillcoat, Illinois-Wisconsin junior champion; Williard Taylor, board of education city champion, and Julius Hoeft, winner of the Wilmette Gold Skates Derby, will compete in The Tribune races.

Rudolph Notz, secretary of the Northwest Skating club, reports that his team will bid for the men's senior championship. "Art Peters and Cornie Ewert have an excellent chance to win the race," Mr. Notz writes. "Herbert Knudten and Charles Massoth also are outstanding class A skaters."

The Elcaya Athletic club, 4222 North Monticello avenue, will be represented by 12 skaters who will compete in all except the senior events.

Steve Drigget and Laura Mayers, directors of Orr playground, Thomas and Keeler avenue, have submitted the names of 26 girls and 38 boys.

Other Playgrounds Enter.

Other playgrounds entering The Tribune meet are:

Raster playground—43 entries submitted by Harry J. Cullina, director.

Emmet playground—33 boys and 18 girls. The entries were submitted by Gustave J. Elster, director.

Mitchell playground—26 entries submitted by Albert Meyers, managers of the Mitchell Skating club.

Clarke playground—27 entries submitted by Steve Strocchia, instructor, who reports "this is the first time Clarke has entered The Tribune Derbies, but we hope to win several medals."

Waters playgrounds—13 girls entered by Miss Zina Iriss, instructor.

Nash playground—11 boys entered by John M. Stoffey, instructor. Nash will have nine boys in the midget division for boys under 12 years of age. This is a new event.

The entries close tomorrow at midnight.

ARMY POLOISTS TO OPEN TOURNEY AT 124TH ARMORY

Two polo games will be played tonight in the invitational indoor tourney, at the 124th Field Artillery armory, 52d street and Cottage Grove avenue. The games will be part of the formal dedication of the $1,500,000 armory.

The Fort Sheridan officers team and the 124th A team, class C national champions in 1929, will meet in the opening game. The Chicago Riding club and the 124th Remount association squad will clash in the second game.

Former All-American to Wed Chicago Girl

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Charles Herbert Treat, former Princeton football tackle, who was named for all-American honors in 1922, filed marriage intentions today to wed Miss Muriel Klene, 25, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Klene, 244 East Pearson street, Chicago. Treat, a Boston investment broker, listed himself as a widower. He was a star football player at Boston college and Princeton.

BAER WINS FROM HEENEY; HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF

Referee Dempsey Gets in a New Count Argument.

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Jack Dempsey refereed his second fight in New York tonight and was involved in his second unsatisfactory ending to a ring battle.

The ex-heavyweight champion was the third man in the ring in the scheduled ten-round bout between Max Baer, California's young heavyweight, and Tom Heeney, New Zealand veteran, at Madison Square Garden. The fight ended in a knockout victory for Baer in the third round, and a lot of excitement, confusion, controversy and argumentative discussion among some 8,000 fight fans who viewed the spectacle.

Whether Baer was entitled to the credit for a knockout victory was a disputed point when hostilities abruptly ended.

Heeney Leaves Ring.

In the third round, under a fiery volley of lefts and right to the head and body with which Baer pelted his foe as he rushed the New Zealander across the ring, Heeney, more through the force of Baer's rush than from a vital punch, slipped through the ropes near his own corner. He fell heavily, but slowly, and was assisted back into the ring by the upward push of three writers into whose laps he threatened to fall.

Dempsey, thinking he was picking up the count correctly, tolled off eight seconds over Heeney, who was kneeling awaiting the full benefit of a nine-count, and abruptly Arthur Donovan, knockdown time keeper, at the ringside, halted the downward bang of his gavel, indicating that Heeney had been counted out.

Dempsey was surprised by the interruption, and Heeney jumped erect, ready to resume the battle.

Heeney Protests Decision.

Heeney protested strenuously. He was not hurt. Baer acted as if surprised himself and would have resumed the action with Heeney had not Dempsey informed them both that the timing watches had recorded the ten second count from the time Heeney went through the ropes until Dempsey's right arm dropped on the eighth second in the former champion's count. It was explained after the bout that Heeney was out of the ring for two seconds before being shoved back on the battle platform, and that Dempsey overlooked this elapsed time when he started counting in the mistaken belief that no count had been recorded until Heeney returned to the ring.

Gen. John J. Phelan of the state athletic commission, in charge of the scene in the absence of Chairman James A. Farley, who is ill, announced after the bout that under the rules of the commission Heeney was automatically disqualified when he permitted himself to be assisted back into the ring—a rule adopted after Dempsey's battle against Luis Angel Firpo.

Disappointment to Crowd.

The ending to the bout was an injustice to Heeney and a keen disappointment to the crowd, in the opinion of the many at the ringside.

Heeney could have regained his feet before the expiration of ten seconds, had he known the count was confused.

Unofficially the bout was a moral victory for Heeney, who, thought to be beyond recall as a ring competitor and more or less of a trial for Baer, actually outfought the California youth in the first two rounds, giving better than he received in spirited exchanges, leaping in valiantly on the attack, bucking or dodging Baer's wild swings and countering himself with solid smashes to the body and head. In the second round Baer fought savagely and pounded the body severely, but Heeney took the blows, gave his own in return and outboxed and outscored the younger heavyweight at long range.

Outcasts Are Cast Out at Garden Show

New York, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Interpreting the mandates of the New York state athletic commission in the strictest sense, spotters on the gates at Madison Square Garden refused admittance tonight to Primo Carnera, Italian giant, and Paulino Uzcudun, Spanish heavyweight, because of their suspensions by the fistic fathers.

There was much excitement and general to do. Flashlights boomed and the outcasts protested, but gatekeepers refused to yield to the fighters' desires to witness the heavyweight card featuring Max Baer and Tom Heeney.

Carnera was suspended here after his fiasco with Leon Chevalier in Oakland, Cal., last year and Paulino was set down for dueling the mammoth Italian in Barcelona, Spain, recently. The commission, at odds with the Garden over the recent signing of Bill Stribling and Max Schmeling for a heavyweight title fight in Illinois, called the attention of all boxing organizations Wednesday to the rule barring suspended fighters from boxing arenas.

Taking no chances, the Garden put spotters on the gates to signal the approach of those under ban. Carnera and Paulino were the chief offenders caught in the net. Leon See, manager of the Italian, also was refused admittance.

The Garden's refusal to allow the two fighters to see the show was unprecedented in the history of boxing here, although the rule had been on the commission books for some time.

71 Ski Jumpers to Vie for U. S. Title at Cary

A record field of entries with a promise of ideal weather, is expected to attract a large crowd to the national ski championship tournament at Carey hill, Fox River Grove, Ill., tomorrow.

The official entries released yesterday list 71 jumpers, 28 in class A and 43 in class B. This is the largest class A group ever entered in a tournament in America and will bring skiers from California to Massachusetts, as well as Ludwig Boeck, German champion, who will make his first appearance in this country.

Casper Oimen of Canton, S. D., will defend the championship he won last year and is expected to retain the laurels. He holds the record for the slide at Cary, established when he won the Norge meet last season, at 173 feet. His familiarity with conditions on the championship slide, as well as his brilliant form and jumping ability, make him the favorite.

The east is sending seven jumpers who top the list in their section. Only Ralf Munsen of New York will be missing. He was injured in practice this week.

TIE WITH N. U. GOAL OF TWO UNBEATEN FIVES

Maroon Attack Is Best in Years.

Games Tonight

Minnesota at Chicago.
Indiana at Illinois.
Iowa at Wisconsin.
Michigan at Ohio State.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The conclusion of the second week of the basketball campaign in the Western conference brings together two undefeated teams, Minnesota and Chicago, at Bartlett gymnasium tonight. Consideration of their records in recent seasons when they were consistent second division quintets, tonight's battle to share the lead with Northwestern, is most surprising.

Perhaps many anticipated Minnesota's victory over Iowa. Nevertheless that triumph a week ago, 26 to 22, certainly attracted more attention when the Hawkeyes won from the title defending Purdue five last Monday, 25 to 23. Chicago's victory was at the expense of Indiana, 28 to 27, in an overtime game, and this also has received greater emphasis since the Hoosiers defeated Ohio State, 23 to 21.

Maroons' Attack Powerful.

Chicago, even before its victory over Indiana, had given notice that it was a team superior to any of its predecessors in recent years. Its greatest assets are a well distributed power of attack and a floor game which penetrates opponents' defense for short shots. Chicago's defense probably does not compare with these other essentials. But that defense is much better now than when Brigham Young university scored 38 points for Chicago's only defeat of the season.

The Maroons' offense centers around Sid Yates, Marshall Fish, and Paul Stephenson. Harry Ashley, who teams with Fish at guard, on occasion has shown he is not unfamiliar with the art of shooting, while Keith Parsons generally manages to account for a pair of field goals on follow-up shots. Yates is the speediest of the offensive trio, and is ambidextrous when driving under the basket. Stephenson, handicapped by his lack of height, is a good pass receiver. He shoots from any position, seeking to get the ball away in unorthodox fashion to offset the advantage a tall guard naturally possesses against him.

Fish Directs Team.

Fish directs Chicago's floor attack, and the players follow Coach Nels Norgren's instructions closely. Chicago plays with a more definite purpose than most of its rivals, and so far this plan of action has produced results.

Virgil Licht and Mike Cielusak, Minnesota's sophomore guards, are credited with much of the Gophers' increase in power this year. Against Iowa each scored twice from the field. The other regulars also have shown scoring strength. Capt. Harry Schoening scored seven points against Iowa; Earl Loose, the other forward, registered three points, and Don Bondy, a center of 6 feet 2 inches, had three field goals and a free throw. This distribution of attack may cause Chicago's downfall tonight, particularly since Parsons, whose only basketball experience is this season's play, faces Bondy.

N. U., Purdue Idle.

Northwestern, triumphant this season over Michigan and Illinois, does not play tonight. Purdue also is idle. The Boilermakers have lost to Michigan and Iowa and have defeated Illinois.

Tonight's lineup:

CHICAGO.		MINNESOTA.
Yates, lf		Schoening [C.], lf
Stephenson, rf		Loose, rf
Parsons, c		Bondy, c
Fish [C.], lg		Licht, lg
Ashley, rg		Cielusak, rg

Referee—Getchell [St. Thomas]. Umpire—Travnicek [Armour].

ILLINI MEET HOOSIERS

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Encouraged by its great last half rally Northwestern, the University of Illinois basketball team will attempt to win its first conference game from Indiana here Saturday night.

The Illini have displayed more drive and spirit in practice this week than at any other time this year and may succeed in upsetting the Hoosiers.

Boyd Owen may replace Elbridge May at guard in the Illinois starting lineup. May's wrist was injured in the Northwestern game and he may not be available by game time.

OHIO CHANGES LINEUP

Columbus, O., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Ohio State's basketball lineup will be changed again for the battle with Michigan here tomorrow. Wesley Fesler, regular guard for the last two years, started the season at his old position. For the Wisconsin game he lined up as a guard, while Mattison was jumping center, and then took over Mattison's duties, while the latter went to a guard position.

The latest move, according to Coach Harold Olsen, is Fesler at forward. Neither Lively nor Hinchman, forwards in the Indiana game last Monday, caged a single basket from the floor. Hoffer, a sophomore, will take Fesler's place at guard, while Hinchman will be benched.

the ring, and it seems to have caused Mr. Curley some surprise. I am sorry to hear this, as I thought Hack was on the level with Mr. Curley, and it pains me as late as today to think that he did not tell him all that was going through his mind. Maybe I can enlighten Mr. Curley.

"In those days I was a boy reporter myself and when I went up to Hack's training camp on the day of the bout to see that he did not run over a truck on his way to the ring, I met Dr. B. F. Roller. Dr. Roller also was a member of the Curley stable and was Hack's physician.

"The good doctor said: 'I am worried about Hack. He has dislocated his knee. Last night he could not sleep until I gave him a powder. He was very restless and I am afraid he is not in shape to put forth his best efforts.'

"Within an hour Gotch started tweaking Hack's big toe and with a mighty whinney Hack rolled over and resigned.

"But, as Mr. Curley says, he had collected in advance, and I just thought this might explain it all to Mr. Curley. I thought it was unfair to Mr. Curley and also to the customers—although customers do not really count, do they?—to mislead them regarding his condition."

Rodell Sets Cue Mark; Whips Foraker, 250-121

Adolph Rodell set a new low inning game last night in the state amateur championship billiard tournament being played at Mussey's when he defeated the defending champion, Hugh Foraker, 250 to 121 in 27 innings, with a high run of 43.

MOUNT CARMEL DEFEATS ST. RITA, 24-22, OVERTIME

Mount Carmel heavyweights, contenders for the south section title, found a job on their hands when they invaded St. Rita's gym last night, but after playing regulation time and two extra periods came away with a 24 to 22 victory. Meehan's basket a few seconds before the gun ending the second overtime brought victory. Meehan led the winners' attack, contributing six field goals. St. Rita lights evened the program by trimming Mount Carmel, 29 to 16.

The heavyweight score at the end of the regulation time was 20 to 20. Lazerus of Mount Carmel and Lang of St. Rita scored in the first overtime, and Meehan's field goal was the only count in the second extra period.

St. Ignatius journeyed out to De La Salle's gym to hand the national Catholic champions a 25 to 16 defeat, and the lights made it two by whipping De La Salle's ponies, 19 to 11. Jerry Liska led the heavies, while Levitt was the lights' high scorer.

Henry Derby Today Matches Skating Stars

With skaters reaching the peak of their form, interesting racing should result in the Henry A. A. Derby this afternoon at Humboldt park and the state championship Derby of the Elgin Lakeview Skating club at Lord's park, Elgin, tomorrow. The Planert Gold Skate trophy will be awarded the state champion.

Frank Kalteaux, chairman of the Chicago arrangements committee, announced a special train will leave the Wells street station at 9:45 tomorrow. More than 800 skaters and officials will be on board.

If Frank Stack of the Amphion Athletic club, state champion, can put on a pair of skates he will be favored to win the class A events in the Henry Derby today and the three championship races in the Elgin Derby tomorrow. Stack, it was learned yesterday, ran a skate blade into his leg just above the ankle in a collision while practicing at Elgin.

Elizabeth Du Bois of the Majestic Skating club also will race in the Derbies today and tomorrow. Miss Du Bois is expected to retain her state title but is likely to go given a battle by Helen Bina of the Barrett A. C. and Faith Schoen of the Norwegian-American A. A.

The annual ice skating championships of the municipal playgrounds of Chicago will be held this afternoon at Douglas park. More than 1,500 skaters, representing 32 teams, will compete.

Six hundred skaters, the largest number of entries ever received, are expected to race in the ninth annual championships of the west parks at Garfield park today. Sixteen parks will be represented.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

EARLIER CHICAGO.

DEAR WAKE: In 1882, the Criterion theater was [and still is] located on Sedgwick, just north of Division street. Its parquet, with dress circle on the lower floor, had about 450 seats and balcony about 300, a total of 750 seats.

Most of the dressing rooms were under the stage. Partitions between them were of boards and the ceilings were not plastered. Partitions were cut out in such a manner that one stove could be placed in the hole thus made in order to heat two rooms at once. F. R.

In the spring of 1872 the old courthouse lay in ruins after the fire of 1871, in the center of the plot where the city hall and county building now stand. The Clark-Washington corner was like a fair grounds. There was a Punch and Judy show, a sword swallower, a fire eater, a waffle man, a money prize stick candy man, a couple of Kickapoo Indians in an open carriage selling herb medicine, and many other attractions. The fakers all did a good business. George Ross.

In your column on Jan. 9 Helper Seybert wrote the verses and chorus of "Little Brown Jug," saying he sang them when a boy. How good the song looked to me! I am 77 years old and I, too, used to sing it with a sister who possessed a remarkable alto voice in the years just after the civil war. Other songs of the time were "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," and all the war songs, including "The Vacant Chair," "Marching Through Georgia," and "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground."

I have since heard these old songs over the radio and what miserable failures they proved to be with their attempted "jazz" variations! What we want of those old songs is harmony, not what some individual thinks is an improvement on the composer. Hoping Mr. Seybert will see my appreciation.

Mrs. Clara K. Cougle.

For You and Me.

I'm a painter of dreams
Using bright color schemes
Of rosy hue like skies of blue,
For YOU and ME.

There's a long winding way
Where we'll stroll every day,
Robins will sing love songs of spring
For YOU and ME.

I'll paint a future baby cute—
Your image it will be;
A garden gay to romp and play,
Just baby, YOU and ME.

When the sandman comes round,
Curly head pillowed down,
We'll plan new schemes,
We'll paint new dreams,
For YOU and ME.

Bruder Accepts Job as Kentucky Grid Assistant

Henry Bruder, captain of the 1930 Northwestern university football team, yesterday said he has signed as assistant to Head Coach Harry Gamage at the University of Kentucky. He will report for duty in the spring.

Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—H. O. [Pat] Page returned to Bloomington today to relinquish his coaching post at Indiana university and to thank those who had stood by him during the five years that he directed Crimson football teams.

There was no bitterness in his voice as he talked of the job from which he had been asked to resign. Members of the Indiana athletic board of control will act on his resignation at an early meeting.

Page said he found a number of friendly letters from university alumni awaiting him. They made him feel good, he said, even though he is leaving a job he believes is not finished. He said the student body's allegiance means a great deal to him. But what he prized above all, Page said, was a testimonial presented to him by his 1930 football letter men.

Heartened by Testimonial.

"You don't know what it means," Page said, "to know that those boys have stuck with you through a tough season."

Page said that the team gave him the testimonial before they knew "what was coming from the athletic board." The testimonial reads:

"We, the undersigned members of the Indiana university football squad, go on record heartily indorsing Coach Page. We also wish to state there was loyalty, coöperation, and undying team spirit throughout the hard games of the season. We firmly believe he has won the greater victory for Indiana football and we also believe in the future with Page."

Doesn't Want Trouble.

Page said that he did not want to cause any ill feeling over his coaching agreement at Indiana, although he was under the impression that he was bound by contract or obligation to stay another year.

"Of course," he said, "the athletic board asked me to quit."

100,000 ENTICE FISH ON ONE DAY, 2 STATES REPORT

Wisconsin Strives to Keep Pace with Anglers.

BY BOB BECKER.

Last spring saw the greatest outpouring of trout fishermen that Wisconsin and Michigan conservation departments ever recorded for opening day, May 1. It looked as if folks in some northern towns, villages, and hamlets closed up shop in order to visit the streams and snag a mess of fish.

Conservation departments estimate upon the basis of reports from wardens that more than 100,000 fishermen were abroad in those two states on opening day. At least there were that many fishing.

Wisconsin, mindful of the popularity of angling for the elusive trout and the drain on her trout supply, released 90,000 adult brook trout last fall. This was more than double the number which went into the streams in the fall of 1929. Every one of the 90,000 will be large enough to catch this coming spring and all were of a size that can spawn this winter.

Can't Keep Pace.

In addition to this fine hatch of brook trout Wisconsin planted more than 300,000,000 fish of various species during the last year. These were produced in the 25 hatcheries which the state operates. And still the number of fish produced is insufficient to keep pace with the inroads the army of fishermen make upon Wisconsin's game fish supply.

It is apparent that more black bass must be produced and more intelligent stocking methods must be used if the bass fishing is to be brought back. Indiscriminate planting of walleyed pike in bass lakes, in some cases, is responsible for the disappearance of bass. The wall eye is a voracious minnow eater. When there is not a sufficient supply of food he raids the ranks of other game fish.

Lake Loses Reputation.

We know of one lake in Wisconsin which for years enjoyed a reputation, and rightfully so, as the finest small mouth bass lake in one part of the state. What hard fishing did, and continuous stocking with walleyes finished. Now you'd have a hard time (fishing with anything from live bait to a fly rod) to get a mess of small mouth bass. The lake, a fine one with big rock bars, ideal for small mouths, is filled with walleyes. Of late the lake's reputation as a good bet for pike threatens even to slip as a good fishing hole for this species.

This example not only serves to illustrate how the sport of fishing is increasing, but also reveals how hard Wisconsin, Michigan, and Minnesota have to work to keep pace with the catches of thousands of anglers who go north every summer.

OIL PRODUCERS SEEK PARTIAL CRUDE EMBARGO

Also to Ask Ban on Refined Products.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Congress will be asked by independent oil producers of America to place a partial embargo upon crude petroleum and ban refined products.

As a secondary campaign, to be pursued following the drive for the exclusion and limitation of foreign oil, the governors' oil relief conference urged a tariff.

A petition, adopted shortly before the conference adjourned late today, will be presented to congress by the executive committee within a short time.

Another resolution adopted urged the congressional delegations of twenty states to make every effort to obtain relief from foreign competition" at this session.

It also asked for "an organization" at the next house "and in particular a speaker and a ways and means committee which will give the American oil industry an immediate and fair hearing on tariff protection or some other regulation and restriction on the importation of foreign crude oil and its refined products."

To Send Out Copies.

Copies of the latter resolution were directed to be sent the congressional delegations of Indiana, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Montana, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Texas, West Virginia, Wyoming, New York, Michigan, Tennessee and Mississippi.

The petition for a tariff or embargo will be presented to congress by the executive committee within a short time.

The petition asks that imports of crude petroleum be limited to 20 per cent of the 1928 imports, and that all refined products from foreign countries be excluded.

By this method, the oil men said, the independent oil world would find relief from what the delegates from the 13 states represented pictured as attempts of the big companies to drive out of existence the smaller operators.

See Immediate Relief.

They argued that immediate relief should be provided, dire distress in the oil states overcome and a pressing unemployment problem be done away with.

Imports of four large companies were blamed by the independents for their own plight. They named the Standard of Indiana, Standard of New Jersey, the Gulf Oil company and the Royal Dutch Shell as the importers.

Speakers said these companies were driving out the smaller operators and had told the independent producers there was no place in the oil world for them. They declared these companies and other larger corporations controlled the oil from the time it left the ground until it went to the consumer.

An executive committee, appointed by Wirt Franklin, president of the Independent Petroleum association and chairman of the conference, will carry on its work. Representatives from the states' delegations were named to remain in Washington to work with the executive committee.

The committee will lay the petition before congress and is expected to call upon President Hoover to state the position of the independent operators.

Points Out Dire Distress.

The petition points out the dire distress of the oil industry, and says that 300,000 wells now are producing oil for sale at prices below the cost of production, but that gasoline had not declined in like ration.

The petition continued that thousands of small wells have been abandoned and that unless the price of crude oil can be bolstered, many more of the 300,000 small wells will be abandoned. This, the petition held, would result in their destruction through encroachment of salt water. The effect closing of the wells would have upon employment was set forth as a reason for congress to provide relief. Thousands would be forced out of work.

Congress was told that the producers believed that petroleum reserves in this country were not fully developed nor in danger of being depleted. Franklin's statement that estimates of the total oil resources, made in 1915 by the Geological survey, was erroneous, was quoted.

Estimate at Fault.

The survey estimated the total resources at 7,600,000,000 barrels, the petition said, but that from 1915 to 1928, America produced 8,912,632,000 barrels, or 17 per cent more than the estimates.

Full protection of the petroleum industry was demanded in the petition, which was to be presented to congressional delegates from each of the oil producing states and to congressional committees.

The formal wording of the tariff and embargo plea follows:

"For the above reasons, we, the representatives of the petroleum industry, the business interests and the workers and laborers of the oil producing states do hereby solemnly petition and urge congress to enact without delay a law placing an adequate tariff on imports of crude petroleum and its refined products.

"Or, in the alternative, we pray that congress enact without delay a law limiting the importation of crude petroleum to 20 per cent of the amount imported during the calendar year 1928, and that in the interest of American labor, the law absolutely prohibit the importation of any of the refined products of petroleum."

The petition asked that the partial embargo be made effective against all countries from which the United States imported oil in 1928. The plea for the limitation of imports, the delegates explained, was decided upon as a last minute course because they believed it more likely to succeed im-

See U. S. Steel Earnings of $9.40 a Share

New York, Jan. 16.—Preliminary estimates were made in Wall street today that the United States Steel corporation would show earnings of between 90 cents and $1.10 a common share for the last quarter of 1930. That would bring its earnings for the full year to between $9.40 and $9.60 a common share, compared with $21.19 in 1929.

The corporation's quarterly report is due Jan. 27. Although lower than in the corresponding period of their preceding year, the estimated showing for the fourth quarter of 1930 was considered satisfactory in face of depressed industrial conditions and the reduced pace of steel activity.

Net income for the quarter was estimated at between $14,000,000 and $16,000,000. This would be equivalent after all charges, including preferred dividends, to between 90 cents and $1.10 on the average number of shares outstanding in that period, 8,678,356. In the corresponding period of 1929 earnings amounted to $39,972,358, or $4.14 a share on 8,132,840 shares outstanding at the end of 1929.

On that basis 1930 net earnings would total between $106,000,000 and $108,000,000, to compare with $197,592,060 in 1929.

Price unsettlement in the steel industry was one of the chief influences contributing to the reduced profits of the corporation in the latter part of 1930. Furthermore, consumers were disposed to hold their buying of steel to a minimum in hope of lower prices.

ELECT KARMAN HEAD OF CITY'S ONLY LABOR BANK

Murray B. Karman was elected president of the Amalgamated Trust and Savings bank at the annual meeting of the directors yesterday. At an earlier meeting of stockholders Mr. Karman was named a director of the institution, which is owned by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America and is the only labor bank in Chicago.

Mr. Karman has been vice president and cashier of the bank for eight months and was formerly associated with the Amalgamated bank in New York. Earnings of the Chicago bank in 1930 amounted to $11.73 a share, stockholders were told.

A new president was chosen for the Midland National bank yesterday. He is O. Oscar Challman, a former president of the Chicago Live Stock Loan company. He succeeds H. F. Wuehrmann, who has become a vice president of the Uptown State bank. V. I. Vanicek was elected vice president and cashier. Ralph E. Zuch was named assistant to the president and C. G. Kilkis was elected assistant cashier.

Dr. Fred C. Wakerlin, Philip Sheridan, and Hugh M. Leslie, were elected to the board of directors of the Brainard State bank, at the annual meeting of the stockholders.

John H. Bain, cashier, and William A. Canavan, assistant cashier, were promoted at the annual meeting of the Chicago Lawn State bank. Bain was elected vice president and Mr. Canavan was made cashier. Bain and John Meacham were elected assistants to President John Bain.

REPORTS 13 PCT. DROP IN SHEEP, LAMBS ON FEED

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Sheep and lambs on feed for market on Jan. 1 were estimated today by the department of agriculture to have been 13 per cent, or 775,000 head, less than on the corresponding date a year ago.

Although below a year ago, this total was larger than for any other recent year. The estimated number for Jan. 1 this year was 5,109,000 head, as against 5,886,000 head a year ago and 4,822,000 on Jan. 1, 1929.

Decreases under last year's number were seen for both the corn belt and the western feeding area. The estimated total in the corn belt states, including western Nebraska, was 2,610,000 this year, as against 2,901,000 in 1930. There were large decreases from last year in Ohio, Michigan, and Nebraska, and smaller decreases in Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, and Missouri.

There were substantial increases, however, in Wisconsin, Minnesota, South Dakota, and Kansas.

SENTIMENT, AS WELL AS CREDIT, RULES BUSINESS

And It's Improving, Reviews Find.

BY O. A. MATHER.

It used to be said that credit was the lifeblood of business. But it is now more generally recognized that sentiment, although less tangible, is an equally important factor. Willingness to go forward is as vital as ability to do so. An abundance of credit now is available for trade expansion, but decision has been lagging.

It is the consensus of this week's mercantile reviews that sentiment is improving. That isn't a new expression, but of recent weeks it has been backed up by scattered but tangible evidences of its salutary effect on business. These are the rivulets that sooner or later will join to make the stream of prosperity.

"It is chiefly in the improved outlook that the general situation is more favorable," Dun's Review says, "although the specific instances of increasing transactions are significant. Without disregarding the seasonal aspect, it is important that production in some basic industries has risen substantially.

"Steel mills are operating at a rate which, while relatively low, is appreciably above the recent minimum. Such a trend reflects a higher scale of activity in other lines of manufacture and also heavier demands from railroads, and many thousands of workers have been reengaged since the turn of the year."

In Similar Vein.

And Bradstreet's Review is in similar vein.

"Trade and industry, generally speaking, seem to hold the full measure of cheerfulness noted last week and even to have added to it slightly in the case of the automobile and steel industries," it says. "In steel, aside from some rail orders, the notable development has been the placing of very large orders for pipe and further loosening up in specifications for automobile material have followed the going to work of upward of 100,000 men in the Detroit district. As to these, it might be explained that these accessions are for the present on a basis of a three day week for most of them.

"In wholesale trade there has been more done in cotton and silk goods at large centers. Resumptions of cotton and silk mills have been numerous. Return of cold weather and sales have aided in retail distribution of heavyweight clothing and other apparel.

Increasing stability in commodity prices and trade activity is noted by the Annalist. Its weekly index of commodity prices has fluctuated within a range of less than half a point for the last five weeks, the narrowest movement in a year.

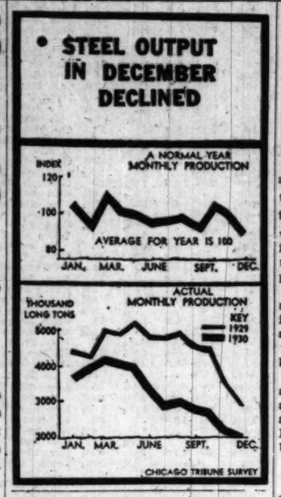

Bank Clearings Decline.

On the other hand, bank clearings for the country this week are estimated at $8,357,565,000, a decline of 24.4 per cent from a year ago, and business failures are placed at 796, compared with 927 last week, and 638 in the corresponding week in 1930.

Building construction for the four weeks ended Jan. 9 and in 37 states east of the Rocky mountains is estimated at $216,661,600 by the F. W. Dodge corporation. While this total is 20 per cent lower than a year ago, it is higher than the average of the last twelve months. Moreover, most of the decline from a year ago results from the fact that construction costs have receded 15 to 20 per cent.

Announce Merger of Kimble Glass Company

Vineland, N. J., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Merger of the Vineland Flint Glass company and the Kimble Glass company of Vineland, the latter one of the largest concerns of its kind in the country, was announced today. They will be operated under the name of the Kimble Glass company.

LIVERPOOL MART BACK TO QUEEN ELIZABETH'S ERA

Wheat There Sinks to 350 Year Low.

Statisticians, in seeking comparative prices for yesterday's record low values of wheat, announced that they had to go back 350 years, to the times of Queen Elizabeth, to find a period when prices were so low in Liverpool as at present.

A drop in that leading European wheat mart took prices close to the minimum reached there two weeks ago, and helped to lower quotations in American markets, although the latter are higher than in other countries, owing to the stabilization corporation activities.

One of the local traders with a penchant for records disclosed that, barring the slightly lower figure set recently, this price was the lowest paid on the English market since before the time of Cromwell and even the first of the Stuarts.

Liverpool prices were from ⅝@¾d lower. March wheat at the last was quoted at 61¾c.

PETROLEUM CORP. PLACES STOCK ON $1 YEARLY BASIS

Petroleum Corporation of America placed its capital stock on a $1 annual basis with declaration of a 25 cent dividend, compared with 37½ cents previously paid quarterly.

Minneapolis-Honeywell company declared its usual extra dividend of 50 cents on common in addition to the regular semi-annual $1.50.

Directors of Bunte Brothers have declared a dividend of $1 on common stock. The last dividend on common was 50 cents, paid on Aug. 1 last year.

Pierce Petroleum voted a dividend of 10 cents a share on common. Three months ago an initial payment of the same amount was declared. Directors of Rice-Stix Dry Goods company took no action on the quarterly dividend of 37½c due at this time.

Alton Barium Products Files Insolvency Denial

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 16.— (AP) —A formal denial of insolvency has been filed in United States District court here by the Alton Barium Products company of Alton, Ill., in answer to a petition of its creditors to have the company adjudged bankrupt. The creditors, the Monsanto Chemical Works, Henry C. Ruemmler, and Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company, charge the Alton company owes them $1,750 and that for the last six months it has been insolvent.

Twelve W. Virginia Coal Companies Reduce Wages

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 16.—(AP)—D. C. Kennedy, secretary of the Kanawha Coal Operators' association, said today that twelve coal companies in the Kanawha district had ordered wage reductions in the last few weeks. In most cases, he said employés have accepted the reductions. The twelve companies, Kennedy said, operate 17 mines and employ between 2,500 and 3,000 men.

Wearing Out of Products Is in Excess of Replacements

BY SCRUTATOR.

With all the remedies that have been suggested for ending depressions, from trying to hocus-pocus the gold supply to urging buyers to buy because sellers want to sell, it still remains true that it takes time and the wearing out of usable goods to set us back on the prosperity trail.

If there is any star to which one should hitch the economic wagon, it is the shining fact that for more than a year Americans have been wearing things out faster than they have been replacing them.

The automobile industry will serve as an example. Last year it made a little more than 3,300,000 vehicles, about two million less than in 1929. In the year 1923 the production in the United States exceeded four million.

Definite Relationship.

Between 1923 and 1930 there is a certain definite relationship. It has been demonstrated that the average life of an automobile, from the time it is sold until it finally gets to the graveyard, is from six and three-quarters to seven years. On any normal basis of figuring it would be probable that the 1923 cars would reach the junk heap in 1930.

Apparently that did not quite happen. The sales of gasoline indicate a very small lessening, if any at all, in the consumption of motor fuel from 1929 to 1930. Many seven year old cars that have earned their rest are still on the streets and roads.

For the next three years it is likely that an average of four million automobiles annually must be scrapped. Unless it be assumed that Americans have reached the peak in their use of benzine buggies it is going to take about that many new ones for an annual average, merely for replacement. This takes into consideration neither the increase in population, which is going on, nor the added attraction to new motor car ownership promoted by ever increasing hard roads.

It is of course possible that 1931 will not be a four million year in the auto industry. Nobody knows whether it will be or not. If it isn't, it only means that a seven year period of average life for the 1923 and 1924 cars is being extended.

There have been numerous estimates of what the automobile industry will do in the way of sales this year. Milan V. Ayres, statistician for the National Association of Finance companies, figures that new car sales will be at least 10 per cent better than in 1930. He admits that this is only a hazarded guess from the best information available, and that it may be revised upward or downward.

Sees Time of Reckoning.

It seems to depend on whether depression psychology or the natural course of wear and tear will govern. It is hardly conceivable that a public so saturated with the idea that riding on the roads is about the best way to spend time can force itself to do without its motors. In may wear its tires down to the rims and run the engines until they clank, but even at that there is going to be a reckoning and another year of excessive production may be necessary if delay is prolonged.

Purchasing power of three classes of earners, farmers, building trades employés, and automobile company workers, has been low for the last year. This purchasing power will be restored when the three industries start doing business on a profitable basis. The automobile seems to promise most for the present.

Building has been overdone greatly only in commercial structures. It is even possible that residential buildings, like automobiles, are being worn out faster than they are being replaced.

CRUDE RUBBER STOCKS REACH RECORD LEVEL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 16.—Stocks of crude rubber in the United States on Dec. 31 were the highest on record, amounting to 203,221 long tons, against 189,925 tons on Nov. 30 and 105,137 tons on Dec. 31, 1929.

Crude rubber afloat for United States ports on Dec. 31 totaled 56,035 tons, against 52,538 tons Nov. 30 and 62,388 tons Dec. 31, 1929.

PRICE OF BAR SILVER DROPS AGAIN TO 28½C

New York, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Bar silver dropped ⅝ of a cent in the New York market today to 28½ cents an ounce, equaling the historical low established a week ago today.

The metal also was weak in London, where it declined 5 1-16d.

Mexican Dollar Slumps.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 16. — (AP) — The Mexican dollar plunged to a new low level of 21.8 gold cents here today. Nationalist government post l authorities said as a result of the persistent decline in silver they were considering a further advance in the international postal rates. These rates were increased 50 per cent last July as a result of the silver slump.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—One of those modest little stock rallies that happen along occasionally even in the worst of times breezed in out of the gloom today and tilted the balance once more in favor of the buying side.

The gains were not nearly so substantial as Thursday's losses, amounting, in fact, to no more than a point in general, but the change about was sufficient to drive the bear element back to cover again and bolster confidence to some extent.

Leads Recovery.

United States Steel carried the burden of the recovery, climbing back to 140⅞, a gain of nearly 2 points. While American Can, General Electric, and most of the other leaders followed the trend it cannot be said they offered the best of support. A number of specialties like Goodyear, Allied Chemical, Gold Dust, Vanadium, and Johns-Manville made good showings considering the dullness of the market in general but they appeared on the tape too infrequently to get much of a hand from the traders. Most all groups shared to a greater or lesser extent in the rebound, such as it was.

For all its brave showing, the market was not without its weak spots. Among the declines worth mentioning were California Packing, Shell Union Oil, Engineers' Public Service, and Pittsburgh and West Virginia.

The bear re r guard appeared to have singled out Bethlehem Steel as the chief target for its limited operations. That stock had to withstand the pressure of heavy and persistent offerings. Selling was rather well taken most of the day, but the stock showed only feeble rallying power. Offerings today were accompanied by estimates of earnings for the final quarter, which were not particularly favorable.

These estimates placed probable net

Investment Opportunities of a Decade

OPPORTUNITIES for successful investment in utility debenture bonds are more favorable now than in a decade. Sound bonds may be purchased at levels which afford attractive yields with probable appreciation.

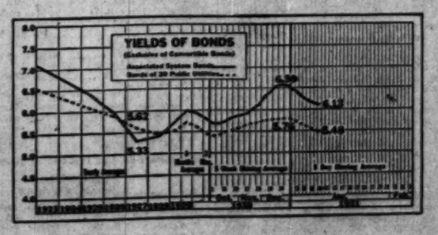

Associated Gas and Electric Company bonds are above average in yield compared with similar issues of other leading utilities. This is proved by an analysis showing yields of 63 similar bonds of 20 comparable companies as a group.

This comparison, based on tests such as are used by banks, insurance companies, and investment banking houses for determining the value of public utility bonds, proves further that Associated Bonds Are Above Average in Security.

For example, Associated Gas and Electric Company has a relatively small amount of subsidiary company obligations, the ratio of such obligations to the parent company's bonds being 42% less than in the case of 20 other utilities as a group. This increases Associated earnings directly applicable to the parent company bonds. On an "overall" basis, Associated earnings before depreciation are 2.26 times interest requirements compared with an average of 2.06 times for the bonds of the other utilities.

In spite of declining earnings and reduced business activity by many industries, Associated Gas and Electric Company gross earnings each quarter of last year were ahead of the same quarters of preceding years. This is due to the essential nature of utility services and to the desirable public utility areas served.

Debenture bonds of the Associated Gas and Electric Company are available to yield about 6%. Our letter, with 10 plate charts illustrating the comparison referred to, will be forwarded upon request.

CHICAGO STOCK TRADING DROPS, PRICES FIRM

Motor, Accessory Shares Uniformly Strong.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Speculative activity was at a low ebb on the Chicago exchange yesterday, as the volume of sales barely tipped the 100,000 share mark. The market was thin and sensitive to the smallest influences, and fluctuated nervously during much of the day.

Selling at the opening depressed prices moderately, but the market steadied gradually as the liquidation ran its course. Gains were made on meager buying and final prices in the main represented improvement of a point or so over previous closing quotations.

Motor and accessory shares displayed fairly uniform strength after the early weakness. Borg-Warner and the Houdaille-Hershey garnered the best gains in the group. Leading utility shares, including Insull Utility and Cities Service, advanced between 1 and 2 points.

Quaker Oats Off 4 Points.

Elsewhere in the list the price changes were negligible, except in the case of a few of the less active issues. In this latter class were Quaker Oats, which lost 4 points to 156, and Kalamazoo Stove, which moved up 2 on light trade.

B. J. Grigsby, chairman of the Grigsby-Grunow company, announced yesterday that Don M. Compton has been made vice president and treasurer of the company. Mr. Compton became general manager of the radio company several months ago. Mr. Grigsby also announced the appointment of Vernon W. Collamore as general sales manager. Since his return from New York several days ago Mr. Grigsby has been silent on the reported merger plans of the firm. The firm's current production of six models is running between 1,500 and 2,000 sets daily.

Plans for organization of a new stock exchange firm to be known as Wayne Hummer & Co. were made public yesterday. Partners of the firm will be Wayne Hummer, who is retiring as president of the La Salle National bank, La Salle, Ill.; George Barnes, at present a partner of A. C. Baur & Co.; R. Edward Garn, and Karsner Cleland.

Buys Exchange Seat.

Mr. Hummer has purchased a membership on the Chicago exchange. Offices will be opened in the Board of Trade building Feb. 2. Mr. Hummer is chairman of the board of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce and a former president of the association.

Expansion of the Middle West Utilities system during 1930 is shown in the figures made public yesterday by President Martin J. Insull. The company's generating capacity increased 12 per cent during the year to 1,356,943 kilowatts. Of the total capacity 75 per cent is in steam generating plants, Mr. Insull stated.

An additional capacity of 150,000 kilowatts is being added through construction now under way, he said. One of the 1930 business features was the continued increase in residential sales, he added. Residential sales gained 18.7 per cent in kilowatt hours in the first eleven months.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

American Can Price Cut.

Some of the recent selling in American Can is attributed to reports that the company has cut prices on cans. This report seems to be correct, a reduction having been put into effect at the first of the year with lower prices for tin. On the face of things the reduction should not hurt earnings of the can manufacturing companies.

General Theaters Pfd.

General Theatres preferred has again developed into one of the active features of the list. Professional covering on a scale up has strengthened the position of the stock.

Alaska Juneau Spurt.

The last hour of trading was enlivened by a sudden spurt in Alaska Juneau, a stock which has merely marked time for the last few days.

Foreign Selling.

Foreign selling has been an important factor in causing the current reaction.

INSULL GETS LAST FEE IN BLOCK CONTROL

BY AL CHASE.

Last April it was reported that the Insull interests had secured control of the entire block bounded by Dearborn, Adams, Clark and Monroe. At that time the Westminster building was purchased. Yesterday the final legal steps were taken whereby actual ownership of the entire block was consummated through the purchase for $500,000 of the 24 1-3 feet of frontage at 61-63 West Monroe street, which is approximately $20,576 per front foot. The property is improved with an old four story building extending back 190 feet to an alley.

The property bought yesterday was purchased from Permelia M. Rea, as trustee for the estate of Robert L. Rea. Title for the Insull interests was taken by Kenneth C. Brown. It was purchased subject to existing leases. A part purchase money mortgage for $250,000, five years at 5 per cent, was given by the buyer. Ward T. Huston & Co. were brokers.

No Giant Skyscraper Now.

It is understood that the Insull interests have no intention at present of wrecking the Marquette, Commonwealth Edison, Chicago Trust, Westminster and other buildings on the block, as has been rumored, to make way for a giant structure covering the entire property. Such a project probably will be carried out at some far future date when the present buildings are obsolete, but not until then.

Louise N. Wilson purchased from John N. Tilton Jr. the property at 2221-23 Prairie avenue. This property, with a frontage of 50 feet, is improved with two houses and was bought for investment with regard to the demands for housing space near the World's Fair. The price was $23,000 according to George F. Iliff & Co., brokers.

Work is under way on a brick one story 80x80 addition to the factory of the J. R. Short Milling company at 3739 South Wall street in the general manufacturing district. A. Epstein is architect.

Lease Floor at One La Salle.

After having been in the Monadnock block for the last thirty-two years, Chindahl, Parker & Carlson, patent attorneys, are to occupy new and larger quarters in the One La Salle Street building. They have leased the twenty-eighth floor for ten years through L. J. Sheridan & Co.

The fifteen apartment building at the southeast corner of Claremont and Arthur avenues, lot 67x125, has been sold by Chell & Anderson to Mr. and Mrs. Antonin Sterba of Evanston, for an undisclosed consideration, subject to $59,500. Mr. Sterba is an internationally known portrait artist. Cash was paid for the equity. The brokers were R. H. Gress and Pierre G. Beach of Quinlan & Tyson. This is the third apartment building sale in Rogers Park announced by Quinlan & Tyson within the last three months.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH BUSINESS

S. W. Straus & Co. reports that sales of securities by their organization throughout the United States showed an increase of 9.9 per cent during the first half of January, compared with the corresponding period last year. Nicholas Roberts, president, said that "evidences are not lacking that a somewhat improved tone has come into the investment market since the first of the year." He added the opinion was based on increasing sales of securities and on a larger volume of inquiries from investors with available funds.

Eight hundred men will return to work at Niles, O., next week when the Falcon plant of the Empire Steel corporation resumes operations. Part of the workers will return Jan. 19 and the entire force will be employed by the middle of the week. A bulge in demand for automobile steel accounts for the increase in activity.

The railway equipment industry has been encouraged recently by release of long delayed orders and more numerous inquiries. The Bessemer and Lake Erie railway is in the market for 1,000 to 1,200 freight cars and is expected to place this order shortly. The Seaboard By-Product Coal company has ordered repairs to 248 hopper cars from the Standard Steel Car company and the Fruit Growers' express has ordered fifty steel underframes from the Greenville Steel Car company.

The National Steel corporation will increase its steel finishing capacity from 2,000,000 tons to 2,240,000 tons annually through acquisition of the assets of the Michigan Steel corporation. Stockholders of the latter today voted to dissolve the corporation. Transfer of the assets to National Steel corporation will follow.

The National Tube company, a subsidiary of United States Steel corporation, has received an order for 80,000 tons of seamless pipe.

The production of electricity by the electric light and power industry of the United States for the week ended Saturday, Jan. 10, was 1,707,233,000 kilowatt hours, according to the statistical research department of the National Electric Light association. This is an increase over the previous week, which contained the New Year's day holiday. It is 5.5 per cent below the corresponding period in 1930 and 8 per cent below the same week of 1929.

One building permit for a building to cost $1,200,000 was issued yesterday. It will be located at 1400 to 1428 East 59th street; University of Chicago, owners.

The Union Trust company of Cleveland finds in a survey that motorists probably will be in the market in 1931 for 61,000,000 casings, or 14 per cent more than they bought last year. This will be 9,000,000 below the 1929 production, which was 16,500,000 above the 1930.

Analyzing the traffic situation facing the railroads in the next two years, Dr. Julius H. Parmelee, director of the Bureau of Railway Economics, expresses the opinion that the trend in freight traffic in 1931 is more likely to be up than down and in 1932 the trend should be rapidly upward.

Chicago Curb Exchange Stocks

Less active issues turned in a number of one to three point losses on the Chicago curb yesterday while the more actively traded stocks finished with small changes. McWilliams, American corporation, and Photocolor were higher. On the soft side Associated Gas A and common, Union Telephone and Electric Shareholdings were down a point and Chicago Local Transportation A preferred and Solvay were down two points or more. ABC Trust Shares, series E, were admitted to trading and started off at 7⅝.

Receipts at Chicago for today [esti]mated at 200 cattle, 15,000 ho[gs and] 5,000 sheep.

Hogs and lambs recovered [...] the sharp losses recorded dur[ing the] last few days on a sharp bu[lge in] the market yesterday. Lam[bs ad]vanced to within 15@25c of the [high]est point since the middle of [Oc]tober. Cattle supplies were m[oderate] but outlet was narrow and the [trade] sluggish at the recent price [level.]

Gains of 10@25c were sco[red by] hogs, the general average adv[ancing] 20c at 7.75, which equals the h[igh] average of the week. Mediu[m] weighty butchers showed the [most] strength, although extreme w[eights] were slow sellers.

Stock averaging upward to 2[...] reached $8.25, while 231 lb bu[tchers] brought $7.60 and 450 lb barrow[s were] purchased as low as $6.75, indi[cating] the wide range of prices on [recent] sessions. Less than 17,000 of [yes]terday's 40,000 hogs remained o[n the] market after the 23,500 "directs" [had] been deducted from receipts. Shi[ppers] bought 11,000 and only 2,000 wer[e left] at the close.

March Offers at $9.35.

Light hogs for delivery during [the] last half of March and all of [April] were bid $9.10 on the hog fu[tures] market yesterday, but the lowest [offer] at the close was $9.35. Trading in the cattle yards [came] almost to a standstill yesterday [and] some of the 1,500 unloaded o[n the] market were held off on unsa[tisfac]tory bids. Hardly enough stock [was] available to establish a fair l[evel of] quotations, although most of the [scatter]ly scattered sales indicated a[n] evenly lower price level.

The 25@50c advance in the [lamb] market carried top natives a[nd] westerns to $8.90, highest sin[ce the] middle of last week, when the [...] $9.15 established a new high f[or the] winter. At the low time in Nov[ember] top lambs were selling at $7.75 [...] 80@98 lb averages yesterday s[old for] local slaughter at $8.50@8.90, [...]terests paying the top for [...] weights.

Receipts were meager at 7,00[0 com]paring with 15,675 last Frid[ay and] with 20,060 a year ago. Aged [sheep] and yearlings were firm, 107 lb [year]lings selling at $7.00 and top e[wes at] $4.50. Feeding lambs were st[eady.]

Receipts at Chicago for tod[ay are] estimated at 200 cattle, 15,000 [hogs] and 5,000 sheep, against 503 [cattle,] 25,884 hogs, and 9,929 sheep [a week ago] previous Saturday, and 323 [cattle,] 4,670 hogs, and 2,398 sheep [a year] ago.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(AP)—SUGA[R] was quiet today and although th[ere] continued moderate offerings at [...] prices of 3.38c for spots duty paid [...] showed little interest and no sa[les were] reported.

There was little interest manifested [in] futures and price movements were [of ex]tremely small proportions, with the [market] closing net 1 point lower to 1 poin[t higher] with the total day's business amou[nting to] only 6,750 tons.

A prominent local statistical bure[au's] initial estimate of the world's su[gar crop] for the 1930-'31 season, place th[e output] of all kinds at 28,128,441 tons, a[gainst] last year's outturn of 26,883,777 [tons, an] increase of 1,244,664 tons. Thi[s increase] is due principally to the larger [...] beet sugar crops, as the cane su[gar crops] are smaller, due to a smaller Cub[an crop] which is estimated at 3,570,000 t[ons, com]pared with the previous outturn o[f ...] 160 tons. The same authority pl[aces the] world's consumption of all kinds [...] the United States last year at [...] tons, against 5,810,980 tons in 19[29.]

Westvaco Chlorine Products.

Please send to me in the enclos[ed] stamped envelope pertinent financ[ial] data regarding Westvaco Chlori[ne] Products from the standpoint of sa[fe] investment.—R. J. P.

Westvaco Chlorine Products corpo[ra]tion, which is controlled b[y] Un[ited] Chemicals, Inc., was formed in 19[..] Through subsidiaries it is one of t[he] leading manufacturers of chlori[ne,] caustic soda and allied products. T[he] greater part of its output is sold t[o a] subsidiary of Union Carbide a[nd] Carbon company under a contr[act] which extends to Dec. 31, 1937. T[he] contract is guaranteed by Union C[ar]bide and Carbon company.

The corporation's sales and earni[ngs] steadily increased until the close [of] 1929. Results last year were poo[rer.]

For the nine months ended Sept. [30,] 1930, net profit, after interest, deprec[iation] and federal taxes, was $577,0[..] equal to $2.05 per share earned on [the] 225,155 no par common shares o[ut]standing, compared with net of $[...] 840, or $3.23 per share, in the co[r]responding period of 1929.

In the September quarter alone n[et] was $126,911, equal to 39 cents p[er] share, against $258,191, or 98 cen[ts] per share, in the September quarter [of] 1929.

Net sales for 1929 complete w[ere] $5,943,953, against $5,215,865 in 19[28] and $1,904,312 in 1927. Net profit w[as] $1,127,054, against $845,712 in 1928 an[d] $222,559 in 1927.

As of Sept. 27, 1930, current ass[ets] were $1,431,183 and current liabiliti[es] were $249,160, leaving a net worki[ng] capital of $1,182,023, against $2,207,[...] a year before. Profit and loss surpl[us] was $1,259,542.

In addition to the common the[re] was outstanding $2,194,600 of prefer[red] and a funded debt of $1,991,500.

Common dividends have been ma[in]tained to date at the rate of 60 ce[nts] quarterly.

The common is medium grade a[nd] somewhat speculative.

International Match.

Will you please tell me if In[ter]national Match 5 per cent bonds, [due] in 1947, are a sound investme[nt?] Thank you in advance. Mrs. A. L.

International Match corporation [de]benture 5s, due Nov. 1, 1947, are [un]secured by mortgage, but are sa[fe]guarded by a trust agreement pr[ovi]sion which prevents the company [or] its subsidiaries from mortgaging th[eir] property without securing this [issue] equally and ratably. In the five y[ears] ended Dec. 31, 1929, earnings avera[ged] 7.5 times interest requirements on [this] issue. The 1930 earnings report [is] not available as this is written. [The] debentures are considered sound.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 200 cattle, 15,000 hogs, and 5,000 sheep.

Hogs and lambs recovered all of the sharp losses recorded during the last few days on a sharp bulge of the market yesterday. Lambs advanced to within 15@25c of the highest point since the middle of last October. Cattle supplies were meager, but outlet was narrow and the trade sluggish at the recent price cut.

Gains of 10@25c were scored in hogs, the general average advancing 20c at 7.75, which equals the highest average of the week. Medium and weighty butchers showed the most strength, although extreme weights were slow sellers.

Stock averaging upward to 200 lbs reached $8.25, while 291 lb butchers brought $7.60 and 450 lb barrows were purchased as low as $6.75, indicating the wide range of prices on recent sessions. Less than 17,000 of yesterday's 40,000 hogs remained on the market after the 23,500 "directs" had been deducted from receipts. Shippers bought 11,000 and only 2,000 were left at the close.

March Offers at $9.35.

Light hogs for delivery during the last half of March and all of April were bid $9.10 on the hog futures market yesterday, but the lowest offer at the close was $9.35. January lights were bid $8.15 and offered at $8.25, while bids of $8.50 were made for February contracts. March mediums were offered at $8.60 and bid $8.35, while April mediums were offered at $9.25 and bid $8.50.

Trading in the cattle yards came almost to a standstill yesterday when some of the 1,500 unloaded on the market were held off on unsatisfactory bids. Hardly enough stock was available to establish a fair list of quotations, although most of the widely scattered sales indicated an unevenly lower price level.

Top kinds were absent, the best offered consisting of 14 yearlings that averaged 1,040 lbs and sold at $10.75. Butcher stock is closing 25@50c lower than a week ago, some yearling heifers showing losses of 75c to $1.00.

Lambs Bring $8.90.

The 25@50c advance in the lamb market carried top natives and fed westerns to $8.90, highest since the middle of last week, when the top at $9.15 established a new high for the winter. At the low time in November top lambs were selling at $7.75. Most 80@98 lb averages yesterday sold for local slaughter at $8.50@8.90, all interests paying the top for handy weights.

Receipts were meager at 7,000, comparing with 15,675 last Friday and with 20,060 a year ago. Aged sheep and yearlings were firm, 107 lb yearlings selling at $7.00 and top ewes at $4.50. Feeding lambs were steady.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 200 cattle, 15,000 hogs, and 5,000 sheep, against 503 cattle, 25,884 hogs, and 9,929 sheep on the previous Saturday, and 323 cattle, 4,670 hogs, and 2,398 sheep a year ago.

Probable receipts of hogs at Chicago for Monday are estimated from 60,000 to 75,000. R. B. Ellis marked 60,000; J. M. Waters, 62,000; F. Knutzen and R. S. Turner, 65,000; E. S. Waterbury, 66,000; S. Lund, F. M. Sherwood, G. McLain, C. Southwick, W. T. Reneker, and A. G. Welhener, 70,000; A. W. Trotter, 72,000; W. F. Russell, 74,000, and G. W. Chandler and H. Pattison, 75,000.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw, was quiet today and although there were continued moderate offerings at last paid prices of 3.38c for spots duty paid, buyers showed little interest and no sales were reported.

There was little interest manifested in raw futures and price movements were of extremely small proportions, with the market closing net 1 point lower to 1 point higher, with the total day's business amounting to only 6,750 tons.

A prominent local statistical bureau in its initial estimate of the world's sugar crop for the 1930-'31 season, place the totals of all kinds at 28,128,441 tons, as against last year's outturn of 26,883,777 tons, or an increase of 1,244,664 tons. This increase is due principally to the larger European beet sugar crops, as the cane sugar crops are smaller, due to a smaller Cuban crop, which is estimated at 3,570,000 tons, compared with the previous outturn of 4,671,000 tons. The same authority placed the world's consumption of all kinds of sugar in the United States last year at 5,599,377 tons, against 5,810,080 tons in 1929. Closing prices follow:

There was a moderate withdrawal demand for refined, but there was no business and prices were unchanged at 4.70c for fine granulated.

ADMITS CERTIFICATES.

The New York Stock exchange has admitted to the list American Water Works and Electric company temporary voting trust certificates for common stock without par value.

LITTLE RALLY BREEZES ALONG, SO STOCKS RISE

to be shown for the December period around 55 to 60 cents a share for the common stock, which would bring net for the year to approximately $5.65 a share, or somewhat under full dividend requirements at the current $6 rate. Bethlehem directors are expected to meet in the final week of the month, when earnings will be released and action taken on the dividend.

Traders showed an increasingly strong leaning toward the rails and some of the best gains of the day were scored in that division. Atchison, Baltimore and Ohio, New York Central, and Delaware and Lackawanna were among the favorites and their gains ranged from 1½ to more than 4 points. Louisville and Nashville and Kansas City Southern were the weak sisters of the outfit, the first named sliding back 1½ and the other more than 2 points.

Run Up Briskly.

Eastern Kodak, Vanadium, and Worthington Pump ran up briskly on what appeared to be short coverings. Case had one of its good days and spurted more than 2 points.

Some pressure was in evidence against Sears, Roebuck in the early dealings but the old mail order reliable recovered in good shape toward the last.

Leading utilities followed the lead set by American Telephone and there were several to show gains of a point or so on the final count. Among them were Consolidated Gas, American Power & Light, North American, American Water Works, and Electric Power & Light.

CHICAGO INVESTORS' CORP. PROFIT OFFSET BY SLUMP IN VALUES

The Chicago Investors' corporation last year had an operating profit of $1,106,176, but this was offset by depreciation of $2,805,350, or 13.2 per cent, in the market value of the securities held. The final result was a net loss of $1,699,174, according to the annual report of President Ralph A. Bard.

Net assets on Dec. 31, 1930, totaled $6,742,350, equivalent to $42.72 a share for the convertible preference stock, compared with $52.67 a share on Dec. 31, 1929. The decline of $9.95 a share resulted from the payment of $3 in dividends and $6.95 a share because of depreciation of securities held.

"In addition to the 20,000 shares of convertible preference stock purchased early in the year to complete the retirement planned at the close of last year," Mr. Bard says, "the company acquired in the open market 42,182 shares at an average cost of $34.65 a share, which was substantially less than the net asset or liquidating value of such stock. This acquisition resulted in the elimination of $2,109,100 of capital liability [on the basis of $50 a share] at a cost of $1,461,634, thereby strengthening the position of the remaining stock.

"No benefit from this transaction is reflected in the profit and loss account. The statement also does not include as income stock dividends or rights received during the year or cash dividends declared or interest in bonds accrued but not received until after Dec. 31, 1930."

Report Gov't Probe Here of Bread, Flour Prices

Agents of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice yesterday were reported to have completed and forwarded to Washington a quiet investigation into prices of bread and flour here. The investigation is said to be the result of a resolution in the United States senate, accompanied by charges that the price of bread has not kept down with the price of grain. Officials of the American Bakers association here and of the Chicago Bakers club were interviewed by the agents in the course of the investigation.

PRICE LEVEL IN BOND MARKET IS UNCHANGED

New York, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The price level in the bond market remained virtually unchanged today. The investment list displayed a strong undertone, but advances in some issues were matched by declines in others. The volume of business declined.

Some wide movements occurred in industrial liens and stock privilege bonds, while investment bonds held within fractional limits. Richfield Oil of California convertible 6s recovered 8¼ points of the 11½ drop yesterday that followed the receivership. Sugar bonds showed some wide gyrations. Sugar Estate Oriente 7s dipped 14 points to 16 on a few sales and Vertientes Sugar 7s declined 2. Warner Sugar 7s advanced 2½. Armour company issues were weak. The 5½s sold off 1⅝ and the real estate 4½s dipped 2. General Theaters 6s were buoyant and rallied 3 to 66¼, compared with a 1930 low of 50. Pathé 7s climbed 4.

The general trend of prime railroad bonds was toward higher levels with the principal recessions among such second grade issues as St. Paul 5s, Chicago and North Western 4½s, and Erie 5s; there was a strong demand for Southern Railway general 4s. Atchison adjustment 4s reached a new high at 96⅝, advancing 1⅝ on the day.

Utilities were fairly steady. United States government issues were again a strong feature of the market. Liberty first 4¼s reached a new high and Liberty fourth 4¼s touched 104, a price exceeded only by the 1927 figure of 104⅝.

German and Italian loans were active features of the foreign group.

PRIZE LAMBS.

A carload of western lambs, fed by the Marshall Brothers Sheep company, operators of the Chicago and North Western railway's West Chicago, Ill., stock yards, is on its way to the National Western Stock show, Denver, Colo., to add to the laurels taken when it placed first at the International Live Stock exposition in Chicago.

WHEAT SLIDES BACKWARD DUE TO LIQUIDATION

Old Crop Months Close 1½@1⅝c Lower.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat prices were on the down grade yesterday, with scattered liquidation in evidence. At the inside figure old May was off 3⅛c from the high on Thursday and the July down 4⅛c, the latter touching 65⅝c on the break, the recent advance being eliminated.

Part of the selling of July, according to pit gossip, represented spreading operations with Winnipeg. Toward the last short covering appeared as the result of a rapid upturn in Winnipeg and the close was at net losses of 1½@1⅝c on old crop months, while the July was 1c lower. March finished at 80½c; May, 82½c, and July, 66⅝@66¾c.

There were selling orders on May wheat in the local market at the start, but the aggressive buying which has been in evidence of late was not in evidence, and the filling of the orders carried prices off sharply. At no time did the old crop months show a marked disposition to rally, although there was buying against bids and by shorts. The same influences were responsible for the rally in the July. Aggregate trade was somewhat larger than of late.

Europe Buys Canadian Wheat.

News developments in wheat during the day were decidedly conflicting, Argentina and Australia putting afloat 7,256,000 bu grain for the week. This had some effect on Liverpool, which closed ⅜@½d lower with pressure to sell Argentine grain reported. Last week the southern hemisphere shipped 3,852,000 bu, and last year 5,801,000 bu. As a result of the liberal exports the trade is inclined to look for a good increase in the amount on ocean passage in Monday's statement. March wheat in Liverpool was quoted at 61⅝c at the last, or within 2c of the low on Dec. 30.

Despite the heavy clearances from other countries there was an active demand for Canadian wheat. Sales of over 1,000,000 bu were reported during the day, with France and Italy identified as buyers. According to a Winnipeg message to J. E. Bennett & Co., exporters had been good buyers of futures there, which finally absorbed the surplus in the pit. Later when shorts tried to cover they found little for sale, and the close was ⅝@⅞c higher.

What is probably an all time record low for Argentine wheat futures was made in Buenos Aires during the day with the February delivery dropping 1⅛c to 46¼c, but the market there rallied late in the day and closed only ⅝@⅞c lower with the February quoted at 47c. Rosario was 1@1¼c lower with February 44⅛c.

Erratic Market in Corn.

Fluctuations in the corn market were erratic, but buying was not aggressive mainly against bids and by shorts. The close was at net losses of ⅝@⅞c, March being 67⅝c; May, 69⅞@70c, and July 71@71⅛c at the last. Locals and commission houses were persistent sellers and some stop loss orders were uncovered on the way down.

There was some selling of corn said to be based on the exceedingly low prices prevailing for feed grains in other countries. March corn in Buenos Aires closed at 30⅝c, or 37⅝c under the same delivery in Chicago, while Winnipeg May barley sold down to 25⅝c, a net low for the season.

Country offerings of cash corn to arrive remain very small, and only 5,000 bu were reported booked during the day from other terminal markets. The spot basis was steady to ½c higher with white showing the most strength. The fact that Chairman A. A. Legge of the farm board had approved the provisions of the Burtness bill, which would place an embargo on imports of wheat and feed grains into the United States for a period of two years, was not known to the trade until after the close. In consequence it was not a factor in shaping sentiment.

Tired Longs Sell Oats.

Tired longs were on the selling side of oats futures early, while commission houses bought on scale orders. Toward the last short covering caused a sharp rally with the close ⅛c higher to ⅛c lower, March finishing at 33⅝c; May, 34⅛@34¼c, and July, 33c. Receipts of oats at Chicago of late have been light, only 75 cars being inspected in during the past six days, probably the smallest for a like period in over two years.

Outside interest in rye was limited with the market influenced mainly by the action of other grains. Closing sales were ⅛@⅜c lower with March at 40⅝c; May, 41⅝c, and July, 42⅝c.

COFFEE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Trading in coffee futures was less active today and fluctuations were narrow and rather irregular. No. 7 contracts closed 3 lower to 2 higher. Sales, 5,000. Santos contracts closed steady net 2 points lower to 2 points higher. Sales, 15,000. Closing quotations: Santos contracts, January, 9.20c; March, 9.06c; May, 8.76c; July, 8.65c; September, 8.53c; December, 8.42c. No. 7 prices follow:

RAILROAD NOTES

The Mobile and Ohio railroad was granted permission by the interstate commerce commission to cut coach passenger rates in Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, and Illinois, effective Feb. 1. The application said the move was made to meet competition of the Illinois Central and the St. Louis-San Francisco, which had published low rates for this class of service.

The St. Louis-San Francisco railway was authorized by the interstate commerce commission to establish on one day's notice a rate of 18 cents per hundred pounds on petroleum oil residuum in tank cars from Pampa, Tex., to Bristow, Okla.

CASH GRAIN NEWS

The sharp break in wheat futures at Winnipeg resulted in the filling of numerous resting orders to buy cash grain for foreigners, and export sales in all positions were finally estimated at over 1,000,000 bu to France and Italy.

Local handlers sold 7,000 bu wheat, 45,000 bu corn, 50,000 bu oats, and 3,000 bu rye to the domestic trade, with 150,000 bu wheat and 100,000 bu rye sold to go to store. Purchases of 18,000 bu wheat and 20,000 bu corn were made to arrive, including 15,000 bu wheat and 5,000 bu corn from other terminal markets.

No change was made in the basis on cash wheat in the local sample market. No. 1 red brought 1@1¼c under; No. 2 red, 1@2c under; No. 1 hard, 2@2¼c under; No. 2 hard, 2@2¼c under; No. 1 northern, 2¼@2½c under, and No. 2 northern, 2¼@3c under the May.

Official receipts of grain at Chicago Friday: Wheat, 109 cars; corn, 117 cars; oats, 7 cars; rye, 1 car; barley, 2 cars.

FINANCIAL NOTES

The New York Central has asked authority to issue and sell $7,020,000 4½ per cent equipment trust certificates of 1930, which will mature in equal installments on May 15 of each year, beginning in 1931 and continuing until 1945.

The interstate commerce commission has permitted the Standard Pipe Line company to establish on five days' notice a rate of 37½ cents per barrel on crude oil from Payson and Drumright, Okla., to Wood River, Ill. The pipe line company is an affiliate of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

The United States and Foreign Securities corporation in its annual report shows income from interest and cash dividends during the year of $2,214,286. Net income available for dividends, after deducting $593,326 loss on sale of securities and exclusive of stock dividends, the receipt of which has not been treated as income, was $1,321,674. An addition to capital surplus of $30,130 resulted from retirement of 13,300 shares of first preferred stock. The corporation's security holdings on Dec. 31, exclusive of its investment in United States and International Securities corporation, showed an aggregate value of $15,997,517, which is $1,863,699 less than their aggregate cost.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Cotton goods held barely steady today, with business developing on blankets more freely. Raw silk advanced in Japan, China, and Italy and sales were more active. Silk goods being pushed hard for spring sale. Additional sales of burlaps for future shipment were consummated. Further orders were received for spring men's wear fabrics. Clothing manufacturers are becoming busier on spring delivery goods.

Net profit for twelve months ended Nov. 30, 1930, was $575,737 after general taxes, depreciation, depletion, subsidiaries' dividends, etc. Gross revenues, including other income, amounted to $10,874,828, compared with $11,031,753 in the last preceding 12 months.

FEDERAL LIGHT.

For the twelve months ended Nov. 30 reported profit of $2,211,981 after taxes, charges and preferred dividends of subsidiaries, but before depreciation. This compares with $2,046,929 in the preceding 12 months. November profits was $229,545 before depreciation, against $230,950 in November, 1929.

STATE STREET INVESTMENT.

Profit for 1930 was $452,022 after expenses and taxes, but before loss from the sale of securities, against profit of $240,230 in 1929. Common stocks costing $13,122,953 had a market value at the year end of $8,061,038 and preferred stocks costing $260,712 had a market value of $239,500. Liquidating value was $65.17 a share, against $87.94.

LEATH & CO.

Will show a net deficit after operation for the year ended Dec. 31, due principally to adjustments resulting from changes in the general price level during the year, according to James H. Causey president. Sales for the year were about 75 per cent of 1929 sales, despite an average price level considerably below that of the preceding year. The company had no bank loans on Dec. 31 last. Current assets are expected to be slightly more than $2,000,000, a ratio to current liabilities of better than 10 to 1.

NORTHWEST BANCORPORATION.

Consolidated earnings statement of institutions affiliated with Bancorporation showed gross earnings during 1930 of $25,728,414 and net operating earnings before chargeoffs of $6,730,395. Of this amount approximately $6,478,000 represents interest of the holding company. After elimination of minority interests this is equal to $3.87 a share on 1,673,912 shares outstanding, compared with $4.50 a share earned in 1929. Net after current chargeoffs is equal to $3.20 a share.

ASSERTS REALTY MEN, ARCHITECTS MUST CO-OPERATE

St. Petersburg, Fla., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Thomas S. Holden, vice president in charge of statistics and research of the F. W. Dodge corporation, told the National Association of Real Estate Boards today that close coöperation of local and national organizations of realty dealers and architects is vital to building progress and American business stability.

"Uncontrolled and uncoördinated promotion of real estate and building projects have repeatedly led to speculative booms, severe reactions, and depressions," Mr. Holden said.

"The day has come when responsible real estate and building leaders must unite in order to effect on a national scale some reasonable control of real estate and building production, better standards of business practice, and better coördination of business functions."

Realtors must do more attractive, constructive and intelligent advertising if they expect to survive general business competition, Hugh Potter, Houston, chairman of the advertising committee of the association, said today. "We have had plenty of publicity; what we need is advertising," he asserted.

Don Riddle, Chicago, director of the advertising service bureau of the national association, also deplored the lack of proper advertising by realtors.

COTTON TRADE NARROW

Cotton interests are pursuing a waiting position. Prices are said to be at a level where there is little inducement to sell short and business conditions are not such as to invite large buying in anticipation of a material advance on the part of speculators, or by mill interests. Trading is small and price fluctuations narrow. At the close yesterday futures in Chicago were unchanged to 3 points net higher, with other markets 1 to 5 points higher on futures and New York up 5 points on spots at 10.15c, while New Orleans was unchanged at 9.75c, Galveston was 9.90c and Houston 9.85c. Liverpool closed unchanged to 1 point higher with spot sales 3,000 bales.

Spinners' takings for the week were 222,000 bales and the into sight movement was 168,000 bales. Cables from Lancashire indicated that strong efforts are being made to get mill and labor interests together to prevent a general lockout of weavers. Prices follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

It is assumed by wheat traders that nervous shorts have covered freely, both in May and July, particularly in the May, and that the tension was off for the time being at least. Prices have had a good upturn of late, and with the country selling more wheat and cash premiums easy there is less disposition to buy for the time being. The situation in corn is more mixed, with an absence of new bullish influences.

An effort is being made on the part of millers to induce farm board agencies to give them cash wheat at around the July basis. It is being considered by interests on both sides, but men in the cash grain trade think it would be a good move, provided flour is exported as a means of getting wheat out of the country. The main factor is getting the wheat out of the country. There is more disposition to buy Canadian July wheat on all breaks and sell Chicago July futures on bulges.

"Russian shipments for the week were only 400,000 bu, compared with 648,000 bu a week ago," says Broomhall. "Since Aug. 1 they were 71,208,000 bu, and Balkan countries exported a further 10,000,000 bu. Some chartering is being done, but on a much smaller scale than previously. It is generally believed that wheat exports from this country is practically over until opening of navigation in the spring. Argentine wheat is being pressed in a fair volume, stocks are larger, and clearances are assuming large proportions."

Danubian shippers of corn are not inclined to compete with the low Argentine prices, but owing to the cold weather in this part of Europe receipts have fallen off. As soon as the weather breaks and navigation is resumed loading will commence and corn there will be shipped to the mouth of the river and loaded on vessels for export.

CASH HOUSES BUY LARD

With no particular selling pressure and fair buying attributed to a leading cash house, a better feeling predominated in lard yesterday with a close at net gains of 10 to 12½c. Changing, in the way of selling January and buying May, was on at 35c difference and from January to July at 47½c difference. Liverpool lard was 3d lower to 3d higher. Exports were 58,986 lbs. AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE.

CHICAGO'S FINEST USED CAR STORE

WHERE A GOOD USED CAR CAN BE BOUGHT FOR LESS MONEY

In our mammoth building at 26TH AND MICHIGAN there are 192 dandy used cars assembled from which to make a selection. With such a tremendous stock in our big place, it is not necessary for you to visit 4 or 5 places in order to make a used car purchase. A trip to our headquarters will save you time and also money.

CHRYSLER ROADSTER. Here is a sporty car that never left the Chicago blvds. We do not believe you can duplicate this Roadster any place else at twice the price. Has 4 whl. brakes, rumble seat, and many extras. Sweet running motor. $95.

STUDEBAKER VICTORIA. 1928 Commander 4 pass., with expensive mohair upholstery, and the finish is in dandy condition. The motor was checked by expert Studebaker mechanics. Has 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. Will not remain 24 hours at our price of $195.

FORD ROADSTER. 1929, with rumble seat. It's in new condition today. The finish sparkles like a new dollar. The upholstery, tires and motor are in wonderful condition. Very fully equipped. $225.

PONTIAC SEDAN. A recent model that was oiled and greased every 500 miles by the original owner. Now a careful checkup will reveal that it looks and runs as though direct from the factory. 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $325.

PLYMOUTH SEDAN. 1929 that was owned by a wealthy family in conjunction with a Studebaker and a Pierce-Arrow. It was therefore given very little use, so it looks and performs like a brand new car today. Has new tires and a wealth of extra equipment. Only $395.

CHANDLER 8 SEDAN. This was one of the very latest models manufactured. If you inspect this car from bumper to bumper and then take it out for a trial you'll agree with us that it's topnotch in every respect. The performance is sparkling and the appearance is beautiful. Many extras. $495.

STUDEBAKER SEDAN. 1928 str. 8 President 7 pass. The original owner died a few months after taking possession, and the car was held up in probate for over a year. Now it's in remarkable condition. First cost was over $2,000. Special today for $750.
